

The Divorce Law Reversal:
Editorial and Cartoon.
A Plan for Post-War Purchasing:
Editorial.
An Answer to Maj. Seversky:
Mirror of Public Opinion.

Vol. 95. No. 109. (65th Year).

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

The Only Evening Newspaper in St. Louis With the Associated Press News Service

ST. LOUIS, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1942 — 24 PAGES

PRICE 3 CENTS

RUSH-HOUR PLAN TO KEEP BUSES, CARS WEST OF 12TH

Proposal Studied as Substitute for Staggered Hours Rejected by Retail Stores.

CONTINGENT ON TRAFFIC BOSS BILL

Downtown Workers Would Have to Walk to Terminus if it Were Put Into Effect.

Downtown office and store workers may be required to walk west to Twelfth street to catch west-bound buses and street cars during evening rush hours as a drastic alternative to the staggering of working hours, if the Board of Aldermen fails to pass the pending bill for a Transportation Administration with power to regulate working hours, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

The Technical Committee of Mayor William De Becker's Mass Transportation Committee is giving serious consideration to such an alternative as the best solution to the acute transportation problem in the event it is found impossible to place staggered hours in effect on a wide scale.

Under the so-called "short-turn" plan, all street cars and buses running east and west would make Twelfth street their terminus during the evening rush period, when traffic congestion is at its greatest. With the average run of street cars and buses ranging between 30 and 40 minutes, it is estimated by traffic experts that the "short-turn" at Twelfth would cut from 10 to 20 minutes off each run, thus stepping up the re-use of existing equipment during the periods of heavy travel each day.

But, already turned at 12th, about 37 per cent of the east-bound buses and street cars already are turning around at Twelfth instead of proceeding east to Fourth street, it was said.

"Employees simply would have to walk back to shoe leather to cope with the problem," said one transportation expert who has been studying the situation in detail. "We know it is a drastic proposal and admittedly staggering of hours is a much better solution, but if we don't get authority for regulating hours, this cutting-off of equipment at Twelfth looks like the best bet."

"Of course, it's true that it would result in even heavier crowds at Twelfth street corners at the close of work, but the point is that the people wouldn't have to wait so long because the buses and street cars could make their runs in substantially-reduced time."

Members of the Technical Committee are Milton Kinsey, chief engineer of the State Public Service Commission, committee chairman; Samuel W. Greenleaf, vice-president and general manager of the Public Service Co.; Director of Public Utilities Max H. Doyle.

Continued on Page 5, Column 2.

Somewhat Warmer

THE TEMPERATURES
8 a. m.	38°
9 a. m.	39°
10 a. m.	40°
11 a. m.	41°
12 noon	42°
1 p. m.	43°
2 p. m.	44°
3 p. m.	45°
4 p. m.	46°
5 p. m.	47°
6 p. m.	48°
7 p. m.	49°
8 p. m.	50°
9 p. m.	51°
10 p. m.	52°
11 p. m.	53°
Midnight	54°
1 a. m.	55°
2 a. m.	56°
3 a. m.	57°
4 a. m.	58°
5 a. m.	59°
6 a. m.	60°
7 a. m.	61°
8 a. m.	62°
9 a. m.	63°
10 a. m.	64°
11 a. m.	65°
12 noon	66°
1 p. m.	67°
2 p. m.	68°
3 p. m.	69°
4 p. m.	70°
5 p. m.	71°
6 p. m.	72°
7 p. m.	73°
8 p. m.	74°
9 p. m.	75°
10 p. m.	76°
11 p. m.	77°
Midnight	78°
1 a. m.	79°
2 a. m.	80°
3 a. m.	81°
4 a. m.	82°
5 a. m.	83°
6 a. m.	84°
7 a. m.	85°
8 a. m.	86°
9 a. m.	87°
10 a. m.	88°
11 a. m.	89°
12 noon	90°
1 p. m.	91°
2 p. m.	92°
3 p. m.	93°
4 p. m.	94°
5 p. m.	95°
6 p. m.	96°
7 p. m.	97°
8 p. m.	98°
9 p. m.	99°
10 p. m.	100°
11 p. m.	101°
Midnight	102°
1 a. m.	103°
2 a. m.	104°
3 a. m.	105°
4 a. m.	106°
5 a. m.	107°
6 a. m.	108°
7 a. m.	109°
8 a. m.	110°
9 a. m.	111°
10 a. m.	112°
11 a. m.	113°
12 noon	114°
1 p. m.	115°
2 p. m.	116°
3 p. m.	117°
4 p. m.	118°
5 p. m.	119°
6 p. m.	120°
7 p. m.	121°
8 p. m.	122°
9 p. m.	123°
10 p. m.	124°
11 p. m.	125°
Midnight	126°
1 a. m.	127°
2 a. m.	128°
3 a. m.	129°
4 a. m.	130°
5 a. m.	131°
6 a. m.	132°
7 a. m.	133°
8 a. m.	134°
9 a. m.	135°
10 a. m.	136°
11 a. m.	137°
12 noon	138°
1 p. m.	139°
2 p. m.	140°
3 p. m.	141°
4 p. m.	142°
5 p. m.	143°
6 p. m.	144°
7 p. m.	145°
8 p. m.	146°
9 p. m.	147°
10 p. m.	148°
11 p. m.	149°
Midnight	150°
1 a. m.	151°
2 a. m.	152°
3 a. m.	153°
4 a. m.	154°
5 a. m.	155°
6 a. m.	156°
7 a. m.	157°
8 a. m.	158°
9 a. m.	159°
10 a. m.	160°
11 a. m.	161°
12 noon	162°
1 p. m.	163°
2 p. m.	164°
3 p. m.	165°
4 p. m.	166°
5 p. m.	167°
6 p. m.	168°
7 p. m.	169°
8 p. m.	170°
9 p. m.	171°
10 p. m.	172°
11 p. m.	173°
Midnight	174°
1 a. m.	175°
2 a. m.	176°
3 a. m.	177°
4 a. m.	178°
5 a. m.	179°
6 a. m.	180°
7 a. m.	181°
8 a. m.	182°
9 a. m.	183°
10 a. m.	184°
11 a. m.	185°
12 noon	186°
1 p. m.	187°
2 p. m.	188°
3 p. m.	189°
4 p. m.	190°
5 p. m.	191°
6 p. m.	192°
7 p. m.	193°
8 p. m.	194°
9 p. m.	195°
10 p. m.	196°
11 p. m.	197°
Midnight	198°
1 a. m.	199°
2 a. m.	200°
3 a. m.	201°
4 a. m.	202°
5 a. m.	203°
6 a. m.	204°
7 a. m.	205°
8 a. m.	206°
9 a. m.	207°
10 a. m.	208°
11 a. m.	209°
12 noon	210°
1 p. m.	211°
2 p. m.	212°
3 p. m.	213°
4 p. m.	214°
5 p. m.	215°
6 p. m.	216°
7 p. m.	217°
8 p. m.	218°
9 p. m.	219°
10 p. m.	220°
11 p. m.	221°
Midnight	222°
1 a. m.	223°
2 a. m.	224°
3 a. m.	225°
4 a. m.	226°
5 a. m.	227°
6 a. m.	228°
7 a. m.	229°
8 a. m.	230°
9 a. m.	231°
10 a. m.	232°
11 a. m.	233°
12 noon	234°
1 p. m.	235°
2 p. m.	236°
3 p. m.	237°
4 p. m.	238°
5 p. m.	239°
6 p. m.	240°
7 p. m.	241°
8 p. m.	242°
9 p. m.	243°
10 p. m.	244°
11 p. m.	245°
Midnight	246°
1 a. m.	247°
2 a. m.	248°
3 a. m.	249°
4 a. m.	250°
5 a. m.	251°
6 a. m.	252°
7 a. m.	253°
8 a. m.	254°
9 a. m.	255°
10 a. m.	256°
11 a. m.	257°
12 noon	258°
1 p. m.	259°
2 p. m.	260°
3 p. m.	261°
4 p. m.	262°
5 p. m.	263°
6 p. m.	264°
7 p. m.	265°
8 p. m.	266°
9 p. m.	267°
10 p. m.	268°
11 p. m.	269°
Midnight	270°
1 a. m.	271°
2 a. m.	272°
3 a. m.	273°
4 a. m.	274°
5 a. m.	275°
6 a. m.	276°
7 a. m.	277°
8 a. m.	278°
9 a. m.	279°
10 a. m.	280°
11 a. m.	281°
12 noon	282°
1 p. m.	283°
2 p. m.	284°
3 p. m.	285°
4 p. m.	286°
5 p. m.	287°
6 p. m.	288°
7 p. m.	289°
8 p. m.	290°
9 p. m.	291°
10 p. m.	292°
11 p. m.	293°
Midnight	294°
1 a. m.	295°
2 a. m.	296°
3 a. m.	297°
4 a. m.	298°
5 a. m.	299°
6 a. m.	300°
7 a. m.	301°
8 a. m.	302°
9 a. m.	303°
10 a. m.	304°
11 a. m.	305°
12 noon	306°
1 p. m.	307°
2 p. m.	308°
3 p. m.	309°
4 p. m.	310°
5 p. m.	311°
6 p. m.	312°
7 p. m.	313°
8 p. m.	314°
9 p. m.	315°
10 p. m.	316°
11 p. m.	317°
Midnight	318°
1 a. m.	319°
2 a. m.	320°
3 a. m.	321°
4 a. m.	322°
5 a. m.	323°
6 a. m.	324°
7 a. m.	325°
8 a. m.	326°
9 a. m.	327°
10 a. m.	328°
11 a. m.	329°
12 noon	330°
1 p. m.	331°
2 p. m.	332°
3 p. m.	333°
4 p. m.	334°
5 p. m.	335°
6 p. m.	336°
7 p. m.	337°
8 p. m.	338°
9 p. m.	339°
10 p. m.	340°
11 p. m.	341°
Midnight	342°
1 a. m.	343°
2 a. m.	344°
3 a. m.	345°
4 a. m.	346°
5 a. m.	347°
6 a. m.	348°
7 a. m.	349°
8 a. m.	350°
9 a. m.	351°
10 a. m.	352°
11 a. m.	353°
12 noon	354°
1 p. m.	355°
2 p. m.	356°
3 p. m.	357°
4 p. m.	358°
5 p. m.	359°
6 p. m.	360°
7 p. m.	361°
8 p. m.	362°
9 p. m.	363°
10 p. m.	364°
11 p. m.	365°
Midnight	366°
1 a. m.	367°
2 a. m.	368°
3 a. m.	369°
4 a. m.	370°
5 a. m.	371°
6 a. m.	372°
7 a. m.	373°
8 a. m.	374°
9 a. m.	375°
10 a. m.	376°
11 a. m.	377°
12 noon	378°
1 p. m.	379°
2 p. m.	380°
3 p. m.	381°
4 p. m.	382°
5 p. m.	383°
6 p. m.	384°
7 p. m.	385°
8 p. m.	386°
9 p. m.	387°
10 p. m.	388°
11 p. m.	389°
Midnight	390°
1 a. m.	391°
2 a. m.	392°
3 a. m.	393°
4 a. m.	394°
5 a. m.	395°
6 a. m.	396°
7 a. m.	397°
8 a. m.	398°
9 a. m.	399°
10 a. m.	400°
11 p. m.	401°
Midnight	402°
1 a. m.	403°
2 a. m.	404°
3 a. m.	405°
4 a. m.	406°
5 a. m.	407°
6 a. m.	408°
7 a. m.	409°
8 a. m.	410°
9 a. m.	411°
10 a. m.	412°
11 a. m.	413°
12 noon	414°
1 p. m.	415°
2 p. m.	416°
3 p. m.	417°
4 p. m.	418°
5 p. m.	419°
6 p. m.	420°
7 p. m.	421°
8 p. m.	422°
9 p. m.	423°
10 p. m.	424°
11 p. m.	425°
Midnight	426°
1 a. m.	427°
2 a. m.	428°
3 a. m.	429°
4 a. m.	430°
5 a. m.	431°
6 a. m.	432°
7 a. m.	433°
8 a. m.	434°
9 a. m.	435°
10 a. m.	436°
11 a. m.	437°
12 noon	438°
1 p. m.	439°
2 p. m.	440°
3 p. m.	441°
4 p. m.	442°
5 p. m.	443°
6 p. m.	444°
7 p. m.	445°
8 p. m.	446°
9 p. m.	447°
10 p. m.	448°
11 p. m.	449°
Midnight	450°
1 a. m.	451°
2 a. m.	452°
3 a. m.	453°
4 a. m.	454°
5 a. m.	455°
6 a. m.	456°
7 a. m.	457°
8 a. m.	458°
9 a. m.	459°
10 a. m.	460°
11 a. m.	461°
12 noon	462°
1 p. m.	463°
2 p. m.	464°
3 p. m.	465°
4 p. m.	466°
5 p. m.	467°
6 p. m.	468°
7 p. m.	469°
8 p. m.	470°
9 p. m.	471°
10 p. m.	472°
11 p. m.	473°
Midnight	474°
1 a. m.	475°
2 a. m.	476°
3 a. m.	477°
4 a. m.	478°
5 a. m.	479°
6 a. m.	480°
7 a. m.	481°
8 a. m.	482°
9 a. m.	483°
10 a. m.	484°
11 a. m.	485°
12 noon	486°
1 p. m.	487°
2 p. m.	488°
3 p. m.	489°
4 p. m.	490°
5 p. m.	491°
6 p. m.	492°
7 p. m.	493°
8 p. m.	494°
9 p. m.	49

BRITISH RAID JAP EAST INDIES BASE AS U. S. PLANES HIT AT RANGOON

Carrier - Based Aircraft Blast Isle Off Sumatra—Americans Also Attack Enemy Rail Lines in Burma.

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Big American bombers raided Rangoon by daylight three times this week while the British pounded the port of Akyab and hurried their carrier-borne naval aircraft at the westernmost Japanese base in the Netherlands East Indies.

The Americans raiding Rangoon encountered only two fighter planes, one of which was reported probably shot down. No American bombers were lost. All the British naval planes returned also, apparently having met little or no opposition.

A United States Army Air Force communiqué from New Delhi said big bombers attacked Rangoon twice on Sunday and once yesterday, smashing airframe buildings and railroad yards and leaving dock areas ablaze.

American medium bombers, the communiqué said, carried out attacks Monday on Japanese-used rail lines in Central Burma. The raids were in force and the communiqué said great numbers of explosives were dropped squarely on the targets.

"Large Explosions." The naval plane bombing of the Japanese base 800 miles from Ceylon was announced by the Admiralty.

This first reported British raid on the invaders in the Indies fitted into the pattern of increased aerial operations across the Indian-Burmese border and the comeback toward Akyab, pointing toward an expected British comeback campaign in southeast Asia.

The Admiralty said the attack was carried out Sunday night against military targets—perhaps fuel stores—at Sabang, on the island of We, just off western Sumatra, and that "large explosions followed by fire" were observed.

The Admiralty reported that the raid was launched from a naval force operating in the Bay of Bengal. Observers speculated that the raiders might have been launched from the 23,000-ton British aircraft carrier Illustrious, which was reported operating in the Bay of Bengal two months ago.

New Akyab. A communiqué from New Delhi said land-based British planes attacked the Japanese-held Burma port of Akyab yesterday and last night in continued aerial blows.

The Japanese struck back at Calcutta for the third consecutive night, and two of three raiders reported over the city were believed damaged by interceptor planes.

Calcutta was under alarm for an hour. Bombs fell in a native residential area and hit a market place and movie building, but casualties were believed to have been few.

25 Killed at Calcutta. A British communiqué said 25 persons had been killed and "less than 100 injured" in the three Japanese raids on Calcutta.

The New Delhi communiqué said a steamship was damaged in the daylight raid on Akyab, but gave no details of the bombing last night.

An enemy motor transport column in the Myittha River valley was machine-gunned, and bombs were dropped on the column, the communiqué said. Gangaw is in the Myittha Valley about 130 miles northeast of Akyab.

Sabang would be a logical site for a British base. From it British planes and small naval craft could dominate the western approaches to Malaya and Burma.

Sabang is situated just off the upper tip of Sumatra and is separated from that island by narrow Malacca Passage. It is approximately 800 miles east of Ceylon, the nearest British naval base.

DEMOCRATS NAME SAM WEAR FOR CONGRESS IN 6TH DISTRICT

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CLINTON, Mo., Dec. 23.—Sam A. Wear of Springfield was chosen today by the Sixth District Democratic committee to occupy the Democratic nomination for Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Phil A. Bennett of Springfield, Republican, Dec. 6.

Wear's Republican opponent is Marion F. Bennett, Springfield lawyer, and son of the late Congressman.

Wear was the Democratic nominee in November, being defeated by the elder Bennett. The special election to fill the vacancy will be held Jan. 12.

NAZIS REPORTED DEMANDING USE OF SPANISH BALAEARICS

ANKARA, Dec. 22 (Delayed) (AP).—A usually well-informed foreign source said today that the Germans were bringing heavy pressure upon Spain for permission to occupy the Balearic Islands in the Western Mediterranean, and would take them by force if necessary.

One high diplomatic source said that after the American landings in Algeria and Morocco he had definite information that the Germans were planning the occupation of all Spain as well as the Balearics.

ALLIES ADVANCING SLOWLY IN HARD FIGHTING NEAR BUNA

Airmen Support Assault on 'Intricate' Enemy Defenses—MacArthur's Units Push Near Coast in Sanananda Area.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 23 (AP).—Allied troops continued to hammer at Japanese forces trapped in the Buna area of New Guinea today, and Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported they were slowly making headway against the enemy, who is fighting desperately in "intricate and thoroughly prepared positions."

Air units smashed at the entrenched Japanese, while assaulting Allied ground troops chalked up comparatively small gains yesterday, with American and Australian infantry moving across a creek to come to closer grips with units holding out on the main Buna airfield and at the Government station.

This action was on the right of a three-sector line where the Japanese still cling to positions on the Papuan Peninsula.

In a center sector, military spokesmen said, the Americans and Australians clashed fiercely with Japanese patrols and pushed within two miles of the coast in the Sanananda area, west of Buna.

On the left, Americans joined the Australians in the job of clearing the enemy from the area north of west of Buna, which is in Allied hands.

Another medium-sized Japanese supply ship disguised by tree branches and foliage was sunk off New Britain yesterday by American Flying Fortresses, the Allied communiqué said. The vessel apparently was bound for the coast of New Guinea.

Allied air units also attacked enemy installations near Vila de Aviz in Timor, while a single Japanese bomber was shot down yesterday.

Incendiary and explosive bombs at Port Moresby in the ninety-sixth raid on that Allied port on the south New Guinea coast. The communiqué said little damage was done.

JAPS HIDE OUT IN OVERRUN SECTORS

By WILLIAM F. BONI. SOUTHERN IN NEW GUINEA, Dec. 22 (Delayed) (AP).—An action was on a minor scale in the New Guinea campaign today and operations on the Papuan land front were limited to mopping up.

Progress was painfully slow against strong Japanese defenses and dogged defenders.

The major air activity was an attack by Flying Fortresses against an enemy transport near Awaru Island off the southwest coast of New Britain.

Planes piloted by Capt. Don Cromer, Lt. Col. Robert L. Johnson, and Lt. Col. Robert L. Johnson, first dropped their bombs at a low level, then meeting neither anti-aircraft nor fighter plane opposition they went down to maul level for strafing which set the well-camouflaged vessels ablaze.

Cheated Out of Bombing Run. Robertson was indignant because "just after I made my bombing run and was getting set for another, you guys went down strafing and I had to do the same."

When an intelligence officer asked, "Get any pictures?" Cromer replied:

"Sure I got pictures—before bombing, during bombing and after bombing; before strafing, during strafing and after strafing when we were on fire."

Establish Bridgeheads. In the Cape Endiaderes sector of the land front a small Allied force succeeded in establishing a bridgehead on the west bank of a small creek and proceeded to probe enemy positions at the southeast end of an old airplane landing strip.

Although they have been overrun in the Cape Endiaderes sector, the Japanese still are popping out of foxholes. One suddenly started to fire a mortar but he soon was disabled.

After an interval, the sniper was after them again. So they aimed their machine gun at a point six feet below the palm top and fired until the whole upper part of the tree was sawed off. It fell crashing to the ground, nearly 100 feet below, and the sniper crawled dead, amid coconuts and palm leaves.

American infantrymen assigned to mop up behind an Australian force attacking Cape Endiaderes last Friday were so eager to get into action that they did not wait for the signal, Australian officers disclosed.

Americans Alter Plan. The plan, the officers said, was for 13-ton tanks and Australian infantry to occupy the Japanese-held territory and then for the Americans to follow in behind and clean out any encampments the others had by-passed.

"That was the plan," a wounded tank officer said, "but your boys saw our infantry trying to pull apart some pillboxes, and that was too much for them. They came right in after us, and they did a good job, too."

In tightening pressure on the Buna Government station American troops lodged bridgeheads across a winding creek which runs toward the sea just south of the station.

However, the main Japanese fortified position at a trail junction is still standing firm and gives promise of being a tough nut to crack.

SUCCESS AT BUNA CREDITED TO TANKS

By GEORGE WELLES. The Chicago Daily News—Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1942.

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN NEW GUINEA, Dec. 20 (Delayed).—Abandonment of the theory that the Japanese were not adaptable to jungle warfare—has, within the space of three days and about 12 hours of total fighting time, virtually saved Buna for the Americans and Australians.

But for the appearance of these light "General Stuart" tanks, American infantrymen might still be hurling themselves vainly against the tough, grass-grown pillboxes strewn with coconut palms. In some cases, the Japanese actually planted kernels of rice in the sand to make the ground green so that the tanks would not be spotted.

It was the tanks, bigger even than those which led the Japanese army from Thailand into Singapore, which drove straight up to the pillboxes and demolished them from 15 feet away. The enemy had desperately tried everything possible to halt their advance.

Enemy Trick Falls. One tank was cornered in the open last Friday, when it tried to mount a log, and it was still there when Japanese crawled forth by night and cunningly placed a land mine so that, when the tank was repaired, it would slide backward and demolish itself. The mine, however, was discovered today.

One Japanese, striving to demolish a tank, flung himself with a blazing bottle of gasoline under its tracks, but failed to halt its advance. An Australian tank commander ordered the turret, revolver in hand, and shot two machine-gun nests before a bullet creased his scalp and dropped him.

At another point in the Buna area, a tank suddenly caught fire and its crew grabbed extinguishers. Previously, the Japanese had hugged their holes but when they saw the sudsy foam emitted by the extinguishers, they thought it was gas. They piled out of their trenches and were mowed down by fire from a neighboring tank.

Orderly Advance. With American and Australian infantry following the tanks' tracks closely, the advance was far more orderly as well as less costly. "We knew exactly where the enemy expected this time, and we did it," said one infantryman, under command of Maj. Chester Beaver, Yankton, S. D., former football player at the University of Nebraska.

After American forces, which had flung itself repeatedly at the enemy without advance, was congratulated by its leader, Maj. Gordon M. Clarkson, San Francisco.

"We were aided in breaking through by the fact that the Japanese were evidently touching the bottom of their ammunition," said Lieut. Glenn Blacklesie, Eau Claire, Wis.

Bulk of Force Fled to South Through Rough Country Around Wadi Matratin.

By DON WHITEHEAD. ZAUTA EN NOBILIA, Tripolitania, Dec. 21 (Delayed) (AP).—Thirty years of Italian sovereignty in Tripolitania appear slowly but inexorably drawing to a close.

That is the vivid picture one gets watching the measured, relentless movement of the British Eighth Army on the heels of Field Marshal Rommel's Panzer columns retreating toward Tripoli.

This offensive is not breath-taking in swiftness, although it has moved approximately 100 miles by road in the desert in 87 days.

It is ponderous and plodding in massive weight of men and arms. But it gives the feeling that its force this time is unstoppable.

Doughty, confident Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery is not stretching his army thin by racing to the sea. He is drawing up its full weight behind the armored columns keeping contact with the enemy a few miles from where this is being written.

When the time comes to strike, he can strike hard.

Rommel's Retreat to Stand. Rommel obviously does not want to pit his battered forces against British power at this time.

He did not risk a stand at the El Aghella line, and military men to whom I have talked doubt that there is a strong position on the North African coast.

There is a possibility, judging from recent developments, that Tripoli may fall without more than a heavy delaying action at one of the wadi (gulches) between Sirte and Misurata.

Rommel pulls his main force into Tunisia.

If the British offensive continues, the Axis may have a Dunkerque of its own before many more weeks.

The British almost accomplished a brilliant coup last week when New Zealand columns swung south of the El Aghella line and closed in on a German rear guard at Wadi Matratin, west of El Aghella.

It has now been disclosed that they captured about 400 prisoners and 25 guns and knocked out 15 tanks in running skirmishes—but the bulk of the Germans fled south through the wadi and escaped over terrain with which they were familiar.

Thick Mine Fields. Rommel has kept his main force well ahead of the British, leaving small rear guard detachments and heavy mine fields. And there is no indication that he expected to come back again over this road of retreat.

His desert landing grounds have been heavily mined. Several fighter-bombers were found plowed up by the Germans to make them unusable.

The Germans planted 600 mines at Marble Arch landing ground west of El Aghella, and wired fuel barrels together so they would explode if unsuspecting Allied pilots landed there. Royal Engineers had the field in use in less than 24 hours.

United States and British air forces have moved up at surprising speed behind the Germans.

Among the unused heroes are the United States transport services. Their white-starred transport planes can be seen thundering across the desert a few feet above motor convoys on the road. Daily the pilots shuttle the planes between supply bases far to the rear and the advanced landing fields.

They have brought up jeeps, tractors, bulldozers, gasoline, food and water.

The British troops are just a little disappointed that they could not make Tripoli by Christmas—but they are confident they will be there soon.

U. S. GUNNERS SAW TREE DOWN WITH BULLETS TO GET SNIPER

The Chicago Daily News—Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1942.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN NEW GUINEA, Dec. 20 (Delayed).—Annoyed by attacks by snipers in trees upon infantrymen crawling forward to attack Japanese pillboxes, two gunners operating a heavy-duty transportable weapon finally discovered how to handle them.

When one of the Japanese aloft began harassing them, the Americans opened fire upon a feather duster palm top, but without effect. After an interval, the sniper was after them again. So they aimed their machine gun at a point six feet below the palm top and fired until the whole upper part of the tree was sawed off. It fell crashing to the ground, nearly 100 feet below, and the sniper crawled dead, amid coconuts and palm leaves.

American infantrymen assigned to mop up behind an Australian force attacking Cape Endiaderes last Friday were so eager to get into action that they did not wait for the signal, Australian officers disclosed.

Americans Alter Plan. The plan, the officers said, was for 13-ton tanks and Australian infantry to occupy the Japanese-held territory and then for the Americans to follow in behind and clean out any encampments the others had by-passed.

"That was the plan," a wounded tank officer said, "but your boys saw our infantry trying to pull apart some pillboxes, and that was too much for them. They came right in after us, and they did a good job, too."

In tightening pressure on the Buna Government station American troops lodged bridgeheads across a winding creek which runs toward the sea just south of the station.

However, the main Japanese fortified position at a trail junction is still standing firm and gives promise of being a tough nut to crack.

Abandonment of the theory that the Japanese were not adaptable to jungle warfare—has, within the space of three days and about 12 hours of total fighting time, virtually saved Buna for the Americans and Australians.

But for the appearance of these light "General Stuart" tanks, American infantrymen might still be hurling themselves vainly against the tough, grass-grown pillboxes strewn with coconut palms. In some cases, the Japanese actually planted kernels of rice in the sand to make the ground green so that the tanks would not be spotted.

It was the tanks, bigger even than those which led the Japanese army from Thailand into Singapore, which drove straight up to the pillboxes and demolished them from 15 feet away. The enemy had desperately tried everything possible to halt their advance.

Enemy Trick Falls. One tank was cornered in the open last Friday, when it tried to mount a log, and it was still there when Japanese crawled forth by night and cunningly placed a land mine so that, when the tank was repaired, it would slide backward and demolish itself. The mine, however, was discovered today.

One Japanese, striving to demolish a tank, flung himself with a blazing bottle of gasoline under its tracks, but failed to halt its advance. An Australian tank commander ordered the turret, revolver in hand, and shot two machine-gun nests before a bullet creased his scalp and dropped him.

At another point in the Buna area, a tank suddenly caught fire and its crew grabbed extinguishers. Previously, the Japanese had hugged their holes but when they saw the sudsy foam emitted by the extinguishers, they thought it was gas. They piled out of their trenches and were mowed down by fire from a neighboring tank.

Orderly Advance. With American and Australian infantry following the tanks' tracks closely, the advance was far more orderly as well as less costly. "We knew exactly where the enemy expected this time, and we did it," said one infantryman, under command of Maj. Chester Beaver, Yankton, S. D., former football player at the University of Nebraska.

After American forces, which had flung itself repeatedly at the enemy without advance, was congratulated by its leader, Maj. Gordon M. Clarkson, San Francisco.

"We were aided in breaking through by the fact that the Japanese were evidently touching the bottom of their ammunition," said Lieut. Glenn Blacklesie, Eau Claire, Wis.

ALL BUT 400 NAZIS ESCAPED TRAP IN LIBYA LAST WEEK

Bulk of Force Fled to South Through Rough Country Around Wadi Matratin.

By DON WHITEHEAD. ZAUTA EN NOBILIA, Tripolitania, Dec. 21 (Delayed) (AP).—Thirty years of Italian sovereignty in Tripolitania appear slowly but inexorably drawing to a close.

That is the vivid picture one gets watching the measured, relentless movement of the British Eighth Army on the heels of Field Marshal Rommel's Panzer columns retreating toward Tripoli.

This offensive is not breath-taking in swiftness, although it has moved approximately 100 miles by road in the desert in 87 days.

It is ponderous and plodding in massive weight of men and arms. But it gives the feeling that its force this time is unstoppable.

Doughty, confident Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery is not stretching his army thin by racing to the sea. He is drawing up its full weight behind the armored columns keeping contact with the enemy a few miles from where this is being written.

When the time comes to strike, he can strike hard.

Rommel's Retreat to Stand. Rommel obviously does not want to pit his battered forces against British power at this time.

He did not risk a stand at the El Aghella line, and military men to whom I have talked doubt that there is a strong position on the North African coast.

There is a possibility, judging from recent developments, that Tripoli may fall without more than a heavy delaying action at one of the wadi (gulches) between Sirte and Misurata.

Rommel pulls his main force into Tunisia.

If the British offensive continues, the Axis may have a Dunkerque of its own before many more weeks.

The British almost accomplished a brilliant coup last week when New Zealand columns swung south of the El Aghella line and closed in on a German rear guard at Wadi Matratin, west of El Aghella.

It has now been disclosed that they captured about 400 prisoners and 25 guns and knocked out 15 tanks in running skirmishes—but the bulk of the Germans fled south through the wadi and escaped over terrain with which they were familiar.

Thick Mine Fields. Rommel has kept his main force well ahead of the British, leaving small rear guard detachments and heavy mine fields. And there is no indication that he expected to come back again over this road of retreat.

His desert landing grounds have been heavily mined. Several fighter-bombers were found plowed up by the Germans to make them unusable.

The Germans planted 600 mines at Marble Arch landing ground west of El Aghella, and wired fuel barrels together so they would explode if unsuspecting Allied pilots landed there. Royal Engineers had the field in use in less than 24 hours.

United States and British air forces have moved up at surprising speed behind the Germans.

Among the unused heroes are the United States transport services. Their white-starred transport planes can be seen thundering across the desert a few feet above motor convoys on the road. Daily the pilots shuttle the planes between supply bases far to the rear and the advanced landing fields.

They have brought up jeeps, tractors, bulldozers, gasoline, food and water.

The British troops are just a little disappointed that they could not make Tripoli by Christmas—but they are confident they will be there soon.

BRITISH SABOTEURS WIPED OUT AT BORDEAUX, NAZIS REPORT

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

First WAACs In Africa Ask For Stockings

'Where Can I Get Get Hairpins?' One Inquires.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Dec. 22 (AP).—(Delayed)—Five members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps reported for duty at Allied headquarters today, the first WAACs to reach this North African battle zone.

Their arrival created a mild sensation. All five looked trim and soldierly in their freshly-pressed skirts and blouses. All are second lieutenants, and will be assigned to clerical jobs. They reached here after spending nearly a fortnight in London.

Several said they were seasick during the three-day burn route here, but all arrived feeling fit. They had a bad blow when they learned of the stocking shortage here.

"I'd give anything for a pair of stockings," one lamented. "I'll take socks or cotton—even tree bark stockings if I can get them."

Military restrictions forbid immediate publication of their names, but here are their individual reactions:

"What, no butter?" asked a tall brunette from Maine. "Still it's a beautiful country. Where is the nearest place I can get hairpins? I haven't an extra one left."

Said a little blonde from Mississippi: "What I want most in Africa is a bath."

"Very glad to get in," remarked a dark-eyed brunette from Minnesota. "I am awfully tired of wearing life preservers."

"This country is more beautiful than I expected," said a blue-eyed blonde from Colorado. "I was looking for a jungle, I guess. There is the battlefield, east or west."

"Well," said a lieutenant from Rhode Island who was her blonde hair in a braid under her military cap, "I was very glad to get here or anywhere else. It amazes me to see the countryside so well cultivated. I am also impressed by most of all perhaps—by the fact that we have hot water."

LAST 'FLYING TIGER' IN CHINA KILLED ON DARING MISSION

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN CHINA, Dec. 22 (Delayed) (AP).—The final chapter in the brilliant record of Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's "Flying Tigers" has been written with the tragic death of Maj. Frank Schell, Prescott, Ark., last American Volunteer Group pilot in China, who was killed in a crash when returning from a reconnaissance mission over Japanese bases.

"His bravery caused his death," said a Staff Sergeant, flight group commander with the China air task force.

Schell, A. V. G. ace and among the small group which remained with Chennault to train and lead Army flyers when the "Flying Tigers" were disbanded last July, had an opportunity to go to the United States, but preferred to stay on combat duty in China. Flying through bad weather, his plane crashed on a mountain and burned while he was returning with photographs taken on a dangerous mission into uncharted enemy territory. His body was recovered and buried with military honors at an American air base cemetery.

With a record of six Japanese planes destroyed while with the A. V. G. Schell carried less than 200 flight missions as an air task force officer and squadron leader.

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Dec. 23 (AP).—The German high command reported today that a British sabotage party was wiped out at Bordeaux, Dec. 17 "before carrying out its task."

(No report of such an operation, presumably by a Commando unit, seeking to destroy German installations near Bordeaux, a big submarine base, has come from the British.)

ZIS' CHRISTMAS AIRPORT HERE TO PEOPLE UP ON ORDER PEP TALKS GOVERNMENT

ica Setback Not Im- and Navy Have ortant, Press Says— Not Yet Requested Conne Toy, Pound of Ap- struction as Essential es Per Child. Defense.

GOING AHEAD PLAN, HOWEVER

ture May Change by Fall, Says Doyne —
Lambert Runway to Be Lengthened.

By EDWIN SHANKE
OCKHOLM, Dec. 23 (AP).—
Food rations generally lower last year and the war news
Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels is reported to mobilized hundreds of Nazis to deliver a nationwide pep talks to the German civilians from Germany indicate a program of mass meetings is under way, with Goebbel and Dr. Robert Ley, labor minister, setting the pace.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propaganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

The war has yet been fought out setbacks, said one editorialist. "The German press is beginning a wide-scale propaganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air."

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Incidentally the German press
began a wide-scale propa-
ganda offensive, hammering
the theme that Axis setbacks
in North Africa are unimportant
because the war will be decided
by the air.

Street Car With Stand-Sit Seats Begins Series of Test Runs Here

MISS LA VERNE ZENBLIDGE, 4839 Argosia avenue, and MAYOR WILLIAM DEE BECKER try out the new "stand-sit" seats.

Carries 88 Passengers Against 57 in Stream- liners—Quarters Too Close for Large Hats and Big Bundles.

A street car equipped with "stand-sit" seats, developed to increase carrying capacity of overburdened cars and buses, went into experimental service during the evening rush hour yesterday on the Delmar line of the Public Service Co., after it was inspected in the afternoon by city officials.

The test car here was the fourth vehicle in the country to be equipped with the seats, which are spaced only 18 inches apart, 10 to 14 inches closer than standard seats, and have a slanted seat-board which lets the passenger half sit and half stand. Washington has a street car and a bus equipped with the seats.

S. Carl Robinson, Public Service Co. representative who made the first trip, said the general reaction of passengers was, "We can put up with it; it's better than standing."

Several persons with armloads of Christmas packages had difficulty getting in and out of seats, but only one man announced that he was opposed to the new seating scheme, and he did so laughingly, Robinson reported.

Walter J. G. Neun, former president of the Board of Aldermen, who happened to ride on the car, commented to fellow passengers: "We may have to put up with a lot worse than this before it's all over, but we ought to do so willingly when we consider what our boys at the front are doing."

The test car is No. 2252, an old-style, two-man car. Runs will be made on several other lines in the next two weeks, to see if the seats are the answer to the serious transportation problem here, but the Public Service Co. has no plans for further installations until public reaction to the first car has been measured.

The seats are made of wood, thus using a minimum of critical materials. As pointed out by the Office of Defense Transportation, which suggested the seats be tested here, women with large hats, passengers trying to read and those carrying large bundles found themselves at a disadvantage.

After tests in Washington, however, a majority of riders said they preferred the "stand-sit" seat to present over-crowding or no seats at all, it was reported.

The test car's schedule: Today, Delmar line; Thursday and Saturday, University; Monday, Wellston; Tuesday, Hodiamont; next Wednesday, Forest Park; Dec. 31, Page; Jan. 2 and 4, Park; Jan. 5 and 6, Manchester; and Jan. 7, 8 and 9, Grand. The car will be operated only during busy day-time hours.

Several persons with armloads of Christmas packages had difficulty getting in and out of seats, but only one man announced that he was opposed to the new seating scheme, and he did so laughingly, Robinson reported.

Walter J. G. Neun, former president of the Board of Aldermen, who happened to ride on the car, commented to fellow passengers: "We may have to put up with a lot worse than this before it's all over, but we ought to do so willingly when we consider what our boys at the front are doing."

The test car is No. 2252, an old-style, two-man car. Runs will be made on several other lines in the next two weeks, to see if the seats are the answer to the serious transportation problem here, but the Public Service Co. has no plans for further installations until public reaction to the first car has been measured.

The seats are made of wood, thus using a minimum of critical materials. As pointed out by the Office of Defense Transportation, which suggested the seats be tested here, women with large hats, passengers trying to read and those carrying large bundles found themselves at a disadvantage.

After tests in Washington, however, a majority of riders said they preferred the "stand-sit" seat to present over-crowding or no seats at all, it was reported.

The test car's schedule: Today, Delmar line; Thursday and Saturday, University; Monday, Wellston; Tuesday, Hodiamont; next Wednesday, Forest Park; Dec. 31, Page; Jan. 2 and 4, Park; Jan. 5 and 6, Manchester; and Jan. 7, 8 and 9, Grand. The car will be operated only during busy day-time hours.

Several persons with armloads of Christmas packages had difficulty getting in and out of seats, but only one man announced that he was opposed to the new seating scheme, and he did so laughingly, Robinson reported.

CLARK TO RENEW 'PAY AS YOU GO' TAX-PLAN FIGHT

Missouri Senator Says
Such a System Will Prevent Defaults by Thousands of Citizens.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—A new campaign to enlist congressional support behind a "pay-as-you-go" tax plan was projected today by Senator Clark (Dem.), Missouri, chairman of a Finance Subcommittee which investigated the Beardsley Ruml proposal this year.

Clark challenged Treasury experts to propose emergency taxes that would reach what he termed the abnormal earnings of war workers in the search for eight billion additional revenue. He said he was drafting a statement dealing with a program to shift tax payments to a current year basis along the line suggested recently by Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The Finance Committee, despite a recommendation from Clark's subcommittee, rejected the Ruml plan.

Clark said there was continuing evidence of growing sentiment for the Ruml principle and that with mounting war costs its adoption "seems inevitable."

If adopted, the Ruml plan would wipe out individual income taxes on the previous year's earnings and consider payments made during the current year as applying on the current year's taxes.

A "pay-as-you-go" program, with the withdrawal of taxes at the source, he asserted, would prevent defaults by thousands of citizens.

Under such a program, the tax would be deducted weekly or monthly from pay checks. Separate provision would be made for business men and others whose income was not in the form of regular checks.

Clark said there was little sentiment in the Senate for consideration of another spending tax proposal such as was rejected this year. He added that a general sales tax would fall short of Treasury goals unless it ran so high as to be prohibitive.

A spending tax similar to the Treasury's rejected plan this year would impose a levy on all money spent by an individual in excess of certain exemptions. Under the Treasury plan, this tax would have been in the form of enforced savings, which would have been repaid to taxpayers after the war.

The Treasury also proposed a graduated levy from 10 to 75 per cent on "luxury" spending above certain exemptions as a direct tax which would not be returned.

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

New Arrivals at the Zoo

The Forest Park Zoo's latest arrivals, two orangutans and a chimpanzee, from the left: FRIEDAY, HENRY and TROUBLE. Trouble is the first chimpanzee ever born at the zoo.

TRUMAN FOR WESTERN MISSOURIAN AS JUDGE

Says He Will Try to Reach Agreement With Clark on Nominee.

United States Senator Harry S. Truman said at his office in Kansas City this afternoon that he would recommend the appointment of a Western Missouri lawyer to the new roving United States District judgeship in Missouri, and that he hoped his recommendation would be accepted.

The Senator said that he would confer with United States Senator Bennett Champ Clark of St. Louis on the appointment, and that he hoped they would be able to agree.

"I appreciate the fact that people in St. Louis desire a St. Louisan appointed," the Senator said, "but I do not think the question of geography is important. While Judge John Caskie Collet resided in the Western District at the time of his appointment, it is recognized that his home is in Chariton County, which is in the eastern part of the State. With the exception of Judge Collet, two of the District Judges in Missouri are from St. Louis, one is from Kansas City and one from St. Joseph."

The Senator said he had not given attention so far to whom he would recommend, although he had received "numerous communications from lawyers who would like to have it."

Among Kansas City lawyers being discussed for the place are Maurice M. Milligan, City Counselor; William E. Kane, an attorney; and J. Edgar Smith, a former judge of the Kansas City Court of Appeals; Circuit Judge Albert A. Ridge; Congressman C. Jasper Bell of Kansas City, who was re-elected in November, and Wendell H. Cloud.

Congressman Richard M. Duncan of St. Joseph, who was defeated for re-election in November, has also been considered but there has been recent reports that he is to get a post in the Treasury Department in Washington.

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

"An excess profits tax on individuals or forced bond purchases applicable to them might be studied."

Clark said there was some additional individual taxes through some proposal designed to reach swollen incomes of munitions workers and others making abnormal wages as a result of the war, Clark said.

3 Baby Apes at Zoo Nurse On Bottle, Live in Incubator

Chimpanzee, Two Orangutans Born in Forest Park Ape House Get Scientific Care, Are Gaining Weight.

The ape house at the St. Louis Zoo has taken on the aspect of a nursery following the births of three valuable babies, which are living in an incubator and are fed from the bottle every three hours by keepers who sleep beside their charges.

Most prized of the three is Trouble, the first chimpanzee ever born at the Forest Park Zoo. He's just over three weeks old. The other two are young male orangutans, whose mothers died shortly after their births about two months ago.

The little chimp is no orphan. He is the first offspring of Lady, a star performer in the Zoo's chimpanzee show from 1934 until her retirement in 1938. Lady seemed puzzled and picked at the little fellow instead of nursing it, so Zoo Director George F. Vierheller and his helpers removed the baby from the mother and have been keeping it alive by means of the incubator, scientifically prepared formulas and advice of a pediatrician.

The baby chimp's gain has been slow, but steady, and yesterday it tipped the beam at two pounds, eight and one-half ounces—a gain of four and one-half ounces since the Zoo nurses took over. He is as helpless as a human infant, and sleeps most of the time wrapped in blankets. When fed from the bottle, he waves his fists in the air, in a manner similar to that of a 3-week-old child.

The two young orangutans are more active than the baby chimp, since they are slightly older, but they are not regarded as such a rarity. Seven other orangutans have been born at the Zoo, but only three lived past early infancy, and the most successfully reared

Friday's growing was impeded for awhile because he suffered from colic. This puzzled Zoo officials until Director Vierheller's cook suggested that the ape babies be "burped," just like human babies. Vierheller tried beating Friday's back after each feeding. The little orangutan "burped," and had no more colic. Since, the three babies are given the back-beating ritual after each meal.

The two baby orangutans have bright red hair like their father, Bobby, biggest ape at the Zoo—aged about 25 years, weight about 200 pounds and an arm spread of nine feet. The babies now can hold their weight on ropes suspended in their incubator.

The baby chimp is a black, wrinkled mite, in contrast to its more active companions, but it makes its wants known in a surprisingly loud voice. The chimp has been suffering from a cold recently, and received treatment with a sulphur drug. It is much better now.

Friday's growing was impeded for awhile because he suffered from colic. This puzzled Zoo officials until Director Vierheller's cook suggested that the ape babies be "burped," just like human babies. Vierheller tried beating Friday's back after each feeding. The little orangutan "burped," and had no more colic. Since, the three babies are given the back-beating ritual after each meal.

The two young orangutans are more active than the baby chimp, since they are slightly older, but they are not regarded as such a rarity. Seven other orangutans have been born at the Zoo, but only three lived past early infancy, and the most successfully reared

Friday's growing was impeded for awhile because he suffered from colic. This puzzled Zoo officials until Director Vierheller's cook suggested that the ape babies be "burped," just like human babies. Vierheller tried beating Friday's back after each feeding. The little orangutan "burped," and had no more colic. Since, the three babies are given the back-beating ritual after each meal.

The two baby orangutans have bright red hair like their father, Bobby, biggest ape at the Zoo—aged about 25 years, weight about 200 pounds and an arm spread of nine feet. The babies now can hold their weight on ropes suspended in their incubator.

The baby chimp is a black, wrinkled mite, in contrast to its more active companions, but it makes its wants known in a surprisingly loud voice. The chimp has been suffering from a cold recently, and received treatment with a sulphur drug. It is much better now.

Friday's growing was impeded for awhile because he suffered from colic. This puzzled Zoo officials until Director Vierheller's cook suggested that the ape babies be "burped," just like human babies. Vierheller tried beating Friday's back after each feeding. The little orangutan "burped," and had no more colic. Since, the three babies are given the back-beating ritual after each meal.

The two young orangutans are more active than the baby chimp, since they are slightly older, but they are not regarded as such a rarity. Seven other orangutans have been born at the Zoo, but only three lived past early infancy, and the most successfully reared

Friday's growing was impeded for awhile because he suffered from colic. This puzzled Zoo officials until Director Vierheller's cook suggested that the ape babies be "burped," just like human babies. Vierheller tried beating Friday's back after each feeding. The little orangutan "burped," and had no more colic. Since, the three babies are given the back-beating ritual after each meal.

The two baby orangutans have bright red hair like their father, Bobby, biggest ape at the Zoo—aged about 25 years, weight about 200 pounds and an arm spread of nine feet. The babies now can hold their weight on ropes suspended in their incubator.

The baby chimp is a black, wrinkled mite, in contrast to its more active companions, but it makes its wants known in a surprisingly loud voice. The chimp has been suffering from a cold recently, and received treatment with a sulphur drug. It is much better now.

REDISTRICTING BILL VETOED; NEW PLAN URGED BY MAYOR

Becker Cites Election
Board Report, Says
Work Indicates Sincerity of Aldermen.

Mayor William Dee Becker today vetoed the bill passed by the Board of Aldermen for the redistricting of the city's 28 wards, and in a letter to the board urged immediate study of available data with a view to drafting a new and more satisfactory ward plan.

In returning the proposed ordinance without his signature, the Mayor gave as his reason the statement of the Board of Election Commissioners that it could not possibly revise its maps and records to conform to the redistricting proposal in time for the aldermanic primary March 12.

"The extensive work done by your committee," said Becker in his letter to the aldermen, "gave evidence of the sincerity of the members of the board in wanting redistricting." The redistricting plan was drafted by a special committee headed by Alderman Charles E. Albanese of the Thirteenth Ward, and was approved by the aldermen without a public hearing. Subsequently a public hearing was held by the Mayor.

Becker made no reference to suggestions made at the public hearing that he appoint a non-partisan civic group to draft a new bill. The aldermen are in adjournment until Jan. 8.

AUTO SHOT UP BY JAPANESE DISPLAYED IN BELLEVILLE

An automobile which was riddled with bullets when strafed by a Japanese plane in the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, is being displayed in Belleville, where it had been shipped by its soldier-owner to his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil H. Poser Sr., 36 North Douglas avenue.

The car, owned by Sgt. Russell R. Mitchell, was attacked when he was assisting in evacuation of refugees from the Fort Shafter area, where he was stationed. He leaped from the car and hid in a ditch. In another car accompanying him was his brother-in-law, Phil H. Poser Jr., an orchestra leader.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

Sgt. Mitchell and his wife, who was in the Fort Shafter hospital with their 11-day-old daughter when the attack came, returned to this country last March with their child. He now is attending an officer candidates' school in Miami, Fla. The car, which was hit by 37 bullets, was shipped recently by the Government along with his furniture.

FOG SLOWS TRAFFIC TO CRAWL; WORST IN RESIDENTIAL AREAS

Only 12-Foot Visibility in Some Sections—Hundreds
Are Late to Jobs.

St. Louisans crawled blindly to work early this morning through an unusually dense ground fog that extended irregularly through most of the metropolitan area. Visibility in some sections was limited to 12 feet.

In the downtown area the Weather Bureau reported a moderate amount of smoke mingled with the damp, cloudy pall. The fog was less dense in the downtown area, however, than in the residential districts to the south, west and north.

Hundreds of workers reported late at their jobs, some straggling in nearly an hour overdue. In some sections, particularly in the Forest Park area, motorists unable to make out even the outlines of the street pulled over to the curb, and waited for the worst

OWI HEAD TERMS SPAIN-PORTUGAL PACT A GOOD SIGN

Apparently Sincere Statement of Franco's Intention to Stay Neutral, Davis says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—OWI Director Elmer Davis said today the declaration of peace and solidarity newly concluded between Spain and Portugal was "a very encouraging sign" that the Franco Government of Spain was truly committed to a course of neutrality.

All evidence reaching the Office of War Information indicates, Davis said, that the Franco Government of Spain is sincerely committed to a course of neutrality. Davis said that the Franco Government of Spain is sincerely committed to a course of neutrality.

Previously only completed films have been submitted. Davis said the new system would permit OWI to suggest changes in the interest of the war effort and allow the studios to make such changes as they wished to adopt "before too much film and money are used up."

As to the fear of film piracy reported in Hollywood if OWI did not use the strictest privacy in dealing with the scenarios, Davis commented smilingly, "God forbid that we should introduce into Hollywood any practices that would be known to the public."

On being informed the group had proposed that Government subsidies be paid newspapers to make up for reduced advertising revenue, he declared such an arrangement would be "very unsatisfactory" and added:

"The whole idea of the press in this country is that it operates free from Government subsidy. That is what gives strength and freedom to the American press."

Gardner Cowles, associate OWI director, remarked at this point that OWI felt the War Production Board should cut publishers' supplies of newsprint to the extent necessary to deal with shortages of pulpwood, power and man power, but that the use of the newsprint allotment "should be left to each newspaper."

British Division of OWI. Davis announced that OWI had established a British division in Washington to "quickly and improve" the flow of information from this country to Great Britain.

It will be headed by Ferdinand Kuhn Jr., for the last two years assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and previously chief of the London bureau of the New York Times.

Davis said that the small British newspapers were unable to satisfy the English people's "great thirst for information and understanding about what the United States is like."

The new division will work through pamphlets, moving pictures and preparation of material for British publications, he said.

OWI will make a selection of the moving pictures produced by Government and private producers for

St. Louisans Invent Rapid-Fire Weapon Run by Gasoline Motor

VICTOR G. KLEIN feeding pellets into the hopper of his model gasoline-powered centrifugal machine gun. The pellets are carried on the revolving blade, and projected from the end of the involute curved track.

Model, Using Centrifugal Force, Fires 4000 Ballbearings a Minute, They Say—Vision Its Use as Anti-Aircraft Gun.

A gasoline-powered rapid-fire "catapult" machine gun embodying the principle of centrifugal force has been developed by two St. Louis war plant workers who believe they have found a valuable defensive weapon against air attack.

The small working model built by Victor G. Klein, research engineer for the Lincoln Engineering Co., and Carl H. Mueller, industrial sales manager for the company, is driven by a one and one-half horsepower motor. The inventors told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the model was capable of projecting 4000 1/4-inch ballbearings per minute.

The model can produce a velocity of 600 feet a second with a force sufficient to penetrate a half-inch wooden target at a distance of 25 feet. The muzzle velocity of a Springfield rifle is 2800 to 2900 feet a second, Klein said.

Klein demonstrated the model in the basement of his home at 6014 Grimshaw avenue. He fed 100 pellets into the hopper chamber. The pellets were discharged one at a time, but with such speed that they struck the target almost at the same time, like a burst of shrapnel.

Klein estimated that 100 steel pellets had slipped into the target in the space of a second and a half.

Klein said an increase in horsepower and a proportionate lengthening of the model's eight-inch throwing blade would achieve "velocities beyond the rate of any present gun."

A 100-horsepower motor, he said, would throw half-inch ballbearings (or enclosed explosives) with a velocity of 4000 feet a second and could cut an airplane into tiny little pieces.

How Device Works. The centrifugal rapid-fire machine gun, he said, would throw half-inch ballbearings (or enclosed explosives) with a velocity of 4000 feet a second and could cut an airplane into tiny little pieces.

through pamphlets, moving pictures and preparation of material for British publications, he said.

OWI will make a selection of the moving pictures produced by Government and private producers for English presentation, he said. Questioned on London reports that Allied authorities had taken over Radio Morocco, Davis said "apparently we were able to take some degree of control last Monday."

He had no details as to whether the radio station actually had been taken over with American personnel controlling its time, but said OWI here had noted "perceptible improvement" in its reliability.

He said the new setup apparently was a provisional arrangement to be replaced later by permanent settlement with the French military and civilian authorities who have been in control.

PLAN TO SOLVE MAN POWER PROBLEMS OF THE FARMER. CINCINNATI, Dec. 23 (AP).—A program to offer 10,000 farmers and farm workers a chance to leave non-productive lands east and south of the Dakotas for work on stock and dairy farms suffering labor shortages took shape yesterday.

The Federally sponsored project, an outgrowth of small-scale experiments in Kentucky and Wisconsin, was described as intended ultimately to help farmers in all their seasonal labor problems, although the immediate goal is to bolster dairy and livestock production.

Carl Gibboney of Washington, Rural Rehabilitation Director for the Farm Security Administration, expressed to a conference of Federal and state officials from throughout the vast area hope that 10,000 farmers and workers now "underemployed" could be placed where they were needed by March 1.

Walter Erb of Chicago, chairman of a recruitment committee, emphasized that the program was purely voluntary.

McNARY PREDICTS FIGHT ON WASTE IN NEW CONGRESS

G. O. P. and Democratic Advocates of Economy to Join Forces, Minority Leader Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Senate Minority Leader McNary (Rep.), Oregon, predicted today that Republican and Democratic advocates of economy in Government would join forces in the next session of Congress to combat "waste and bureaucracy."

With Republicans elected to 209 of the 435 House seats, and 38 out of 96 seats in the Senate, the party's lawmakers expect to have a powerful voice in legislative affairs and already are counting on Democratic support in some issues.

"The Republican party in the next session of Congress will join with those Democrats who desire to eliminate wastefulness in Government expenditures, practice economy in the administration of public affairs and avoid unnecessary controls and bureaucracy," McNary declared in an interview.

"It will support fervently and faithfully the prosecution of the war, to the end that we may have a complete victory with a minimum expenditure of men and money."

Peace Discussions Pertinent. The 1940 vice-presidential nominee, who seldom talks for publication when off the Senate floor, spoke freely as he outlined his general goals for the coming session.

Discussions of peace are "not without pertinence" even now, he declared.

"Debatable and important questions can be clarified by debate," he said. "Of course, no application can be made of any pattern that is agreed upon, until after the war is won."

"The Republican party realizes the responsibility of our country in the matter of negotiation and settlement of just terms of peace and the future maintenance of peace and security."

"We will be found advocating those principles that are essential to sustaining the home and hearth, the American market, the American standard of living."

Against Scattering Resources. "However, the party will advocate leadership in world affairs for its country, associated with and in co-operation with other countries and in a spirit of gentility, without scattering the nation's resources wastefully throughout the world."

The effectiveness of our war effort is not to be measured alone by the number of enlisted men. There are other factors of equal importance, such as sufficient manpower on the farms and in the factories of our country. Balanced man power is essential.

"An army in dimensions beyond the ability of civilian support would be disastrous."

BRAZIL IN PACT FOR SHIPMENT OF RUBBER TO U. S.

Hundred Thousand Workers to Be Sent 2000 Miles to Amazon Valley to Get Product.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 23 (AP).—Shipment of 50,000 tons of rubber from the Amazon valley to the United States in 1943 is in prospect under a new agreement between Brazil and the United States.

A force of 100,000 workers is to be moved from the Northeast Brazilian states 2000 miles to the river valley by land, air and water to produce the rubber for war production.

The agreement was signed yesterday in the office of Joao Carlos Vilela, Interim National Economic Co-ordinator, and virtually ends Argentine hopes of negotiating an agreement to exchange Argentine refined gasoline for Brazil's rubber.

Argentina's transport industry is vitally in need of rubber, and buyers are combing the continent for the smallest amounts.

An authorized spokesman here said there was no chance that Argentina could get even the 2000 tons annually wanted from Brazil under a trade proposal offered by Argentine Ambassador Adrian Escobar, who had just returned after a month's consultation in Buenos Aires.

The spokesman also said that the trend of Chile toward rupture with the Axis, the probable announcement of a North American-Chilean program to develop Chile's strategic materials, and continued operation among the United States, Brazil and Chile had led apparently to Argentina's attempt to seek some trade accord and closer relations with Brazil.

DON'T REPAIR FENDER DENTS TILL AFTER WAR, ODT URGES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Because of the dwindling supply of automotive mechanics, the Office of Defense Transportation today urged motorists to put off unnecessary repairs until after the war.

ODT said motorists should make only those repairs which are necessary to safe operation, or to prolong the mechanical life of cars.

"Neither the manpower nor the supplies can any longer be spared to repair bent fenders, replace radiator grills, or do other unnecessary repair work," ODT said.

TO FLY GIFTS TO GUADALCANAL

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 23 (AP).—A Navy plane should—if plans don't go awry—take Christmas greetings from Maine shipbuilders to soldiers on Guadalcanal.

Workers at Todd-Bath Iron Shipbuilding Corporation collected enough money for $100 worth of candy and 3000 packages of cigarettes and with the help of United Service Organizations in Portland and San Francisco, arranged to have the gifts sent to the war front aboard a Navy plane in time for the holiday.

MISS RANKIN CALLS FOR 'FULL STORY' OF ATLANTIC CHARTER

Indicates Roosevelt Expected Pearl Harbor Attack, Asks Why He Let Forces There Be Taken by Surprise.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—White-haired Jeannette Rankin (Rep.), Montana, only member of Congress to vote against war with Japan, called for the "full story" on the historic Atlantic conference and, in a statement prepared for the Congressional Record, today asked this question:

"Astounding as the Pearl Harbor attack was to the American public as a whole, if it was secretly anticipated and even played for, why did the President permit our forces at Pearl Harbor to be taken by surprise?"

She said that President Roosevelt imposed "self-acknowledged, war-provoking" economic sanctions against Japan immediately after the meeting at sea with Winston Churchill.

Cities Warnings to U. S. Forces. At another point she cited the report by the President's special commission which investigated the Pearl Harbor attack that warships to be sent to the Pacific before the attack took place.

Then she observed: "Indeed, do not the frequency, urgency, the very wording of these warnings indicate in themselves that the Pearl Harbor attack came as no surprise whatever to the President?"

She obtained consent of the House before the Seventy-Seventh Congress adjourned to insert her statement in the Congressional Record. She gave it to reporters for publication today.

Miss Rankin, who also voted against declaring war on Germany in 1917, said "the American people are willing to struggle for the four freedoms, but we realize that we must retain them at home if we are going to give them to others."

Her Version of Events. In her own words a "belligerent pacifist," she reviewed at length her version of events leading to what she called President Roosevelt's change of policy after the Atlantic conference.

On the basis of quotations from English authors, she said that "three years before Pearl Harbor, Britain's imperialists had figured out just how to bring the United States once more to their aid" by getting this country "embroiled" with Japan.

She contended that this nation's "requirements" of Sept. 3, 1941, that Japan accept the principle of non-disturbance of the status quo in the Pacific "was the equivalent to asking Japan to guarantee the inviolability of the White Empire in the Orient, of which the British Empire comprised approximately 90 per cent in both arms and population."

Economic Sanctions and War. Miss Rankin declared that "in less than a week after the Atlantic conference, the machinery of economic sanctions was getting under way" and inquired: "Did President Roosevelt realize that 'economic sanctions mean war' at the time he appears to have adopted Mr. Churchill's suggestion to impose them as the punitive alternative for his ultimatum to Japan?"

"Was it not strange," she asked at another point, "that Mr. Roosevelt, who, by refusing for years to enforce the Neutrality Act of 1936 to prevent shipments of war supplies to Japan despite popular demand, had largely contributed to supplying that nation with the raw materials for the armaments now being used against our own troops after the Atlantic conference when an incident with Japan seems to have been desired, suddenly changed his policy and not only cut off war supplies but virtually everything required by the civilian population of Japan as well?"

Miss Rankin, who first was elected to the House in 1916, serving one term, was elected again in 1940 but did not seek re-election this year.

MARINE CORPS CUTS COLLEGE LIMIT FOR OFFICER COURSE

Men from 20 to 31 years of age with two years of college work will be accepted through Dec. 31 for immediate training as officers in the Marine Corps, it was announced today. Enlistment for officer training previously was limited to college graduates, or to men still in college, who were placed in the enlisted reserve until they completed studies.

Applications are taken at the Marine recruiting office in the Federal Building. The office will be open its usual hours, 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., Christmas day.

Married as well as single men are eligible. Those accepted receive letters to their draft boards asking releases. Successful applicants will be enlisted as first-class privates for 16 weeks at Marine officer schools at Parris Island, S. C., and Quantico, Va., then commissioned as Second Lieutenants.

CHINESE OFFICIAL EXECUTED FOR GRAB AUTO IN F

Used Position to Move $10,000 in Goods Over Burma Road for Own Profit.

CHUNGKING, Dec. 23 (AP).—Lin Shih-liang, manager of the transport department of the central trust and chief of the Chinese Government purchasing and supply agency, was executed by a military court yesterday on charges that he had used his position to transport over the Burma Road for his personal profit on the eve of the fall of Rangoon.

He was tried and sentenced to a court-martial whose decision was approved by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The value of the goods involved allegedly exceeded $10 million dollars, Chinese, or about one-half million dollars in United States currency.

Hsu Hsin-shu, manager of the trust department of the central trust, who was accused of living with Lin, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment, was prominent in the Chinese business world.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

30 Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Twenty persons were injured, seriously enough to be hospitalized, when a street car and a Department of Sanitation truck collided in Kew Gardens last night.

C.E. Williams
SIXTH AND FRANKLIN

We Give Eagle Stamps

New Foot Comfort and Flexibility

WILLIAMS FLEX-STEP ARCH SHOE

Smart New Styles Super-Values Here Only

$3.50

Smart Pumps and Oxfords Brown or Black Kid Smart Patent Trims

INCLUDING SIZES 4 TO 10 AAA TO D AND EEE (But not in every style.)

See Window Display of the Many Styles

Store Hours—9:00 to 5:30

PLAN TO SOLVE MAN POWER PROBLEMS OF THE FARMER

CINCINNATI, Dec. 23 (AP).—A program to offer 10,000 farmers and farm workers a chance to leave non-productive lands east and south of the Dakotas for work on stock and dairy farms suffering labor shortages took shape yesterday.

The Federally sponsored project, an outgrowth of small-scale experiments in Kentucky and Wisconsin, was described as intended ultimately to help farmers in all their seasonal labor problems, although the immediate goal is to bolster dairy and livestock production.

Carl Gibboney of Washington, Rural Rehabilitation Director for the Farm Security Administration, expressed to a conference of Federal and state officials from throughout the vast area hope that 10,000 farmers and workers now "underemployed" could be placed where they were needed by March 1.

Walter Erb of Chicago, chairman of a recruitment committee, emphasized that the program was purely voluntary.

Champion in quality

PARK & TILFORD KENTUCKY BRED

The Bourbon with a background

PARK & TILFORD DISTILLERS, INC., NEW YORK • KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKY • 90 PROOF

PARK & TILFORD ST. LOUIS BRANCH, 1718 Washington Ave.

Hurry up, Santa! There are only 2 more days 'til Christmas!

$1.85

Shirts

Fine madras, broadcloths and oxfords in popular whites and desirable patterned shirts. All types of collar styles. All are tailored by well-known shirtmakers. Special lots and seconds.

$7 Wool Robes, warm wrap-arounds — $5.95

$2.50 Men's Toilet Sets — $1.85

$2.50 Leather Billfolds — $1.85

$1.50 Men's Gift Ties — 85c

$1 Value Ties, 55c

All are extra values! In patterns and colors to suit any man's taste. Repe, twills, poplins and rayons included.

65c and $1 Ties, 39c

Stripes, plaids, neat figures, all-over patterns and plain colors. Some are seconds.

65c, 75c Hose, 39c

Irregulars from good makers. Black and new patterns.

50c Hose — 29c

$1 Hose — 65c

$2.50, $2.95 Gloves, $1.95

Capekins and pigskins. Some are lined.

$1.65, $1.95 Gloves — $1.35

$1.50 Wool Gloves — $1.20

Boyd's SUBWAY STORE

Don't STOP HERE!

Go right on eating Wheaties for breakfast all year around! You'll find that zippy, toasted flavor good whole wheat nourishment of Wheaties just as satisfying in winter as in summer. It's a real "go" breakfast—milk, fruit and Wheaties.

Breakfast of Champions

Wheaties and Wheaties with Raisins

EVERY SIDE A HIT

LATEST RELEASES

7028—"Ten Little Soldiers"—and "His Orchestra"

7029—"Fruite the Lord and Pass"—and "His Orchestra"

7030—"When Lights Go On Again"—and "His Orchestra"

7031—"Swing Time"—and "His Orchestra"

7032—"In Blue"—and "His Orchestra"

7033—"I Had the Craziest Dream"—and "His Orchestra"

7034—"Moonlight Mood"—and "His Orchestra"

If Not on Sale at Your Music Store, PHONE FRANKLIN 6412 For Your Nearest Dealer

ELECTRIC LAMP & SUPPLY CO.

ADVERTISEMENTS

What the Gestapo Cannot Kill

Read the answer in "Hostages," best-seller condensed in Reader's Digest

This exciting war novel is more than a story. It makes you see why not wholesale butchery of innocent people is Hitler's secret police can conquer the world. It is written from the inside by the author, Stefan Heym, a refugee from the Nazis, and his book is a masterpiece of suspense.

ALSO IN THIS ISSUE

• Seven ways to test your nerves. Six amusing checks suggested by doctors. Try them on yourself or at your party.

• "The American Plan for a Reorganized World." It is being worked out by the scenes in Washington, and here is the detailed report of this program for a "new world order" after the war.

• Alexander Woolcott tells the tragedy of Stephen C. Foster, whose "Swanee Home" and other immortal songs are heard today on every American fighting front.

• An army nurse who married an enemy in a Bataan jungle to the music of some bombs lived to tell an unbelievable story. He is "missing in action" and she believes he will come back.

And 33 other vital and timely features from books and current magazines, chosen for pleasure and profitable reading. January Reader's Digest... at newsstand today.

CHINESE OFFICIAL EXECUTED FOR GRAB

sed Position to Move $1,500
000 in Goods Over Burma Road for Own Profit.

CHUNGKING, Dec. 23 (AP)—
Shih-liang, manager of the transport department of the Trust and chief of the Chinese government purchasing and selling agency, was executed by shooting yesterday on charges that he had taken position to transport goods over the Burma Road for his personal profit on the eve of the Rangoon.

He was tried and sentenced to death by a court-martial whose decision was approved by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The value of the goods involved allegedly exceeded 30 million dollars, Chinese, or about one-half million dollars in United States currency.

Hsu Hsin-shu, manager of the transport department of the Chinese government, who was accused of collaborating with Lin, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. He was prominent in the Chinese business world.

Hurt in Street Car-Truck Collision
NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)— Twenty persons were injured, including one who was hospitalized, yesterday in a collision between a street car and a truck on Kew Gardens last night.

Stewart's
BEAUTIFUL NEW Formals
$4.99
to $16.99

Rayon
Taffetas
Rayon
Satins
Sheers
Etc.
Sizes
8-17
10-20
30-46
ALL COLORS
Large Selection of Wedding Gowns and Veils Reasonably Priced
WILL CALL

Stewart's
14 WASHINGTON AVE.

are Christmas!
55c extra values! In patterns to suit any color. Reps, twills, and rayons included.
$1
39c
suits, neat figures, patterns and plain
are seconds.
39c
good makers. Blacks
29c
65c
$1.95
Some are lined.
Gloves — $1.35
Gloves — $1.20
OLIVE AT SIXTH
Boyd's
SUBWAY STORE

CLERK, 17, KILLED
AUTO IN FOG
COUNTY ROAD

Lorenzo Smith on Way
From School Where He Was Senior — Driver
Failed to See Him.

Lorenzo Smith, 17 years old, was killed this morning when his bicycle was struck by an automobile on Lindbergh boulevard near his home, 18 Clermont lane, Ladue.
There was a heavy fog at the time.
The youth was on his way to his home from nearby Chaminade College, where he was a high school senior. He had just passed his driver's license examination. His mother, Peter, 14, who was riding the school also on bicycle.

Elmer Kline, a St. Charles carpenter, who was driving the automobile, told deputy sheriffs he did not see the youth in time to avoid striking him. He said he was driving very slowly because of the disturbance.

Kline and four men passengers were going to Jefferson Barracks, where they are employed on a construction project.

The youth was the son of James L. Smith, an examiner for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Regist, 65, Killed by Taxicab on East Side.

Oscar Mohlenbrock, 65-year-old cycle rider, was killed last night when he was struck by a taxicab driven by Aaron Rambo, Negro, near Eighteenth street and Missouri avenue, East St. Louis.

Witnesses told police that Mohlenbrock, 538 North Twenty-second street, East St. Louis, was riding on the wrong side of the street.
After striking Mohlenbrock, the cab crashed into a parked car, owned by Frank Hess, 520½ North seventh street.

Three Negro passengers in the

Don't STOP HERE!

Go right on eating Wheaties for breakfast all year around! You'll find that zippy, roasted flavor, good whole wheat nourishment of Wheaties just as satisfying in winter as in summer. It's a real "go" breakfast — milk, fruit and Wheaties.

Breakfast of Champions

EVERY SIDE A HIT
THE HIT
RECORD

LATEST RELEASES
7028—"Ten Little Soldiers" and "Here Comes the Navy"—Peter Piper and His Orchestra
7029—"Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" and "When the Lights Go Out Again"—Peter
Piper and His Orchestra
7030—"Swamp Fire" and "Gunsade in Blue"—Lon Breese and The Chicagoans
7031—"Mid the Cruelest Dream" and "Moonlight Moods"—
Johnny Jones
If You Want Your Music Store,
PHONE Franklin 6412
For Your Nearest Dealer
ELECTRIC LAMP & SUPPLY CO.
Distributors

ADVERTISEMENT

What the Gestapo
Cannot Kill

Read the answer in
"Hostages," best-seller
condensed in Reader's Digest

This exciting war novel is more than a story. It makes you see why not even wholesale butchery of innocent people by Hitler's secret police can conquer the spirit that burns in the hearts of Europe's enslaved millions. It is written from bitter knowledge: the author, Stefan Heym, is a refugee from the Nazis, and his father was a hostage, then a suicide.

ALSO IN THIS ISSUE

Seven ways to test your nerves. Simple, amusing checks suggested by doctors.
Try them on yourself or at your next party.

The American Plan for a Reorganized World. It is being worked out behind the scenes in Washington, and here is the first detailed report of this vast program for a "new world order" after the war.

Alexander Woolcott tells the tragic story of Stephen C. Foster, whose "My Old Kennedy Home" and other immortal songs are heard today on every American radio front.

An army nurse who married an officer in a Bataan jungle to the music of Japanese bombs lived to tell an unforgettable story. He is "missing in action."
Read why she believes he will surely come back.

And 35 other vital and timely features from books and current magazines, condensed for pleasant and profitable reading. January Reader's Digest—as you know it—today.

Killed by Auto

LORENZO SMITH

cab were treated at St. Mary's Hospital for minor injuries.

7 Autos, 2 Busses in Collisions
That Block Traffic.

A series of collisions, in which seven automobiles and two busses figured, blocked traffic for 30 minutes in the 2800 block of Lucas and Hunt road, this morning, but only two persons were slightly injured. Two northbound cars collided, and when a third slowed down, it was rammed by a skidding Normandy school bus. Then southbound traffic jammed, the leading car slowing down and being hit by the machine behind, which in turn was rammed by another Normandy school bus. Another car was hit by an Army machine before the tangle was straightened out.

RUSH-HOUR PLAN
TO KEEP BUSES,
CARS WEST OF 12TH
Continued From Page One.

Carl Giesow, traffic director of the Chamber of Commerce, and Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission.

City officials also have under consideration the barring of automobiles from certain streets in the downtown district at peak hours, including parked vehicles. A proposal also has been discussed that Olive and Locust streets below Twelfth be made one-way thoroughfares during rush hours.

Mayor's Plea Disregarded.

Consideration of alternative methods of dealing with the acute transportation problem have been accelerated in view of the alder-men's action last Friday in adjourning until Jan. 8 in the face of Mayor Becker's personal appeal for quick action on the bill to create the post of Transportation Administrator and vest him with authority to fix working hours.

Meanwhile transportation experts of the Public Service Co., the city and the Chamber of Commerce continued their study of the transportation emergency. The Public Service Co. released charts and graphs through the Chamber of Commerce showing that the daily number of passengers entering the downtown district from 6:30 a. m. to 9:15 a. m. dropped from 96,500 shortly before May 1 to a low of 86,600 June 18, then rose steadily to 100,000 Nov. 19 and had reached an average of 120,400 daily by Dec. 10.

It was on last May 4 that the Mayor's plan for voluntary barring of working hours went into effect, but refusal of the three large department stores to comply with the proposal prompted the Mayor to state that the plan of voluntary co-operation would not work effectively. However, the charts do show a drop in congestion of passengers at peak morning periods following the start of the voluntary staggering system, but in midsummer a definite pick-up began and it was considerably quickened after gasoline rationing took effect Dec. 1.

Charts for the outbound rush in the peak period from 3 p. m. to 5:45 p. m. show a similar traffic history. The daily number of passengers riding street cars and busses out of the downtown district was about 96,000 before May 4; the number jumped to 102,100 immediately after May 4, but eased to 100,100 by May 21, decreased slightly more to 99,400 in midsummer, rose sharply to 106, 000 by Nov. 19 and swung violently up to 120,400 by last Dec. 10.

Christmas Shopping.

While the volume of passenger traffic has increased even more since Dec. 10, this is attributed to Christmas shopping, and a fall-off is anticipated after tomorrow.

Other charts show that the inbound and outbound rush of passengers in the morning and evening peak periods increased sharply after gasoline rationing became effective Dec. 1, and that the number of passengers exceeded the number of seats on busses and street cars most widely a few minutes before 8 a. m. and at 5:07
p. m.

For example, before gasoline rationing took effect, checkers found one morning that at 7:52 a. m.
there were 9700 seats on busses and street cars entering the downtown area and 14,800 passengers, with the excess, of course, standing.
After gasoline rationing, at the same time in the morning, they found 10,000 seats compared to 16,450 passengers.

In the evening, before gasoline restrictions, they found 11,300 seats and 17,000 passengers at 5:07 p. m., and after rationing, 12,100 seats and 19,100 passengers. Thus the disparity here jumped from 5700 before Dec. 1 to 7000 after rationing.

Counselor's Aid Approves Bill.

The aldermanic Traffic Committee, which met this morning to consider further the bill to create the post of Transportation Administrator, received from the City Counselor's office an opinion, written by First Associate City Counselor George L. Stemmler, upholding the legality of the bill. An opinion had been requested by the Board of Aldermen on motion of Alderman Lawrence P. Walsh, Democrat, who expressed the view that the measure sought unlawfully to delegate legislative authority to a municipal officer.

Stemmler cited a decision of the State Supreme Court, May 4, 1940, in which the court upheld the validity of a St. Louis ordinance creating the Charities Solicitations Commission to regulate charitable organizations here. The modern tendency, said Stemmler, has been to liberalize the granting of authority to a municipal officer to use discretionary power to deal with existing situations. "It would be difficult and impractical," he added, to seek to specify precise rules for the Transportation Administrator in the bill.

The committee, during its meeting, discussed the bill with Gies-ow and Tom Rogers, director of the Legislation and Taxation Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, and also listened to a protest against the measure by Austin C.
Knetzger, manager of the Association of Team and Truck Owners, who wants the bill amended to exclude any possible jurisdiction over trucks.

Committee Chairman Charles E.
Albanese repeated, after the meeting, his opinion that the controversial measure will be reported out favorably before the aldermen resume their sessions Jan. 8, but he was unable to say whether it will be changed. His committee will meet again Jan. 6. Albanese said between 300 and 500 letters have been received by members of the board from objectors to the bill, mostly from employees of the downtown retail stores. No letter approving the bill has been received, he added.

ADVERTISEMENT

NOTHING CAN DO
MORE FOR YOU

in the entire field of aspirin than St. Joseph Aspirin. None faster, none safer. The world's largest seller at 10c. Also sold in economy sizes—36 tablets, 20c, 100 tablets, 35c. Demand St. Joseph Aspirin.

CHILDREN'S SCHOOL
SHOES
Sturdy constructed oxfords and high top shoes. Real quality at low prices. All styles, all sizes.
Mail Orders Filled

MORRIS SRENCO, INC.
711 N. 8th, Opposite Union Market
Open Every Evening Till 9 P. M.

Liberal Dividends on Savings

ST. LOUIS FEDERAL SAVINGS & LOAN ASSN.
209 N. 8TH ST. • CENTRAL 5290
1 STARTS AN ACCOUNT

All Accounts Insured Up To $5,000
Buy U. S. War Bonds and Stamps Here

Cor. 1942, Hyde Park Breweries Association, Inc.

Speaking of Christmas...

Millions of men and women and thousands of dealers have not waited for this holiday season to express their good will for Hyde Park—the Beer that's extra-aged for extra-special flavor.

Around the calendar, their consistent preference for this friendly beverage has kept Hyde

Park in high favor wherever it is sold by the bottle or by the glass.

The makers of Hyde Park Beer take this occasion to thank them one and all for their valued patronage—and to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year.

HYDE PARK BREWERIES ASSOCIATION, INC., ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI

★ ★ ★ TO KEEP THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS AGLOW—BUY WAR BONDS ★ ★ ★

AMERICAN FLYER
Large Selection
21 Models to Choose Priced
as Low as $8.95
FREE 63-Page Catalog
in Colors
Xmas Tree
Light Sets
Special
49¢
Complete with 3 col. ored lamps, cord and
plug.
Brandt Electric Co.
904 PINE—CHENMUT 9220

NAZIS REPORTED SEEKING 1918 VENGEANCE ON GEN. WEYGAND

AT THE GERMAN FRONTIER, Dec. 23 (AP).—Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler was reported last night to be undertaking an "investigation" into French Gen. Maxime Weygand's "responsibility" for the suffering inflicted on the German people during the occupation of the Rhineland in the first World War.

The inquiry was also said to bear on any connection Weygand might have had with the relatively short occupation of the Ruhr Valley in 1923.

Weygand was said in German circles to have been relinquished by the German Army, which first arrested him, to the Gestapo and presently is being held in what formerly was the Prince Albrecht Hotel in Berlin.

10 Ships Sunk or Damaged By Allies in Mediterranean

Continued From Page One.

U-boat was destroyed during these operations.

Allied planes and British submarines and light surface ships co-operated to slash at the arteries of reinforcement for Marshal Erwin Rommel and Gen. Walther Nehring while British, French and American ground troops made ready for tightening of the Libyan-Tunisian vise.

Vanguards of the British Eighth Army were reported unofficially to be nearing Buerat el Haun, only 100 miles from Tripoli, and more than 200 miles west of El Agheila.

The Cairo communiqué did not indicate geographical positions but said British patrols continued to harass the withdrawing enemy troops and commented that "the work of mine clearance and road repair is continuing satisfactorily."

Air activity was on a small scale yesterday over the Libyan battlefield. In a raid on the British-held port of Benghazi, Monday night, the Germans lost three bombers, the Cairo communiqué said.

In Tunisia, Allied detachments felt out Axis deployments in winter showers preparatory to the renewal of large-scale battles for the possession of Bizerte, Tunis and other bastions in Axis possession.

Axis Ship Losses.

Communiques from the London Admiralty and British Middle East headquarters in Cairo listed these Axis surface craft as casualties in the war of attrition in the Mediterranean:

One Axis supply ship sunk, one believed sunk and two more supply ships and an escorting destroyer torpedoed by submarines.

Whether the last three vessels were fatally damaged was not ascertained.

One small enemy supply vessel sunk in the Gulf of Gabes (off the Tunisian coast) by light naval forces.

One enemy merchant vessel set afire and a small escort ship hit off Sicily and several hits scored on two vessels in the main basin at Tunis by Allied planes Monday night. The Cairo communiqué said "no trace of the smaller (escort) vessel could be found after the attack" off Sicily.

The Admiralty said two of the supply ships torpedoed were south-bound "in the Tunis-Bizerte area." A single submarine accounted for both, it reported, saying one went down and "it was considered probable the second ship also sank."

Another submarine scored two hits each on the other two supply ships and the destroyer in an attack on a convoy off Sardinia, the Admiralty said. It reported that "it was not possible to observe the final results of these attacks."

Detailing one phase of the attacks on Axis shipping, the Royal Air Force Middle East news service said Malta was a springboard for torpedo-carrying Albacores in the attack off Sicily. A 70-foot jet of smoke and steam arose from the merchant ship and the escort vessel's position marked by a large patch of oil.

Wallington bombers based on Malta made the new smash at Tunis and were declared to have scored several direct hits on two ships in the main basin, causing both to disintegrate in crimson explosions which merged into one great burst.

A two-ton bomb was dropped on the Tunis freight yards and a 1000-pound bomb burst on the edge of the canal linking La Goulette with the Tunis harbor, the account said.

The Italian communiqué said Axis forces also were active against Allied communication lines. It reported that German planes had severely damaged five large merchant ships and a torpedo boat in attacks on British and American convoys in Algerian waters.

Of Rommel's flight it said "in the Sirte region, enemy groups who attempted disturbing actions were annihilated."

The German high command reported that Allied troops had been "driven out of tenaciously defended mountain positions" in Tunisia by German and Italian forces and that numerous prisoners were captured.

The daily communiqué reported night air raids on Bone, Algerian port used by the Allies, and an air base at Algiers, and claimed damaging bomb hits on two large transports, one a ship of from 12,000 to 15,000 tons, east of Bougie, on the Algerian coast.

The communiqué also said Axis planes scored bomb hits "on an enemy submarine and its loss may be reckoned with."

French Movement.

In central Tunisia, French forces still were driving toward the Mediterranean coast. A French African headquarters communiqué said the French had beaten off a German counterattack west of Kairouan, presumably at Pichon, about 60 miles west of Sousse. The Germans suffered "serious losses."

"Numerous prisoners, armored vehicles and artillery," have been captured by the French in the area of Pont-du-Fahs, it was reported.

Allied fighter patrols flew over the French troops yesterday, attacking Axis vehicles with cannon fire and shooting down two bombers.

Stabbing ahead of the main American and British troops in Northern Tunisia, Allied patrols brushed with German units 15 miles northeast of Medjez el Bab and 10 miles southeast of Mateur yesterday, probing enemy positions.

Medjez el Bab, crossroads town which the Germans once claimed they had taken, is 35 miles southwest of Tunis. Mateur lies about 25 miles to the north.

An Allied spokesman said there were no indications that the enemy is in any great strength in central Tunisia, or anywhere in Southern Tunisia.

Bad weather has reduced air activity and turned the ground to mud in many areas, but the Allies continue to send reinforcements and equipment to the front.

In six weeks, United States fighter pilots were reported to have taken a toll of 96 Axis planes, while losing 55 themselves. A spokesman said the United States pilots destroyed 24 enemy planes and lost 12 in the week ended Dec. 18.

In a broadcast yesterday, R. G. Casey, British Middle East Minister, said it was quite possible that the war could be won by using the Middle East as a springboard of attack against the Axis.

"The impression in the Middle East is that 1943 is going to be a year that will be long remembered with dread by the Italians," he declared.

22 IN BUS KILLED BY ROCK SLIDE AT ALIQUIPPA, PA.

Continued From Page One.

Watkins, was thrown to his death on the tracks.

Safety crews from the Jones & Laughlin mill across the railroad tracks, policemen, volunteers and air raid wardens trying to free the bodies worked for hours in constant danger of another rock fall. A boulder about 25 feet in circumference tumbled precariously on the cliff beside the hole left by the boulders that hit the bus.

Officers of the bus company said Karapan, who was killed had been cited several times for driving a year without an accident.

21 Hurt When Bus Hits Safety Island in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP).—

Twenty-one persons, including 12 women, were injured yesterday when a Bluebird Systems bus struck a safety island in Cermak road on Chicago's West Side.

The bus caught fire after the accident, but firemen extinguished the blaze. Richard Franz, of Chicago, driver of the bus, was trapped in his seat. Firemen, using an acetylene torch, cut away part of the steel of the bus to liberate him.

CHINESE DIPLOMATS KILLED IN MANILA, CHUNGKING HEARS

CHUNGKING, Dec. 23 (AP).—

The Central Daily News quoted Chinese arrivals from the South Seas today as saying that Clarence Kuangson Young, Chinese consul general at Manila, and several members of his staff had been killed by Japanese military authorities "under conditions of extreme barbarity."

Young, who was 42 years old, was educated in Colorado and at Princeton University.

CITY ASKED TO REDUCE NUMBER OF STOP SIGNS

Auto Club Head Writes Becker Many of 7050 Here Are Unnecessary.

A request that the city remove as many stop signs as can be disposed of without affecting safety was made yesterday in a letter to Mayor William Dee Becker by Matt F. Morse, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri.

Pointing out that there were 7050 stop signs in St. Louis, Morse said many of them were unnecessary and were "robbing citizens of many miles of automobile transportation." Removal of unneeded signs would eliminate added wear and tear on tires and prevent waste of gasoline, he declared.

Morse cited tests, made at Iowa State College, showing that an automobile traveling at 30 miles an hour without making any stops over a 10-block course consumed gasoline at the rate of a gallon to 18.5 miles. The same automobile over the same course when making four stops made only 10.3 miles to a gallon. When nine stops were made, the mileage per gallon average dropped to 6.6.

Morse suggested that city engineers make a study to determine which signs can safely be removed, and requested Mayor Becker to have introduced an ordinance authorizing the Director of Streets and Sewers to have his engineers select and remove them.

Heads Sales Managers' Group.

Henry C. Rueter, president of the Ludwig Music House, Inc., will head the Chamber of Commerce Sales Managers' Bureau during 1943 succeeding R. L. Coe, merchandising manager, Union Electric Co. of Missouri, it was announced today. Other new officers are: First vice-president, E. A. Wright; second vice-president, Charles R. Morgan, and treasurer, G. R. Ames.

WOMAN DIRECTING ERECTION OF HUGE PLANT IN RUSSIA

Engineer on Coking Project Second Only to One at Gary, Ind.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KUYBYSHEV, Dec. 23.—The Henry J. Kaiser of Soviet Russia is a woman. She is now in charge of building the biggest cokes-chemical plant in the world, after the one at Gary, Indiana.

Her name is Sulamith Silberstein, chief engineer of the project called "cokes-chemistry" in the Ural Mountains, who made a name for herself as one of the key personnel in building the great dam at Dnieperopetrovsk, blown up by the retreating Russians last year.

The huge plant, being rushed to completion, is expected to start producing in 1943. There will be 28 units turning out 13 types of products.

The biggest hearth furnace in Europe recently began operating at Magnitogorsk in the Urals.

OVERCOATS TOPCOATS $10.00

$12.50 UP

NEW SUITS $20.00 UP

New 2-Pants Suits $30.00 UP

100% All Wool

DUNN'S

70 Years at 912-14-16 FRANKLIN

OPEN TILL 9 P. M. THURSDAY

ARONBERG'S

RHINESTONE LAPEL WATCHES

CHOICE $19.95

CHOICE $19.95

BEAUTIFUL RHINESTONE LAPEL WATCHES

A marvelous gift... exactly as pictured. Truly dependable timepieces. They'll surprise and delight "HER."

DIAMOND • DIAMONDS $39.95

Sparkling Diamonds mounted with 14-kt. white or yellow gold. An everlasting gift. You'll be amazed at these great values — LOW TERMS

OPEN EVERY EVENING 'TIL 9 P. M.

ARONBERG'S

S.E. CORNER 6TH AND LOCUST

At Your Grocers

Kent VITAMINS A B₁ D

One capsule a day supplies the minimum average adult daily requirement of vitamins A, B₁, D. Made in America's leading vitamin laboratories. Same quality and purity as other leading brands selling up to five times the price! Ask for them today.

FAMILY SIZE BOTTLE OF 50 only 50¢

10-DAY SUPPLY

only 10¢

OUTSTANDING VALUE

DISTRIBUTED BY KENT LABORATORIES ST. LOUIS, MO.
Division of Supply Company

Use the Best for the Best of Holidays

HILL AND HILL

Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey

"Bourbon at its Best"

Enjoy it with satisfaction... serve it with pride... give it with assurance! Buy it now, at a cost far less than you'd expect for bourbon of such fine quality. Order your holiday supply today.

BOTTLED IN-BOND

For a great taste thrill try Hill & Hill

DISTILLED IN KENTUCKY

HILL AND HILL

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

THE HILL & HILL DISTILLERY COMPANY

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY

Distributed by: Triangle Wine & Liquor Co., 1106 North Broadway, Telephone: CEntal 2535, St. Louis, Mo. 100 Proof

DON'T LOSE YOUR NICKEL...

WAIT... FOR THE DIAL TONE

So many people are using public pay telephones these days that at times the lines and equipment serving them are overcrowded.

When more calls are placed at one time than the equipment can handle, the dial tone (the hum-m-m that means "go ahead and dial") is not heard promptly.

Should this ever happen to you, please don't hang up or you may lose your nickel! Wait for the dial tone and then dial your call.

If you hang up before you hear the dial tone, your nickel cannot be returned because you are not yet connected with the answering equipment.

So please remember to wait for the dial hum... it's your nickel and we don't want it unless you get your call.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

P. S. Waiting for the dial tone before you dial is necessary at all times from all dial telephones. If you start before the hum-m-m begins, you may get a wrong number or no number at all.

BOAT SANK SHIP AND TRIED TO KILL EVERY SURVIVOR

Large Vessel Captain Tells of Merciless Gunfire Directed at Fleeing Lifeboats.

WINKINGS OF ALLIED SHIPS DECLINE STEADILY WHILE U. S. LAUNCHINGS INCREASE

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—FROM a high mark of 11 sinkings in June, the toll of merchant shipping taken by enemy submarines in the Western Atlantic has declined steadily month by month under the pressure of Allied naval and air patrols.

So far, 19 cargo carriers have been reported sunk in November, bringing to 565 the number of Allied and neutral ships and merchant tonnage lost in the Western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor. Of this total, 220 were American craft.

Since January, American shipbuilders have completed 622 merchantmen, totaling 6,900,000 tons, and the Maritime Commission indicated that President Roosevelt's 1942 objective of eight million tons of cargo ships would be met.

The commission reported that 68 of the 84 vessels completed in November were Liberty ships, which averaged only 56 days in building, an improvement of 10 days over October, and said that the December schedule indicated the yards will "turn out the required tonnage."

AN EAST COAST PORT, DE (AP).—The captain of a United Nations merchant ship, sinking of which was announced yesterday, has reported an attack by a hell fire and machine guns on the vessel and the helpless crewmen seeking the safety of lifeboats. Nineteen men, occupants of one boat, are missing and the master has no hope that any of the escaped death in the furious gun unleashed on them by a submarine in the Atlantic off South America in mid-November.

"It was murder, just murder," said the captain after he and 27 other survivors arrived here. Those Nazis tried to sink us without a trace, evidently hoping that dead men would tell no tales. My boat just happened to escape. It was night, and shells and tracer bullets filled the air around us. They were after us, all right. The other boat, under command of the chief officer, was nearer them. They poured a merciless hail of fire at it."

Their attacker used no torpedoes, but the shell fire was so intense the bridge and funnel collapsed, the hull was perforated and the ship began to sink. Flaming wreckage and lifeboats were being lowered, then was directed at the boat.

Names of survivors are withheld because their families are in Nazi-occupied Europe.

British Cargo Ship Sunk Off South American Coast.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—A medium-sized British merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk in the latter part of October in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America, the Navy announced today. Survivors have been landed at a Gulf Coast port.

Only one of the 50-man crew was reported missing. The survivors took a lifeboat, and, after being open water for 16 days, landed on the coast of South America. Later were brought to the United States.

NAZI TANKS FRESH FROM FACTORY IN ACTION IN TUNISIA

Continued From Page One.

nothing on the Americans, for only a few hundred yards from where the General stood a group of United States tankmen who had fought on in their "General Grant" after receiving four direct hits from Nazi 88 mm. cannon shells were repairing their tank in a rear echelon.

Two of the crew had been wounded, but the remaining four were ready to go into battle again. They are Sgt. Rolva Cantré, Hodgenville, Ky.; Corp. Robert Elter, Marlow, Ok.; and Pvt. Frank R. Banner, Claremont, Va., and E. M. E. Wiberg, Claremont, Kan.

"We were hit four times," Cantré said. "You can see one hit where on the turret where the shell glanced off. We kept on shooting. Sights Shot Off."

"First the top of the turret was hit, knocked off and then two of our machine guns were knocked out and two of the crew were wounded. Then all our sights were shot off."

"We couldn't bring our remaining gun to bear so we had to quit. But we came off under our own power."

One of the difficulties in armored fighting has been to keep young American tank crews from disregarding German defenses and tearing in regardless of the risk. They think their tanks can take anything, and have to be held back. But they are learning that a direct hit by an 88 mm. shell can knock out any tank no matter whose.

American artillery has been playing a major part in the operation. Tabour and Medjez el Bab.

BOAT SANK SHIP AND TRIED TO KILL EVERY SURVIVOR

Vessel Captain Tells of Merciless Gunfire Directed at Fleeing Lifeboats.

WRECKINGS OF ALLIED SHIPS RECEIVE STEADILY WHILE U. S. LAUNCHINGS INCREASE

FROM a high mark of 111 sinkings in June, the toll of merchant shipping taken by enemy submarines in the Western Atlantic has declined steadily month by month under the pressure of Allied naval and air patrols.

So far, 19 cargo carriers have been reported sunk in November, bringing to 568 the number of Allied and neutral ships announced as lost in the Western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor. Of this total, 220 were American craft.

Since January, American shipbuilders have completed 625 merchantmen, totaling 6,890,000 deadweight tons, and the Maritime Commission indicated that President Roosevelt's 1942 objective of eight million tons of cargo ships would be met.

The commission reported that 61 of the 84 vessels completed in November were Liberty ships which averaged only 56 days in building, an improvement of 10 days over October, and said that the December schedule indicated the yards will "turn out the required tonnage."

AN EAST COAST PORT, Dec. 23 (AP).—The captain of a United Nations merchant ship, sinking of which was announced yesterday, has reported an attack by a submarine and machine guns on his vessel and the helpless crewmen seeking the safety of lifeboats.

Nineteen men, occupants of one boat, are missing and the master has no hope that any of them escaped death in the furious gunning unleashed on them by a submarine in the Atlantic off South America in mid-November.

"It was murder, just murder," said the captain after he and 22 other survivors arrived here.

Those Nazis tried to sink us without a trace, evidently hoping that dead men would tell no tales. "My boat just happened to escape. It was night, and shells and machine bullets filled the air around us. They were after us, all right. The other boat, under command of the chief officer, was nearer them. They poured a merciless hail of fire at it."

Their attacker used no torpedoes, but the shell fire was so intense the bridge and funnel collapsed, the hull was perforated and the ship began to sink. Firing stopped while lifeboats were being lowered, then was directed at the survivors.

Names of survivors are withheld because their families are in Nazi-occupied Europe.

British Cargo Ship Sunk Off South American Coast.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—A medium-sized British merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk in the latter part of October in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America, the Navy announced today. Survivors have been landed at a Gulf Coast port.

Only one of the 50-man crew was reported missing. The survivors took a lifeboat, and, after being on open water for 16 days, landed on the coast of South America and were brought to the United States.

NAZI TANKS FRESH FROM FACTORY IN ACTION IN TUNISIA

Continued From Page One.

Nothing on the Americans, for only a few hundred yards from where the General stood a group of United States tankmen who had caught on in their "General Grant" after receiving four direct hits from Nazi 88 mm. cannon shells were repairing their tank in a rainstorm.

Two of the crew had been wounded, but the remaining four were ready to go into battle again. They are Sergt. Rolva Cantrell, Edger, Marlow, Ok.; and Pvt. Frank R. Banner, Claremont, W. Va., and E. M. E. Wiberg, Clay Center, Kan.

"We were hit four times," Cantrell said. "You can see one hit up there on the turret where the shell glanced off. We kept on shooting. Shots Shot Off.

"First the top of the turret was half knocked off and then two of our machine guns were knocked out and two of the crew were wounded. Then all our sights were shot off.

"We couldn't bring our remaining gun to bear so we had to quit, but we came off under our own power."

One of the difficulties in armored fighting has been to keep from American tank crews from being regarded as the risk. They think their tanks can stand anything, and have to be held back. But they are learning that a direct hit by an 88 mm. shell can knock out any tank no matter whose it is.

American artillery has been playing a major part in the operations at Tebourba and Medjez el Bab.

GEN. ALEXANDER ON SURPRISE VISIT TOURS CYPRUS DEFENSES

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Reuters news agency reported today in a dispatch from Nicosia, Cyprus, that Sir Harold Alexander, commander of British forces in the Middle East, had paid a surprise visit to that eastern Mediterranean island by plane.

Alexander was said to have inspected the island's defenses from the air and to have made a tour of military installations on foot.

(The date of the visit was not disclosed. It was presumed, however, that his presence at Cyprus had not been revealed for security reasons until after his departure.)

TWO ST. LOUISANS TAKE ARMY PHOTOS IN AFRICA

Sergts. Eugene C. Dallen Jr. and Samuel Steinberg Are on Tunisian Front.

Two St. Louisans were mentioned in an Associated Press dispatch from the Tunisian front about a group of Army photographers. They were Sergt. Eugene

C. Dallen Jr. and Samuel Steinberg.

The photographers, "as quick with the shutter as an infantryman with a trigger," the dispatch said, have been risking their lives to get the Army a complete pictorial record of the North African campaign. Their unit, on front-line assignments, has shared dive bombing and enemy shelling attacks with the fighting forces.

Members of one group, it was reported, took a half day to change a tire on their truck because each time they came out of a slit trench to resume work an enemy plane or shell chased them back to cover. Another group barely escaped with their lives when a sudden local reverse of our forces placed them in the middle of a tank battle.

Dallen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Dallen of 4140 Botanical avenue. He went into service in February, 1941, and was sent to the British Isles last September. His parents did not learn until yesterday that he was in Africa, when he wrote them that he had traveled so much that it was "like a Cook's tour." He was formerly a commercial artist and an officer of the Camera Club Council of St. Louis.

Local directories do not list a Samuel Steinberg.

"Stone Woman" to Wed Again. CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP).—Mrs. Iola Taylor Swinnerton, 39-year-old

"stone woman" who has been suffering for 16 years from myositis ossificans, will be married tonight to Theron V. Warren, shipyard worker. She has been called the "stone woman" because her disease is characterized by hardening of the muscles and the formation of bony deposits. She and her first husband were divorced last April.

DEAF? Test the New super-TELEX FREE! Enjoy Life... Hear Clearly with America's First 4-Tube Hearing Aid. Free Trial and Test. Phone, Call or Write for Booklet. TELEX Hearing Service. Dlx. Butler Optical Co. 305 N. 7th. Suite 301. Mar. 2733.

654-Million-Dollar Construction. NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—F. W. Dodge Corporation, research organization, reported today construction contracts awarded in November in 37 Eastern states totaled $654,184,000 compared with $458,620,000 in November of 1941 and $780,396,000 in October of this year.

YOUR BURNING SKIN may be quickly relieved with soothing, medicated, time-tested Resinol. Try it! RESINOL

TIRES
OPA Tire Inspectors
—To Help You Apply For—
New Tires—Recapping—Used Tires or Vulcanizing
RECAPPING SPECIALISTS
Merchants Recapping is recognized as the finest, lowest cost method of saving money on new, heavy non-slip tread. Overlaid service. Plenty of rubber. Out-of-town returning certificates accepted.
For the Best in Tires and Service
MERCHANTS TIRE CO.
HARRY B. WHITE
2710 Washington Blvd. JR. 0673
BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

Brother... from now on don't be so human!

REMEMBER 1933... when times were tough? Maybe you didn't have a job. Maybe you and the wife found the sledding pretty hard... and you swore that if times ever changed you'd make up for lost time.

Chances are, today, things are different and you made up for it this Christmas. Chances are you're making good money, and naturally you're having some fun with your well-earned dollars and spare time. That's only human... but being too human... too carefree with your dollars is going to slow down the paying for those necessary implements of war that you're working so hard to produce every day.

We can't be so carefree when we give serious thought to the men who are playing hide-and-seek with an enemy that thinks nothing of bayoneting a wounded marine; an enemy that treats their captives worse than we would ever think of treating hogs sent to a slaughterhouse.

Our men need tools... just like you need tools... and 10% of your earnings saved in War Bonds will buy these tools for our men.

From now on we've got to quit being so human; from now on let's limit ourselves to the necessities and just enough of the little things that make life worth living.

Let's look ahead... let's save for the future and pay for this war as we go along. It's a mighty good plan... this 10% payroll plan. So if you aren't setting aside your 10%... tell the boss you want to. Not 6% or 7%... but at least 10%... and if you can afford more... do it.

Do it tomorrow... do it by January 1st... so we'll all be ten percenters.

Top That 10% Payroll Savings by Jan. 1st

SPONSORED BY

In addition to the firms listed eight prefer to remain anonymous.

FRANK ADAM ELEC. CO., 3650 Windsor
ALLIED METAL PRODUCTS MFG. CORP., 4454 Easton
THE ALLIGATOR CO., Gravois and Bingham
AMERICAN SODA WATER CO., 1228 Ann
AMERICAN WINE COMPANY, 3015 Cass
ATLAS AIRCRAFT TRADES SCHOOL, 10th and North Market
ATLAS ALUMINUM WELDING CO., 2913 North Broadway
AUTOMOBILE BONDING COMPANY
AAA AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF MO., 3917 Lindell
BAILEY'S, 6204 Easton
THE BORDEN CO., De Luxe Ice Cream Div., 4218 Locust
BOWERSOX INS. AGENCY CO., 718 Chestnut St.
A. G. BRAUER SUPPLY CO., 2100 Washington
GEO. E. BROOKER CIGAR CO., INC., 2100 North Ninth
BRONZE ALLOYS CO., 6244 St. Louis Ave.
CARL'S COCKTAIL LOUNGE, 709 Washington
COLCORD-WRIGHT MCHT. & SUP. CO., 1223 N. Broadway
THE CONSOLIDATED COAL CO.
THE DANIEL AND HENRY CO., INC., Pierce Bldg.
BAZOR MANUFACTURING CO.
A. S. DEKHEIMER, 920 N. Broadway
DIAGRAM-BRADLEY STENCIL MACHINE CORP., 3748 Forest Park
DICKIE CONSTRUCTION CO., 317 N. 11th St.
A. & L. DUNN MERC. & LOAN CO., 912 Franklin
ELDER MFG. CO., 703 N. 13th St.
C. B. ENGEL & CO., Insurance, 320 N. 4th St.
BARMOUNT PARK JOCKEY CLUB, Collinsville, Ill.
FANCHON & MARCO—ST. LOUIS AMUSEMENT CO. THEATRES
FELTMAN & CURNIE SHOES
FLEISCHER-SEGER CONSTRUCTION CO., Railway Exch. Bldg.

FLEISHMAN'S PICKLES INC., 1411 N. 17th St.
WALTER FREUND BREAD CO., Taylor-Chester Block
GENERAL AMERICAN LIFE INSURANCE CO., 1501 Locust
GENERAL GROCER CO., 301 S. 9th St.
GENERAL MEAT CO., 2900 N. Broadway
GENERAL TIRE CO. OF ST. LOUIS, 3400 Washington
GENERAL VAN & STORAGE CO., 4909 Delmar
THE S. F. GOODRICH CO., 1928 S. Vandeventer
HAMMER DRY PLATE & FILM COMPANY
HARRIS WOOL & FUR CO., 2204 N. Broadway
HELLUNG & GRIMM, 9th and Washington
F. B. HIRSCHBERG & CO., Pierce Bldg.
ED. HOUSER & S. CO., Cuba, Mo.
INLAND WATERWAYS CORP.
KATZ DRUG CO., 3 Greater St. Louis Stores
SAMUEL KRAUS CO., 649 Edmund
LACLEDE BOND & MORTGAGE CO., 8030 Forsythe
LANE BRYANT, 6th and Locust
BEN A. LANGAN STORAGE, 3101 Delmar
LEPPERT-BOOS FUR CO., 919 Locust St.
S. N. LONG WAREHOUSE, 528 Gratiot
MANGEL'S, 409 N. 5th
McMULLEN PRINTING CO., INC., 4000 Locust
MERCANTILE INS. AGENCY, 111 N. 4th
MOORE GEAR & MFG. CO., 1721-23 N. 8th St.
MOSLANK METAL WEATHERSTRIP CO., 412 N. Euclid
MOUND CITY FORWARDING CO., INC., 2227 Carr
MUTUAL SAVINGS LIFE INS. CO., 3287 Washington
NATIONAL BEARING METALS CORPORATION, 4930 Manchester
PEPSI-COLA BOTTLERS OF ST. L., 647 Tower Grove

PREMIUM CAP COMPANY, 2705 Olive PULITZER PUBLISHING CO.
RICHMAN BROTHERS COMPANY
ROBBINS JEWELRY CO., 324 Arcade Bldg.
ROSEN BROKERAGE CO., 1101 Clark Ave.
ST. LOUIS FEDERAL SAVINGS & LOAN ASS'N
ST. LOUIS PUBLIC SERVICE CO., 27th and Park
ST. LOUIS SEED CO., 411 N. Broadway
ST. LOUIS TERMINAL WAREHOUSE CO., 825 Clark
SCOTT'S LIQUOR STORES, 589 Delmar; 812 Pine
SEL-MOR GARMENT CO., 1138 Washington
SUSAN SHANE ORIGINALS, 1113 Washington
SHOSS R. & I. CO., 898 Chestnut
SITE-PANHELL TIRE CO., Vandeventer and Market
SOUTH SIDE NATIONAL BANK, 2406 Gravois
STYLE-RITE, INC., 1531 Washington
A. L. SULLIVAN WEAVING CO., 505 N. 7th
SVENDRUP & PARCEL, Consulting Engineers, 411 Olive THREE SISTERS, INC.
TULPINE'S FUR CO., 2nd Floor, 705 Olive VALLEY DOLOMITE CORP., St. Louis, Mo.
VOGUE BOOT SHOP, 415 Locust
WAGNER ELECTRIC CO., 6400 Plymouth
WALDOFF CORP., 1522 Olive WASH. MACH. FTS. & SALES CO., 4119 Gravois
SIDNEY WEBER, INC., 2218 Locust
WESTERN LIFE INSURANCE CO., Fuller Ave. Bldg.
WESTERN TRUCKING CO., INC., 1535 N. Seventh WOLFF'S, 7th and Olive
WM. WURBACK ELEC. MFG. CO., 4444 Clayton

p Site

by J. Ross
Stockton

Waterfield Is Key-Man in U. C. L. A. Eleven's 'QT' Formation

It'll Be Up to Georgia To Watch Him on Every Play in the Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 23 (AP).—Georgia's Bulldogs are going to see something new in the U. C. L. A. "QT" formation, a hybrid of the "T" as used by the Chicago Bears and emulated extensively by college and high school teams.

Clark Shaughnessy, inaugurating the "QT" formation on the Pacific Coast, directed the Stanford Indians to a championship in 1940 and a Rose Bowl victory over Nebraska. He had the prime requisites, a good quarterback and a passer in Frankie Albert and speed in backfield and line.

In the "T" style the ball carrier must start quickly and the line must charge with the speed of lightning. It's a case of a hole opening for just a fraction of a second and the carrier being there at the very instant and breaking away on his own, or else.

Often-times the spectator sees little or no blocking, but it is going on just the same. The heavy line is better adapted for speed around the ends. The balanced line is better adapted for speed around the ends.

Line Is Not Balanced.

The difference between the "T" as used by other teams and the Bruins' "QT" is that UCLA doesn't use the balanced line. By employing two men on one side of the center and four on the other, they generate considerable power at the strong side. The balanced line is better adapted for speed around the ends.

But just to vary the attack and prevent the opposition from setting up a fixed defense for the "QT," the Bruins sometimes go into the double wingback for reverses or fake reverses.

Georgia coach, Wallace Butts, indicated he was not concerned about the "QT" formation in either guise. Asked if his team had played against the "T," he said every Southeast Conference team used it, but not exclusively. Coach Babe Horrell, his line backfield coach, Bernie Masterson, conceived the "QT."

Waterfield Is Key Man.

The 1942 team has lots of speed and has been playing together two years. Quarterback Bob Waterfield does all kinds of tricks with the ball and the opposing line, charging through, frequently has trouble finding the man who actually has the oval.

Waterfield handles the ball on every play, squatting close behind the center and fading with his back to the line. He has the option of giving the ball to one or two backs who charge forward, or pretending to give it to them, or going still further back or to either side for forward passes or laterals to another back who, running diagonally to right or left before the ball is snapped, requires coverage by one player in the defenders' secondary.

Too Many "Jacks."

ATLANTA, Dec. 23 (AP).—When coach W. A. Alexander of Georgia Tech asks for "Jack" he has to be specific.

No less than five of the 35 Yellow Jackets making the jump to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl clash with Texas bear that first name.

The Tech mentor has two ends named Jack—Capt. Jack Marshall and Jack Helms. And he has two full-backs named Jack, Hancock and Faulkner.

Jack Jordan, a guard, is the fifth player with that given name.

Tennessee Moves Quarters.

EDGEWATER PARK, Miss., Dec. 23 (AP).—Tennessee today moves into its Gulf Coast training center here, only a few miles along the beach from its Sugar Bowl rival, Tulsa, now working out at Bay St. Louis.

The Vols, 39 strong, went through their last practice on the home soil of Knoxville yesterday, boarded a train and headed here after a brief stop in Birmingham.

The boys won't see New Orleans until the morning of the game.

Coach John Barnhill planned his first practice session here tomorrow morning.

Will Walk to Practice.

DALLAS, Dec. 23 (AP).—Mr. Eastman, note: The Cotton Bowl strain on public transportation facilities will be so light it won't be noticed.

Even the Georgia Tech and

WRAY'S COLUMN

Young America Grooms All-America.

At the right you'll find Young America at its favorite pastime of hero worship. . . . That's Frankie Sinkwich, No. 1 vote as the "outstanding football player of the year" and a member of the Georgia University Rose Bowl team, receiving the ovation at Pasadena.

You can't blame the kids. . . . Frankie to them represents the last word in gridiron prowess. . . . Didn't scores of experts vote him the very best player in the country? . . . And didn't he almost single-handed pull Georgia out of the hole time and again?

Well, like the kids, we'll fall for Frankie. . . . But you can't help wondering now and then, if among the 30,000 players named in the college rosters of the country, one or more couldn't carry on just as well as Frankie did.

On the grid teams of the United States there are so many great players that to select an All-America ELEVEN seems a crying injustice to the other 19,989 grid gladiators. . . . Naming the No. 1 hero of the country becomes something that neither yards gained nor passes completed seem wholly to justify.

Fact is, it always has seemed to this writer that to name a single man as the greatest player of the country was sheer audacity on the part of the guesser. . . . And that half a dozen All-America teams might be chosen, any one of which could dispute any of the No. 1 claims of any other.

But since the newspaper and radio broadcasts mold the minds of the masses with their conclusions, Young America follows in their trail, mopping up via the autograph route.

And that's all right because here worshipping is worth while. . . . It's an inspiration to the young fellow to go and do like all, that's what makes this land of freedom tick.

FRANKIE SINKWICH, "gridiron player of the year" and a member of the Georgia University Rose Bowl team, signs autographs for a group of young Pasadena admirers, on the Georgians' arrival at Pasadena, Cal.

Pick the best and follow his example. . . . You can't lose there.

Back to S. A. T. C. Football Teams?

COLLEGIATE football prospects for 1943 are about as clear as the Big Muddy after a June rise. . . . Schedule commitments have been made. . . . But the old eligibility restrictions seem to have been swept away.

The Big Six and other major conferences now have lifted the freshman ban. . . . Next fall some 250,000 service men will be sent to the universities of the country under the decision of the War Manpower Commission. . . . That will knock the first-year rule galley west.

Since all rules that formerly limited eligibility may have to be abandoned, a condition approximating that of 1918 may return. . . . Teams than had an S. A. T. C. (Student Army Training Corps) status, not varsity.

And that may make for some better football in these parts. . . . One of the best elevens turned out in the history of Washington University was Coach Dick Rutherford's S. A. T. C. team of 1918. . . . That's the eleven which rolled the powerful Nebraska outfit something like 20 to 7. . . . On it were such famous players as Eber Simpson of Wisconsin, Bill Feuerborn of Northwestern and Joe Evans, who played with the Cleveland baseball team.

The 1943 service undergraduates may save the day from the standpoint of keeping up playing power. . . . What the status of the teams will be declared is something that remains to be acted upon.

There may be a customer shortage in Florida, but the folding money is there in quantity. . . . With a trifle over half the attendance at opening day last year, Tropical Park's inaugural this year saw almost as much money go through the mutuels as last year.

The average bettor at the Coral Gables track Monday wagered $46. . . . The year before it was $23. . . . The coupon clippers must be down there in force.

have run out in the first half; the four-inch margin by which Wisconsin missed a touchdown against Iowa; Whirlaway's walkover to pick up $10,000 in the Pimlico Special; and Red Ruffing getting knocked out of the box in the world series after almost getting a no-hitter.

Pittsburgh Ties for Hockey League Lead

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23 (AP).—Christmas already has arrived for many Pittsburgh hockey fans—for the hornets of the American Hockey League tied the Buffalo Bisons for first place in the western division of the circuit last night by defeating the Hershey Bears, 5-4.

It was a rough and tumble game in which 16 penalties were meted out and most of the scoring was confined to the first and last periods.

Next to this performance the writers, with football fresh in their minds, recalled best the various backs who caught their own passes at some time or another during the season. Bruce Smith of Great Lakes tossed one against Notre Dame and caught it on a ricochet for a 12-yard pass. Ray Evans of Kansas was another who performed a similar stunt.

Just to refresh your memory of some of the year's other wacky do-dos—here are some of the incidents that drew chuckles and votes from the scribers:

The Louisville fight that didn't come off: Conn's breaking his hand in a kitchen fight with his father-in-law; Minnesota's victory over Michigan on a field goal drop-kicked after time should have run out in the first half; the four-inch margin by which Wisconsin missed a touchdown against Iowa; Whirlaway's walkover to pick up $10,000 in the Pimlico Special; and Red Ruffing getting knocked out of the box in the world series after almost getting a no-hitter.

Next to this performance the writers, with football fresh in their minds, recalled best the various backs who caught their own passes at some time or another during the season. Bruce Smith of Great Lakes tossed one against Notre Dame and caught it on a ricochet for a 12-yard pass. Ray Evans of Kansas was another who performed a similar stunt.

Just to refresh your memory of some of the year's other wacky do-dos—here are some of the incidents that drew chuckles and votes from the scribers:

The Louisville fight that didn't come off: Conn's breaking his hand in a kitchen fight with his father-in-law; Minnesota's victory over Michigan on a field goal drop-kicked after time should have run out in the first half; the four-inch margin by which Wisconsin missed a touchdown against Iowa; Whirlaway's walkover to pick up $10,000 in the Pimlico Special; and Red Ruffing getting knocked out of the box in the world series after almost getting a no-hitter.

Next to this performance the writers, with football fresh in their minds, recalled best the various backs who caught their own passes at some time or another during the season. Bruce Smith of Great Lakes tossed one against Notre Dame and caught it on a ricochet for a 12-yard pass. Ray Evans of Kansas was another who performed a similar stunt.

Just to refresh your memory of some of the year's other wacky do-dos—here are some of the incidents that drew chuckles and votes from the scribers:

The Louisville fight that didn't come off: Conn's breaking his hand in a kitchen fight with his father-in-law; Minnesota's victory over Michigan on a field goal drop-kicked after time should have run out in the first half; the four-inch margin by which Wisconsin missed a touchdown against Iowa; Whirlaway's walkover to pick up $10,000 in the Pimlico Special; and Red Ruffing getting knocked out of the box in the world series after almost getting a no-hitter.

Next to this performance the writers, with football fresh in their minds, recalled best the various backs who caught their own passes at some time or another during the season. Bruce Smith of Great Lakes tossed one against Notre Dame and caught it on a ricochet for a 12-yard pass. Ray Evans of Kansas was another who performed a similar stunt.

Just to refresh your memory of some of the year's other wacky do-dos—here are some of the incidents that drew chuckles and votes from the scribers:

The Louisville fight that didn't come off: Conn's breaking his hand in a kitchen fight with his father-in-law; Minnesota's victory over Michigan on a field goal drop-kicked after time should have run out in the first half; the four-inch margin by which Wisconsin missed a touchdown against Iowa; Whirlaway's walkover to pick up $10,000 in the Pimlico Special; and Red Ruffing getting knocked out of the box in the world series after almost getting a no-hitter.

High Rollers

SINGLE. THREE.

REGINA ALLEYS.
Women's League.

B. Beverly 305. R. Kirkwood 537.
KIDDELL ALLEYS.
Baylor School Mothers Circle.

M. Novotny 188. A. Peterson 494.
W. A. & S. REGISTRATION.

A. Bowers 245. N. L. Lasker 580.
M. Schulte 180. E. Eckkamp 578.

FEUERBERG'S DREAM.
W. A. & S. League.

H. Feuer 253. J. Gold 580.
W. A. & S. League.

C. Miller 165. C. Miller 455.
M. Ober 122. M. Ober 610.

ARWAY RECREATION.
W. A. & S. League.

J. Camp 215. M. Walsh 593.
W. A. & S. League.

ROGERS RECREATION.
C. Miller's League.

M. Rogers 215. E. Westling 516.
W. A. & S. League.

F. Rogers 215. E. Westling 516.
W. A. & S. League.

B. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

M. Trein 185. D. Owen 451.
W. A. & S. League.

Christoforidis Wins From Bolden in Elimination Go; Costantino Beats Pirrone

CLEVELAND, Dec. 23 (AP).—Matchmaker Larry Atkins' tournament to crown a light heavyweight "duration champ" was narrowed to three competitors today.

Anton Christoforidis, spotting his adversary six pounds at 165, won a 10-round decision over dusky Nate Bolden from Chicago before a crowd of 4854 fans who paid $12,615.50 to watch the tame tournament inaugural at the Arena last night.

Only some fast and furious leather allying in the last two rounds gave the fans any excitement. Both boxed cautiously, looking for an opening that never developed and, meanwhile, delivering head jabs and engaging in close-fighting, there were no knockdowns or heavy assaults.

Christo, former light-heavyweight champion who drew with Bolden at Chicago last August, got the nod from Referee Jackie Davis and both judges. The judges gave the Cleveland five rounds while the referee was generous enough to see him winning seven.

The Greek made the most of the fighting while Bolden gained his points in the early rounds. The Chicagoan, was the aggressor in the best stanzas—the ninth and tenth—but Christo tied up each assault and then scored in the clinches.

For the next round of the tournament, Negroes Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland and Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati have been tentatively matched in a Jan. 7 meeting. Charles declined Christo early this year and the National Boxing Association rated the Cincinnati the logical contender for the championship of Gus Lesnevich, now in the Coast Guard.

The crowd-pleaser on last night's card was the eight-round semifinal between Lulu Costantino, highly regarded New York featherweight, and Joey Pirrone, Cleveland lightweight.

Pirrone, who has more slugging ability than boxing knowledge, sent Costantino to the canvas for a count of seven in the opening round and again floored the New Yorker for no count in the seventh. He still lost the decision to the ring-wise Costantino, who worked out on the Cleveland's face and mid-section all evening. Pirrone's face was blood-stained and his left eye almost closed when he left the ring. Pirrone weighed 134 and Costantino 129.

Six Teams to Play In Madison Tourney.

Six East Side teams will compete for the championship in the third annual Madison High School basketball tournament on the Madison floor next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Madison won the two previous events, but Livingston is favored to take this year's competition.

The schedule: Monday—7:30, Dupre vs. Central Catholic of East River; 8:30, Madison vs. Cathedral High of Belleville. Tuesday—8:30, Yonkers vs. winner of game one; 9:30, Livingston vs. winner of game two. Wednesday—7:30, consolation; 8:30, title final.

TRY THIS $2,000,000 WHISKEY SOUR!

Here's the recipe below! We call it the $2,000,000 "dream of a drink" because that's what Fleischmann invested in grain, skill and research before we released our golden bottle of this rich, luscious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have it in so smooth and delicious.

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND THEN DO THIS!

1. Squeeze 1/2 oz. of lemon juice into a 6-oz. "whiskey sour" glass!

2. Add 1 teaspoonful of sugar, and 1 1/2 oz. of velvety Fleischmann's Bond!

3. Then shake with ice, pour, and garnish with fresh fruit (if you like)! H-m-m-m!

100 PROOF FLEISCHMANN'S BOND

Bottled in Bond Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey—100 Proof. This whiskey is five years old. The Fleischmann Distilling Corporation, Owensboro, Kentucky. Copyright, 1942.

MAN WANTED—Who Can Make Good in a Business of His Own

That is the call behind many of the Business For Sale Advertisements printed in the Want Ad pages of the Post-Dispatch. These For Sale ads have increased in number because many men who own their business are being called to the service or to take up special work for which they had been trained. Be sure to read these Business For Sale Ads in the Post-Dispatch if you are interested.

BUSINESS BUYERS AND SELLERS MEET IN THE POST-DISPATCH WANT AD COLUMNS!

WANT A THRILL? make a date with model smoking tobacco

Merry Christmas! Happy New Year!

Timely Way to Split A "QUALITY QUART"

Griesedieck Bros. GENUINE LIGHT LAGER BEER No Finer Beer in All the World!

GRIESDIECK BROS. BREWERY CO. • ST. LOUIS, MO.

IN YOUR GIFT . . . or in Your Holiday Drinks . . . IT'S THE QUALITY THAT COUNTS

Westridge 100-PROOF KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON BOTTLED IN BOND WHISKEY

DISTRIBUTED BY DEGENER & BECKER CO. 129 N. BROADWAY ST. ST. LOUIS, MO. 4482

Papa Chases Son.

WANE, Ill., Dec. 23 (AP).—Schmidt watched his son play basketball for the High School in a recent game against Galesburg. In fact, he watched him so closely that he finally was waved out of the game for too many personal fouls. Schmidt was the referee.

PROPOSAL TO TRIM EXECUTIVE POWER ON LABOR ISSUES

Plan Calls for Suspension of 40-Hour Week as Standard and Replacement of WLB.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—A program for revision of Federal labor laws, including suspension of the 40-hour provision as a standard work week, was reported today to have been drafted tentatively for presentation to Congress early next year.

In its present form the plan would strip the administration of power to deal independently with labor-management problems.

That authority would be turned over to a new War Labor Board, created by Congress but restricted by law from laying down any orders and assuming any powers not specifically delegated by Congress.

As outlined the legislation would:

1. Suspend the premium pay provided in the war and hours law, although permitting overtime pay for work in excess of 40 hours with the specification that it be paid for in war bonds.

2. Outlaw strikes in war industries.

3. Prevent closed shops and maintenance of membership clauses in labor contracts in industries handling Government work.

4. Amend the Corrupt Practices Act so as to bar labor unions from making contributions to political campaigns.

5. Set up the new War Labor Board, its membership to be composed of representatives of the CIO, the AFL, the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the War Relocation Authority.

6. Revoke the Hobbins bill, which would subject labor unions to prosecution under the Federal anti-trust and anti-racketeering laws.

Proponents of the legislation are discussing the best strategy for overcoming parliamentary difficulties.

In a move to sidestep the House Labor Committee, which in the past has pigeonholed "restrictive" labor legislation, the maneuvering may start in the Judiciary Committee with introduction of the Hobbins bill.

The Congressman who disclosed the plans emphasized that its advocates must proceed cautiously to avoid disruption of war production. He said, also, that the present general wage scale must be maintained in order to avoid disruption of the nation's economic balance.

OLDEST UTILITY HOLDING CO. IN U. S. VOTES TO DISSOLVE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23 (AP).—The oldest United States utility holding company, United Gas Improvement Co., in effect voted itself out of existence yesterday.

The board of directors of the 60-year-old firm approved a plan of dissolution under the Public Utility Holding Company Act, and voted to submit the plan to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The plan in subject to the approval of a majority of the outstanding shares of common stock and of regulatory bodies, including the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission.

William W. Bodine, president, said the plan called for distribution of major investments and about $30,000,000 in cash to preferred and common stockholders.

He said the plan would bring about "a substantial reduction in taxes and other expenses."

Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1. Parcel of ground.
2. Fellow traveler.
3. Deface.
4. Bound.
5. Thru the cross the Norwegians.
6. Black bird.
7. Blunder.
8. One of the.
9. Weight.
10. Color.
11. Antipodal spot.
12. Hinted.
13. River bend.
14. Pagan god.
15. Fold or circle.
16. Broad street.
17. Deputy.
18. Down.
19. Sluggish.
20. Associate of Aaron.
21. New and striking articles.
22. Collection of facts.
23. Fruit stone.
24. Go quickly.
25. Belligerents.
26. Writings.
27. Resound.
28. At home.
29. Cover the inside again.
30. Notion.
31. Witticism.
32. Indian mulberry.
33. Fundamental.
34. Goshawk or falcon.
35. County in Colorado.
36. Airplane company.
37. Lack of confidence in one's self.
38. One who bows first on a team.
39. Bright star.
40. In a constellation.
41. You and I.
42. Puffer.
43. Heart.
44. Conjunction.
45. Conjunction.
46. Other.
47. Diver.
48. Lotter.
49. Half beverage.
50. Put on.

DOWN
1. Parcel of ground.
2. Fellow traveler.
3. Deface.
4. Bound.
5. Thru the cross the Norwegians.
6. Black bird.
7. Blunder.
8. One of the.
9. Weight.
10. Color.
11. Antipodal spot.
12. Hinted.
13. River bend.
14. Pagan god.
15. Fold or circle.
16. Broad street.
17. Deputy.
18. Down.
19. Sluggish.
20. Associate of Aaron.
21. New and striking articles.
22. Collection of facts.
23. Fruit stone.
24. Go quickly.
25. Belligerents.
26. Writings.
27. Resound.
28. At home.
29. Cover the inside again.
30. Notion.
31. Witticism.
32. Indian mulberry.
33. Fundamental.
34. Goshawk or falcon.
35. County in Colorado.
36. Airplane company.
37. Lack of confidence in one's self.
38. One who bows first on a team.
39. Bright star.
40. In a constellation.
41. You and I.
42. Puffer.
43. Heart.
44. Conjunction.
45. Conjunction.
46. Other.
47. Diver.
48. Lotter.
49. Half beverage.
50. Put on.

To Head Exchange IRREGULAR COURSE IS FOLLOWED BY STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Specialized strength continued in today's stock market although many leaders slipped into minus territory after a forenoon recovery shift failed to follow through.

It was a duplication of numerous pre-Christmas sessions when commitments usually are trimmed for the holiday which, this year, some Wall Streeters planned to extend from Thursday to Monday.

Tax selling was stressed by large blocks of low and medium-priced issues at the start and, while slow intervals were plentiful, transfers for the full proceedings were 924,728.

Assorted stocks were aided by actual and prospective earnings. Others moved up on short covering. Several peace-related issues seemed heightened by the persistent optimistic war news.

Gains of fractions to a point or so predominated in the morning. These were reduced or eliminated in the majority of cases after midday when irregularity ruled in the final hour.

Special Stock Offering.
Helpful to sentiment was the quick distribution of a special offering of 23,292 shares of Twentieth Century-Fox at 14 1/2.

Stocks touching news for the year or longer included Firestone Tire, United States Rubber, Standard Oil (N. J.), Texas Co. and Chrysler. Anaconda Wire & Cable, which weakened Monday retrieved a portion of its loss.

Resistance was displayed by Bethlehem, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, Youngstown Sheet, American Can, Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, United States Gypsum and International Harvester.

United Gas Improvement reached its best level for 1942 in reflection of company directors approving a liquidating plan wherein large assets would be divided among holders of both the preferred and common.

In the falling class were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, United States Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Woolworth, Kennecott and Westinghouse.

The 800 issues traded today, 287 were higher, 340 lower and 263 unchanged. Nine new issues were introduced.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

The Federal Reserve Board showed that department store collections continued to decline. Retail sales were the best since 1927 when they peaked at $10.9 billion.

Major internal revenue receipts in the month were: Income taxes (individual and corporation), $109,459,329, a gain of $51,647,651 over last year; capital stock, $185,444,223, a rise of $109,841,809; employment taxes, $183,199,839, an increase of $37,945,792.

For the first five months of the 1943 fiscal year, the bureau said, internal revenue receipts increased more than two billion dollars compared with those in the corresponding 1942 period. The July 1-Nov. 30 receipts were $5,498,425,251, against $3,153,409,138 for the corresponding period last year.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Today's closing prices on a selected list of stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange will be found in the following table.

Security	Close	Security	Close
Air Reduction	14 1/2	Continental	14 1/2
Alcoa	14 1/2	Coca-Cola	14 1/2
Am. Air	14 1/2	Gen. Motors	14 1/2
Am. Can.	14 1/2	IBM	14 1/2
Am. Loco.	14 1/2	Johnson & Johnson	14 1/2
Am. Sugar	14 1/2	Kodak	14 1/2
Am. T. & E.	14 1/2	Lockheed	14 1/2
Am. Viscose	14 1/2	Marshall Field	14 1/2
Armstrong	14 1/2	McGraw-Hill	14 1/2
AT&T	14 1/2	National City	14 1/2
Bell	14 1/2	NYNEX	14 1/2
Boeing	14 1/2	Rockefeller	14 1/2
Case	14 1/2	Standard Oil	14 1/2
Chrysler	14 1/2	Union Carbide	14 1/2
Colgate	14 1/2	Woolworth	14 1/2
Coca-Cola	14 1/2	Yale	14 1/2
Consolidated	14 1/2
Cummins	14 1/2
DuPont	14 1/2
Eastman	14 1/2
Exxon	14 1/2
Firestone	14 1/2
General	14 1/2
Goodyear	14 1/2
IBM	14 1/2
Johnson & Johnson	14 1/2
Kodak	14 1/2
Lockheed	14 1/2
Marshall Field	14 1/2
McGraw-Hill	14 1/2
National City	14 1/2
NYNEX	14 1/2
Rockefeller	14 1/2
Standard Oil	14 1/2
Union Carbide	14 1/2
Woolworth	14 1/2
Yale	14 1/2

ST. LOUIS STOCKS

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Dec. 23 (AP).—After being unchanged to higher in the morning the market was unchanged to lower in afternoon period.

Dividends, Sales, High, Low, Close, Change.

Dividends	Sales	High	Low	Close	Change
Am. Air	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Can.	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Loco.	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Sugar	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. T. & E.	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Viscose	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Armstrong	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
AT&T	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Bell	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Boeing	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Case	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Chrysler	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Colgate	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Coca-Cola	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Consolidated	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Cummins	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
DuPont	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Eastman	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Exxon	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Firestone	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
General	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Goodyear	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
IBM	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Johnson & Johnson	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Kodak	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Lockheed	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Marshall Field	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
McGraw-Hill	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
National City	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
NYNEX	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Rockefeller	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Standard Oil	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Union Carbide	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Woolworth	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Yale	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Dec. 23 (AP).—After being unchanged to higher in the morning the market was unchanged to lower in afternoon period.

Dividends, Sales, High, Low, Close, Change.

Dividends	Sales	High	Low	Close	Change
Am. Air	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Can.	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Loco.	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Sugar	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. T. & E.	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Am. Viscose	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Armstrong	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
AT&T	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Bell	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Boeing	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Case	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Chrysler	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Colgate	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Coca-Cola	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Consolidated	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Cummins	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
DuPont	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Eastman	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Exxon	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Firestone	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
General	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Goodyear	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
IBM	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Johnson & Johnson	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Kodak	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Lockheed	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Marshall Field	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
McGraw-Hill	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
National City	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
NYNEX	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Rockefeller	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Standard Oil	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Union Carbide	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Woolworth	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0
Yale	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	14 1/2	0

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Dec. 23 (AP).—After being unchanged to higher in the morning the market was unchanged to lower in afternoon period.

Dividends

ave More 7

Save More Than One-Third the Cost — Order Your Want Ad for 7 Days — Cancel When You Get Results

When You Get

SMALL LOAN COMPANIES

DAY for War

SH IN NEW

$25 for 30 Days C

Frequently a loan is the those extra cash demands goes into war production.
because you are on a new realize that thousands of into war production enjoy a [illegible]

R WORK EMPLOYED MEN A in Your Name Only CHARGE ACCOUNTS - Monthly Pay
IN SERVICE - OPEN
Embassador Bldg, 7th & Locust
ul Brown Bldg, 818 Olive St
ssouri Theater Bldg, 634 N. G anchester Ave., Maplewood
ilba Theater Bldg, 3608 S. G
Balances: Loans made of $100, or less.

LOANS WHILE

loan you need
Monthly payment here
6 payments	9 payments	12 payments
$ 9.08	$ 6.27
13.62	9.41	$ 7.31
18.15	12.55	9.75
27.23	18.62	14.63
36.31	25.09	19.50
54.46	37.64	29.25

Building, Third Floor

Save time at something and we can your loan was made on full No endorser loan service Payments in Household's on unpaid balance the lawful $100 or less.

SIGNATURE LOANS ³/₁ 12%
water is our security.

LOANS TO WOMEN ¹/₂ 12%
rice, store or factory can oblige.
signature in our Business.
Open Tuesday evenings until 8:30

AUTO LOANS ¹/₂ 12%
your title with you. Loan made

UAY
5899 E. Walton Ave.
(N. E. Cor. Walnut
3600 W. Florida
(Cor. Grand and CAN, INC. 3620 Washington (Near 16
TUESDAYS Until 8:30 P aid Balances—2 1/4 % $100 to $300

Phone Me for Appointment Convenience
Open 9 to 6 Week Days
Open Mondays Until 527 Paul Brown Bldg.
Phone CHestnut

LIMITED
assware, figur-0516.
words, china,
E. GA. 6183.
FOR SALE
air, all makes.
PR. 0225.
WANTED
OFFICE FURNITURE and Parke-

$5 T Personal loss women or SIGNAT
Strictly confidential short notice. Court
ASSOCIATES
406 Chemical Bldg.
LO
MO FOR

hold. Call us electric rehold. Call us
BUYERS
GUNN
mixture, rugs.
Q. 7470
ing, utensils
V. 9414
nature, dishes
FURNITURE
O. 1897
s; cash
C. 5394
6641 SUNDY
A. 5844
rugs, washing cash offer.
5121 Delmar.

See household
NE 3574
SAS PAPER,
glassware,
china tools.
Call us and condition and cash price
PO BOX
ERS - Wtd.
3551.
ERS Wtd.-
vacuum fe
5628.
3515.
3540. vacuum clean-

WAR WORKERS

AND OTHER EMPLOYED MEN AND WOMEN

$ to *$300 On Your Name Only- Money in 1 Day

LET US PAY YOUR CHARGE ACCOUNTS - Monthly Payments to Fit Your Income

SPECIAL LOAN SERVICE - OPEN UNTIL 9 P. M.

EVERY 1105 Ambassador Bldg. 7th & Locust St. GARfield 1070

TUESDAY 343 Paul Brown Bldg. 818 Olive Street GARfield 5383

EVERY 322 Missouri Theater Bldg. 634 N. Grand, FRANKlin 2323

TUESDAY 7166 Manchester Ave., Maplewood . . . HILLand 8500

EVERY FRIDAY 206 Melba Theater Bldg. 3608 S. Grand, PROspect 3334

Monthly Charge on Unpaid Balances: Loans made of $100, or less, 8% above to $300. 24%

Public Loan Corporation

LOANS

WHILE YOU WAIT

Find here the cash loan you need

	3	4	6	9	12
	Months	Months	Months	Months	Months
$ 25	$ 8.75	$ 6.65
50	17.51	13.29	$ 9.08	$ 6.27
75	26.26	19.94	13.62	9.41	$ 7.31
100	35.01	26.58	18.15	12.55	9.75
150	52.52	39.87	27.23	18.82	14.62
200	70.03	53.16	36.31	25.09	19.50
300	105.04	79.75	54.46	37.64	29.25

Save time at Household. Just bring something to identify yourself and we can probably complete your loan while you wait. Special loans made on furniture, car or note. No endorsers needed. Special salary loan service for employed women. Payments in table include charges at Household's rate of 24% per month on unpaid balance. This is less than the lawful maximum on loans of $100 or less.

ETH-LEVIN: Arcade Building, Third Floor Phone: GARfield 2630

Phone Me for Appointment at Your Convenience
Open 9 to 6 Week Days Except Saturday.
Open Mondays Until 8 P. M.
527 Paul Brown Building
Phone CHestnut 6133

MISS THOMAS Manager

ANTIQUES WANTED
FIGURES—Old china, glassware, figures, miscellaneous, etc. RO. 0516.
CUTLS Wld.—Buttosa, swords, china, glass, Knolly's, 612 Pine. CA. 1183.

SEWING MACHINES FOR SALE
CHINES—Best; repair all makes.
5089 Delmar. RO. 0225.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS WANTED
DON'T SACRIFICE
OUR USED FURNITURE
We pay top prices paid for used beds, stoves, washing machines, electric ranges and entire household. Call us at home. Phone CA. 7549.
KNES FURNITURE BUYERS
RO. 9376 CALL GUNN
We pay a price paid for furniture, rugs, stoves.

ALL GA. 6104, GO. 7470
linens, rugs, dishes, bedding, utensils.

ALL HORAN, EV. 9414
call high prices for furniture, dishes.

P CASH PRICES FOR FURNITURE
PROSSER'S RO. 1897

UNIFORM Wtd.—All kinds: cash
OUND CITY CH. 5394

D PRICES PAID: GA. 6641 Sunday
CASH PRICES PAID: 6644, 5644

RINDS OF FURNITURE, rugs, washing machines, Sterling 1649.

DELMAR FURN. MAR. 5121 Delmar.

$5 TO $25
Personal loans to employed women or men on your SIGNATURE ONLY
strictly confidential. Loans made on short notice. Courteous service.
ASSOCIATED FINANCE CO. 721 Olive 406 Chemical

LOANS
MONEY FOR TAXES
Or Any Worth While Purpose
PROMPT LOW COST
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Installment Loan Dept.—CE. 3500

Mercantile-Commerce
BANK AND TRUST CO.
LOCUS EIGHTH-ST.
Loans—$25 to $1000 or more
Lower Rates—Immediate Service
METROPOLITAN
Loan and Investment Co.
722 CHESTNUT ST. Chestnut 4240
QUICK MONEY FOR EMPLOYED PEOPLE
ON YOUR SIGNATURE—NO COLLATERAL
CONFIDENTIAL 613 LOCUST ST.
6006

FOR QUICK LOAN service call at 303 N. Sixth, room 511. From 35-525 on your signature only—confidential

OOD company to sell your household goods, large or small lots. NE 3314
RD. NO. 5856 If you have gas ranges, electric stoves, furniture, glassware, mirrors, rugs, tools, fireplace tools, etc. PAID for used furniture. Call us at Rt. 1, Roseville 5330.
RANGE—Must be good condition. 1448.
NITRIDE Wld.—Used; good chab price. Rt. 9133
Furniture or what have you? No cash on hand. Franklin 999.
FURNITURE—ROUSEN—Wld. 5651. High prices. JE. 5651.
VACUUM CLEANERS Wld.—8942.
BUY your old washer or vacuum re- pair and condition. PR. 8925.
R. BUY OLD FEATHER BEDS and pillows. CE. 8544.
BUY old washers and vacuum clean- 10. 7155.

MRS. W. S. STINTON GETS DIVORCE AND SETTLEMENT

Mrs. Caroline Stinton obtained a divorce on the ground of general indignities in Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin's court today, from William S. Stinton, sales manager for Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. here. Counsel for both parties stipulated there had been an agreement on a property settlement, which the Post-Dispatch learned was about $3000 paid to Mrs. Stinton. Stinton's original petition for a divorce and Mrs. Stinton's cross-bill were withdrawn today and she received the divorce on an amended cross-bill. She testified that he was "mean, selfish and moody" and would not speak to her for periods of 10 to 15 days. They were married June 22, 1940, and separated last May 13, Stinton, who has been married three times, lives at the Cassworth Hotel. Mrs. Stinton has been residing in Chicago since the separation.

SUES FOR $25,000 FOR GAS EXPLOSION IN RESTAURANT

A suit asking for $25,000 damages for burns and injuries suffered in an explosion at his place of business Dec. 2 was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton today by James Kariotes, proprietor of a restaurant at 26 West Big Bend avenue, Webster Groves. The suit, directed against the St. Louis County Gas Co., alleged negligence on the part of the company was responsible for escaping gas that caused the explosion, which blew out a plate glass window and set fire to the place. Company officials would not comment.

Dies After Fall

CHRISTIAN KEENER CAGLE

'RED' CAGLE DIES; FRIEND SAYS HE TRIPPED ON SUBWAY STAIRS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—The death of Christian Keener (Red) Cagle, brilliant former Army football star, apparently was accidental, police said today.

An autopsy showed Cagle's death earlier today had resulted from a fracture of the skull and a brain hemorrhage. Police said Elwood Ford, a friend, told them he had been in the company of Cagle Saturday night, and that as they started home Cagle tripped and fell down a flight of subway steps. Ford said Cagle was dazed by the fall and rested a few minutes before continuing home.

Cagle, 37 years old, was unanimous choice for All-America half-back in 1928 and 1929.

WALLACH DEFENDS POLICY IN COUNTY LIQUOR SITUATION

Continued From Page One.

Wallach said he had called the attention of grand juries in 1940 and 1941 to the liquor law situation and these juries had made similar reports.

Misdemeanor Trials. Unable to secure grand jury indictments, Wallach said he had proceeded, with the full understanding of the State Liquor Department, to institute misdemeanor charges in the Justice of the Peace Courts, but, as the law requires these charges to be filed in the townships in which the offenses occurred, in practically every case where the defendant demanded a jury trial the jury of his neighbors found for the defendant.

He quoted several communications from State Liquor Supervisor Pierce commending his efforts to enforce the law, and one from Pierce's successor C. Roy Noel, who wrote, in February, 1941, "I am still of the opinion it would be useless to proceed against these violators in the Justice of the Peace Courts in your county."

Padlock Case Reopened. "In view of the increasing difficulties in prosecution," Wallach went on, "the policy was suggested by the Liquor Department to permit evidence to accumulate in the more aggravated cases and proceed by injunction to padlock the taverns."

"This was done in a substantial number of cases. In some the action had the effect of causing the operator merely to close and go out of business. In others the action resulted in a cumbersome, protracted and expensive trial in the Circuit Court without very satisfactory decrees. In one of the most aggravated of such cases the Court contented itself with granting an injunction restraining the defendants from sale of all intoxicating liquors for which they were not licensed by the State and from making such sales at illegal hours."

Wallach said he had conferred repeatedly with the present State Liquor Supervisor, Wayne G. Henderson, and that Henderson had told him he realized that in many instances the evidence produced in hearings by Henderson's department on license revocations would be insufficient for criminal prosecution.

By arrangement between Henderson and Sheriff Arnold Willmann and himself, Wallach said, it has been the policy, since October, 1941, for Henderson or his staff to notify Willmann whenever they found evidence which would support a charge of illegal possession of liquor and this arrangement has resulted in many prosecutions.

Discussed With Donnell. Wallach said he had discussed the liquor situation in the county with Gov. Forrest C. Donnell. The legislative jam at the last session of the Legislature prevented consideration of a bill to change the law for the county, Wallach said, but subsequently he had been told by Attorney General Roy McKittrick that the Governor wanted to assist in getting a liquor law which could be enforced in St. Louis County.

"While this matter could not be placed before the special session," Wallach said, "it has been the intention of the officials most directly concerned to press for remedial legislation and the possible creation of the office of Excise Commissioner for St. Louis County. In my last conference with Mr. Henderson he expressed his views along this line."

"Dr. Donovan (George F. Donovan, foreman of the grand jury) told me he doubted this grand jury would have sufficient time to make a comprehensive study of this situation. I regret that this was true. The grand jury concerned itself strictly with the re-suits in court, without regard to causes or effects."

Notice was served on Wallach today that the grand jury will be filed by the Attorney General Monday in the Supreme Court at Jefferson City.

WALL PAPER QUOTA BOOSTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—The War Production Board today authorized the production of more wall paper.

WPB amended an order issued

Nov. 13 which limited each manufacturer to 50 per cent of the total tonnage used by him in the production of wall paper in the period July 1, 1941, to June 30, 1942. Today's order raises this quota to an industry-wide figure of 60 per cent.

ADVERTISEMENT

PENETRO FOR COLDS MISERIES Relieve muscle aches, sniffles. The cure in the mitten must have. Get stainless Penetro. 26¢, double supply 50¢.

EYEGLASSES

Correct—Moderns Charge Accounts Invited

Erker's 610 OLIVE Gold Opticians 818 N. 4th

PART TWO

HITLER'S D
FOR A VIC LEAD TO

Field of Conquer ever, With Ris
—Spain Most Turkey Always

By I (FOUR

The Chicago Daily News—
T last the time has come the real meaning of victor becomes the vic deeper into the Fuehrer's c
The conquests of Hitler off. If he hadn't made the Hitler would have been we fect today. Certainly, with the Allies would have severe to right now—additional, the has directly ahead for ano

But if we, on our side, mu reminding ourselves that t hardest fighting still lies and that the war isn't over you may also bet very safe Hitler—deep down in his d his bones—already knows t has lost the war. This ne place to go to, you understand est that the former Herr Sc gruber has ever known si look over Germany's destin years ago. Outside his pal the Wilhelmstrasse in Be huge signboard might w erected before New Year's would bear the appropriate
"Wanted—just one more conquest with which to d
the world. Deliver formula diately to—Adolf Hitler."

He Must Do Something.
But there is no formula prospect of another blitzk invasion by Nazi armed which can be sufficiently stunning to dumfound the or to break their paralyzi closing grip. The "ante" o blitzkriegs has gone "way up the risks and the costs are 30 times greater than six m ago and infinitely greater th any time in 1941. In less than years Hitler conquered almos Europe and a very large a Soviet Russia, but now he's bloated, pot-bellied pseudo leon with no place to go—no to go that's a nice, easy, su
place to go to, you understand
It's generally admitted in E and the Middle East (and, p pect, in all Allied cent strategy and analysis) tha ler simply has got to do som and try something before long. Those "fighting fool ties" broke Hitler's nose a lingrad, and are now rubbin
the mud west of Rzhev. Gen gomery's Eighth Army an Adolf on one cheek by c
Rommel deep into Tripo and the Americans slapped the other in Morocco and A
So Hitler's pride and pre as well as the body of the armed forces—have been wounded. How can Hitler ate? What can he do now?

There are two things wh
Nazi high command is alre ing to do. The 200-odd div inside Soviet Russia are b desperately in the effort to down and halt the inspired sians, but with relatively m results in the last three v
Simultaneously, in Tunisia
Nazis are attempting to p
the final phase of the African campaign as long a sible.

Spain a Possibility.
But neither of these prote cover-up efforts of the Ge are anywhere near suffici patch up the awful dent i bridge of Hitler's nose. The Nazi conquest improviser s must pull another conquest his hat, and for the first t seems horribly difficult fo fingers to find anything so they grope around in the b of that rapidly fading Nape headpiece.

German divisions might o
Spain; that's perhaps the fir most plausible move. Ma they'll do that almost any d regardless of the great diffi for railroad transportation
Spain, and the problem of o ing adequate food supplies fo man divisions after they ge —even regardless of all the t
the Spanish people would be to make for Franco and fo Nazi invaders. But the Ge would still have a tremendous ahead of them; the neces besieging Gibraltar, and the risks of attempting to cross
Straits into Spanish Morocco
American and British air ready to smite them from A So if Hitler chooses Spa will be compelled to weak garrison troops in France or draw urgently-needed div from Russia and he will als very sizable air forces—from where. Everything indicates Germany's Luftwaffe plans already spread dangerously t
Hitler could have sent eve more planes down to Libya ber, Rommel would never ha driven out of Egypt at such significant pace. And if H had even a few hundred bo to spare what might have pened to our American when they landed in North A Hitler undoubtedly now good many serious winter sches pounding inside his cr and Germany's waning air st
he certainly one of the wor

Aye, 'tis a bonnie thing!

For more than a century taste-wise folks have put their O. K. on Teacher's Scotch. Trying it will tell you why.

TEACHER'S
Perfection of Blended Scotch Whisky

SOLE U.S. AGENTS: Schieffelin & Co., NEW YORK CITY • IMPORTERS SINCE 1794

BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

The Finest of Candies

There is an appreciation of exclusiveness about Mavrakos Candies that makes them so delightfully welcome as gifts... recognized by giver and recipient alike as the finest of candies.

The GOLD DOT SPECIAL

Three full pounds of Christmas cheer in this extra delicious array of fine dark and milk chocolates with select nut, fruit, chewy and cream centers; fresh cream caramels; English toffee; glace fruits and other fine treats in red and gold ribbon-decorated box.

$2.50
3 FULL POUNDS

BITTERSWEET CHOCOLATES

A select assortment of honey nut nougats; fresh cream caramels; vanilla nut creams; crescents; butter creams and other favorite treats richly coated with our exclusive Bittersweet Chocolate supreme in taste. Pound 90¢

NOVELTIES... Just what you want for the children—for tree or table decorations in our original displays of candy-filled novelties... 10¢ up

* Open Evenings and Sundays *

Mavrakos
Candies

WE SHIP ANYWHERE

ORDER DEPARTMENT • 4709 Delmar • Phone Rosedale 7000

• BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS IN OUR STORES •

SANTA'S NO. 1 CHRISTMAS GIFTS... WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AND BONDS

JUST 8 GOLDEN HOURS REMAIN FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Make the Most of Them!

Tomorrow's holiday crowd of last-minute gift seekers will start a parade at 9 a. m. to "St. Louis' Largest Array of Christmas Gifts" ... a parade that will last till the bugle blows at 5 p. m. Follow the crowd, and you'll find yourself in Famous-Barr Co. Here practically everything you need to make your Christmas complete may be selected from stocks that, though limited in variety by wartime restrictions, are nevertheless the largest in the city. Gifts for everyone ... priced to fit every budget. Recheck your gift lists again ... make sure you haven't forgotten anyone ... and make your selections quickly and efficiently Thursday at Famous-Barr Co.

*Thursday's Purchases
Must Be Carried
IF YOU NEED THEM FOR CHRISTMAS*

The special last-minute Delivery service we have rendered in previous years is not permitted this Christmas under Federal Government Rubber Conservation Regulations issued by the Office of Defense Transportation. Therefore, there will be no deliveries of purchases made on Thursday until after Christmas.

FOR LAST-MINUTE SANTAS... GIVE GIFT CERTIFICATES!

A Gift Certificate handles the problem of gift-giving when you're in doubt. Secure Certificate at any exchange desk for any amount. Then the recipient selects his or her own gift from our vast assortments ... and is certain to be entirely pleased!

Store Hours Thursday  9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

STORE CLOSED ALL DAY FRIDAY... CHRISTMAS

Famous-Barr Co.

Operated by May Dept. Stores Co.

We Give and Redeem Eagle Stamps

PART TWO

HITLER'S DESPERATE NEED FOR A VICTORY LIKELY TO LEAD TO NEW BLITZ SOON

Field of Conquests Now Is Limited, However, With Risks and Costs Much Higher—Spain Most Plausible Selection, With Turkey Always a Temptation.

By LELAND STOWE
(FOURTH OF A SERIES.)

The Chicago Daily News—Post-Dispatch Foreign Service. Copyright, 1942.
T last the time has come in Adolf Schickelgruber's career when the real meaning of Clemenceau's incomparable phrase, "The victor becomes the victim of his conquests," is gnawing ever deeper into the Fuehrer's consciousness.

The conquests of Hitler are beginning to eat his toes and fingers off. If he hadn't made that fatal error of invading Russia, probably Hitler would have been well on the way to having the world at his feet today. Certainly, without Russia's stupendous 18-month fight, the Allies would have several additional years of war to look forward to right now—additional, that is, beyond the very tough job that still lies directly ahead for another 12 or 24 months or so.

But if we, on our side, must keep reminding ourselves that all the hardest fighting still lies ahead and that the war isn't won yet, you may also bet very safely that Hitler—deep down in his detestable bones—already knows that he has lost the war. This new year and this winter will be the blackest that the former Herr Schickelgruber has ever known since he took over Germany's destinies nine years ago. Outside his palace on the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin, huge signboards of light will be erected before New Year's Eve. It would bear the appropriate legend: "Wanted—just one more blitz conquest with which to dumfound the world. Deliver formula immediately to—Adolf Hitler."

He Must Do Something.
But there is no formula and no prospect of another blitzkrieg or invasion by Nazi armed forces which can be sufficiently big or stunning to dumfound the Allies or to break their paralyzing, closing grip. The "ante" on Nazi blitzkriegs has gone "way up. Both the risks and the costs are 10 to 20 times greater than six months ago and infinitely greater than at any time in 1941. In less than three years Hitler conquered almost all of Europe and a very large slice of Soviet Russia, but now he's just a bloated, pot-bellied pseudo-Napoleon with no place to go—no place to go that's a nice, easy, sure-thing place to go, to you, understand.

It's generally admitted in Russia and the Middle East (and, I suspect, in all Allied centers of strategy and analysis) that Hitler simply has got to do something and try something before very long. Those "fighting lost Russia" broke Hitler's nose at Stalingrad, and even rubbing it in the mud west of Rasteb, Gen. Montgomery's Eighth Army smashed Adolf on one cheek by chasing Rommel deep into Tripolitania, and the Americans slapped him on the other in Morocco and Algeria. So Hitler's pride and prestige—as well as the body of the Axis armed forces—have been deeply wounded. How can Hitler retaliate? What can he do now?

There are two things which the Nazi high command is already trying to do. Their 200-odd divisions inside Soviet Russia are attacking desperately in the effort to slow down and halt the inspired Russians, but with relatively meager results in the last three weeks. Simultaneously, in Tunisia, the Nazis are attempting to prolong the final phase of the North African campaign as long as possible.

Spain a Possibility.
But neither of these protective, cover-up efforts of the Germans are anywhere near sufficient to patch up the awful dent in the bridge of Hitler's nose. The great Nazi conquest improviser simply must pull another conquest out of his hat, and for the first time it seems horribly difficult for him to find anything solid as they grope around in the bottom of that rapidly fading Napoleonic headpiece.

German divisions might occupy Spain; that's perhaps the first and most plausible move. Perhaps they'll do that almost any day; regardless of the great difficulties for railroad transportation in Spain, and the problem of obtaining adequate food supplies for German divisions after they get there—even regardless of all the trouble the Spanish people would be bound to make for Franco and for the Nazi invaders. That the Germans would still have a tremendous task ahead of them; the necessity of besieging Gibraltar, and the great risks of attempting to cross the Straits into Spanish Morocco with American and British air forces ready to smite them from Algeria. So if Hitler chooses Spain, he will be compelled to weaken his garrison troops in France or withdraw urgently-needed divisions from Russia and he will also need very sizable air forces—from somewhere. Everything indicates that Germany's Luftwaffe might have already spread dangerously thin. If Hitler could have sent even 400 more planes down to Libya in October, Rommel would never have been driven out of Egypt at such an undignified pace. And if Hitler had had even a few hundred bombers to spare what might have happened to our American troops when they landed in North Africa? Hitler undoubtedly now has a good many serious winter headaches pounding inside his cranium, and Germany's waning air strength is certainly one of the worst. If

Carrier Crew Avoiding Enemy Attack

An American aircraft carrier crew that had been preparing fighter planes for take-offs took to cover or fell flat on the ship's flight deck until an attacking Japanese plane (upper left) had been driven up from straining the deck. The picture is from a Navy film made during battle action in the Southwest Pacific.

Convoy So Big Men Never Saw All of It at Sea

Ships, Moving in Unison, Zigzagged
Constantly—One Torpedo Reported.

by ERNIE PYLE
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(SIXTH OF A SERIES)
WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES
IN ALGERIA.
HAD often wondered in just what sort of formation a big convoy moved, and whether you could see the whole thing all the time or not, and how the escort vessels acted.

Well, ours was a medium big convoy. The day we left England, we counted a certain maximum number of ships. We were never able to count the same number again until we got almost to port. Not because they were out of eye-range, but because they were lined up in rows and you couldn't see those behind other ships. Usually our convoy was wider than it was long, which surprised me.

The convoy seemed to use three or four different geometric patterns. Every little bit the entire formation would change from one pattern to another, like a football team shifting after a huddle. It was fascinating to watch some ships speed up, other drop back, and the new pattern take shape.

Zigzagged Constantly.
In addition the entire convoy, moving in unison, zigzagged constantly. The turns were sudden, and so sharp that the ships would heel over. These zigzags were made at frequent intervals—very frequent when we were in suspicious waters.

British corvettes and warships were ahead and on all sides of us. They didn't do much dashing about, but appeared to keep their positions just as steadily as we did ours.

In the daytime we ran half a mile or so apart, and at night the entire convoy tightened up. At night you could distinguish two or three dark shapes close around us. I do not know whether it was true, but they said we had additional escorts out of sight over the horizon.

So far as we know, there was only one "incident" during the entire trip. We were on the outside of the convoy. The corvette on out beyond us, both signaled that a torpedo had passed just behind us and just ahead of the other transport.

The corvettes dashed around and dropped depth charges. That was all there was to it. Nobody on our ship saw anything.

Continued on Page 4, Column 5.

Interpreting the War News

ROSTOV KEY TO NAZI POSITION IN CAUCASUS

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT
(Copyright, 1942.)

IN considering the possible results of the new Russian offensive on the middle Don, it is necessary to keep a tight rein on the imagination. Undoubtedly the ultimate Russian objective is Rostov and, should the Soviets gain it before the Germans can withdraw from the Caucasus and Stalingrad, the result would be the greatest disaster German arms ever have suffered in the open field.

But the Russians are not in Rostov yet; they are probably more than 100 miles from that city and we must expect that German opposition will begin to grow stiffer now that the effect of surprise is fading. The Germans have a tremendous stake in preventing the Russians from getting into Rostov and they will certainly make every effort to check the progress of the Russian drive.

To do so, they must, of course, throw in additional units of their main reserve. If this reserve already has been called on to furnish additional troops for the occupation of Vichy France and for Africa, and if at any moment it may be called on to supply a garrison for Italy, Sicily and Sardinia, the problems thus presented to the German high command are not easy of solution. They are not made easier by heavy losses already suffered in the Russian campaign and by the fact that at least 20 German and satellite divisions are immobilized between the Don and the Volga. Yet there can be no doubt whatever that the German high command somehow will find the troops to stiffen resistance to the Russian advance. It does not require any crystal ball to make this prophecy. It is necessary only to reflect on the consequences of failing to do so.

Should the Russians smash their way into Rostov now, about 60 German divisions would be hopelessly lost in the Stalingrad sector and in the North Caucasian area, as well as from 20 to 25 divisions of Hungarians, Italians and Rumanians. Sixty divisions represent about one-fifth of the total strength of the German army and these divisions probably include about

U-Boat War To Come

By Paul Schubert
Military and Naval Analyst

AS American and British troops hammer at Bizerte and Tunis, they are the spearhead of an offensive effort that reaches back to the port of Algiers and thence by line of ships out into the Atlantic, where the line divides—one branch goes north to the British Isles, one branch goes west to the United States.

Each bullet fired by our forces at Bizerte and Tunis, each bomb dropped from an aircraft, every jeep on the roads, and every man in our attacking armies, has traveled this road—most of them in ships.

Our ability to carry on the attack, to build up its pressure, to take it further once these positions are won, depends on the movement of those ships.

They are the attack—in its concentrated form. Crowded, loaded, without striking power during this shipping period; it is as helpless as a lion trussed, bound and caged.

Now that the surprise part is over, there is no secret about the fact that we are using this seaborne transport to move the attack to the combat spots. There is no secret about the geography of the movement. Most of the ships must pass through the Strait of Gibraltar.

Here, it ever, is an opportunity for German submarines to strike. This time the hunting ground is well within striking range of U-boat operating bases. No long trans-Atlantic voyage is involved, to tie up a good percentage of the U-boat strength in fruitless cruising to and from station. The submarines put out from harbors on the west coast of France—and at once they are on station covering the northern leg of our sea supply line.

A short run west and south puts them on the trans-Atlantic leg. Our ships may follow secret and varied courses at sea—but the Strait of Gibraltar doesn't change its location, and all courses converge toward that spot.

How U-Boats Strike.
MODERN U-boats hunt in packs—groups of from three to eight or more submarines. They do this to scatter and divert the defensive action of the convoy under attack. With preference they hunt at night, when they can run on the surface using the power of their Diesel engines which give

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

WALTER LIPPMANN TODAY AND TOMORROW THE DARLAN AFFAIR

THERE is much that is not yet known about North Africa. But it is now reasonably clear that the main cause of the anxiety and the moral confusion among the people has been the fact that the State Department appeared to take responsibility for military decisions over which in fact it had no control.

No reasonable person could fail to approve Gen. Eisenhower's decision. It was the right, the necessary, and indeed the only possible decision for him to take. But several days previously the State Department had identified itself with the planning of the operation. This was an error of judgment. For that appeared to give to the Eisenhower-Darlan arrangement a political significance which caused the deepest foreboding here and in the occupied countries. An arrangement made by a general in a theater of war could easily have been understood everywhere: it was the apparent, though in fact unintended and accidental, intrusion of the State Department in the deal—a deal which it did not foresee and did not make but gratuitously seemed to sponsor—that caused the moral confusion and the angry debate.

Hull Misses Cue.
TO this confusion the President addressed himself in his statement of Nov. 17 in which he used his authority both as President and as Commander-in-Chief to define the Eisenhower-Darlan arrangements as military and not as political acts. This was the moment for the State Department to cure the original error and to dissociate itself clearly from the affair.

Continued on Page 4, Column 4.

Political Plan Failed.
THIS unfortunate and ill-timed press interview would have been an error of taste even if the original political plans for North Africa had worked out successfully. But as a matter of fact the political plans failed; it was evident in the first 24 hours that Gen. Giraud, who had been counted on to rally North Africa to our support, was unable to give the French

GENERAL
VAN & STORAGE CO.
Enjoy Freedom From Worry
When Moving or Storing.
Choose the General Way. It Costs no more.
BILMAR at EUCLEID RD. 4300
OVER 30 YEARS SERVICE—PIONEERS IN ALLIED VAN LINES—"THE VAN LINE"

PAY ROLL ACCOUNTING MACHINES
Rebuilt Burroughs, National and Remington Pay Roll Machines, redesigned to meet '43 needs. Immediate delivery of forms and manuals.
No priorities please.
VON SOOSTEN & CO., 804 Pine St., BA. 2343

Freund's, 314 N. 6th STREET
THE GIRL YOU LOVE WANTS A LOVELY DIAMOND FOR A HAPPY "EVER AFTER"

ENGAGEMENT RING $32.50 Pay Weekly
Exceptional value unusual quality and beauty. Fine diamond.

3 DIAMONDS $69.00 Pay Weekly
Mounting of 14K gold. Beautiful diamonds. Amazing value!

EXQUISITE! $150.00
Rare beauty, quality and value combined to make this an outstanding ring.

5 DIAMONDS $98.00
Lovely ring has 2 diamonds on each side of a fiery center diamond.

OPEN NIGHTS 'TIL 9:30 P. M.
OUR 44th YEAR
Freund's
314 N. 6th STREET
THE FRIENDLY STORE
OPEN NIGHTS 'TIL 9:30 P. M.

Buy WORTH WEIL Christmas Gifts
EVERY NIGHT 'TIL CHRISTMAS
9 PM
WEIL 8th & WASHINGTON

For Christmas and the New Year...
Time has branded White Horse best
8 YEARS OLD
WHITE HORSE
No. 1 Pure Malt Scotch Whisky
8 YEARS OLD
BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY 56.8 PROOF. BROWN VINTNER, CO. INC. NEW YORK

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

AND MRS. WALKER, 6416 Cecil avenue, who are visiting in Atlanta, Ga., will be the guests of honor at a series of parties preceding and following the third anniversary of the death of their son, who was killed in action.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. William D. Ellis, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis, will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hill yesterday afternoon, they arrived there.

Later they will visit the home of Mrs. Paul Seydel, 1111 N. 1st St., who frequently visit in St. Louis.

The first week of their stay in St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be the guests of Mrs. Hill at the Hill home.

They arrived there yesterday afternoon.

TORNADO WARNING PLAN TO BE TESTED

MISS BETSY JANE CASEY Who has written notes to tell friends of her engagement to Pvt. Woodrow W. Vance, U. S. A. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Casey, 7225 Northmoor drive.

of Salt Lake City who recently returned from Honolulu with his wife, Capt. Robert M. Casey, U. S. A., both of whom are overseas, and Richard M. Casey, U. S. A., who is at sea. The third sister in the family is Miss Elaine Casey, who lives with her parents at 296 Dismal road.

One of the sisters will be Miss Krull's brother, Paul C. Krull. Her other brother is Private Chris O. Krull Jr., U. S. M. C., who is overseas.

Other guests arriving from out-of-town are Mr. and Mrs. John Peary of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Newman of Hartford, Conn., all former St. Louisans.

Two parties were given Monday for Miss Krull. Mrs. Talbot and Mrs. Lester C. Haackel were hostesses in the afternoon at a luncheon and shower at the Forest Park Hotel and Miss Carolyn Keck, daughter of Fred A. Keck, 3212 Palm street, who gave a bridge party and shower in the evening. Miss Keck will be maid of honor at the wedding.

College Breakfast. THE annual college breakfast which is held during the Christmas holidays will be given this year next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Park Plaza. Attending the breakfast will be alumnae and undergraduates of eight women's colleges—Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Sweet Briar, Vassar, Wellesley, and Williams.

Miss Jean Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Harley Mitchell, 6890 Forsythe boulevard, an alumna of Smith college, will be toastmistress. She will introduce a speaker for each college represented. Mrs. Thomas J. Kelley Jr., 219 Portland terrace, Webster Groves, is general chairman.

Miss Peggyavenport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Davenport, 7020 Kingsbury boulevard, will give an informal party Sunday evening for Miss Martha Howe who will be married next month to Corp. Lawrence Prescott Lord. Several friends of Mrs. John William Howe, 7012 Kingsbury boulevard, mother of the prospective bride, will give a luncheon and shower next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Roy H. Milligan, 7575 Stanford avenue.

One of the guests at the party will be Mrs. Howe's sister, Miss Louise Travolta of Edwardsville, Ill. Miss Howe and Corp. Lord will be married next month in St. Louis or Sioux Falls, S. D., where he is stationed with the Army Air Forces. If Corp. Lord is able to obtain leave, the wedding will take place in St. Louis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Upton Prentiss Lord of Brattleboro, Vt.

Lieut. Com. Louis E. Freimuth of the Naval Reserve, who is stationed at the Naval Hospital at Norman, Ok., will arrive tomorrow to spend the holidays with Mrs. Freimuth and their sons, James and Andrew, of 25 Oakleigh lane.

Miss Casey Engaged. THE engagement of Miss Betsy Jane Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Casey, 7225 Northmoor drive, and Pvt. Woodrow W. Vance, U. S. A., was announced Monday in notes sent by the bride-to-be to close friends.

Miss Casey was graduated from Netherland Hall and attended Webster College. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Gilmore, 1247 Hornsby place, is a graduate of St. Louis University School of Commerce and Finance and is a member of Alpha Sigma Nu, national Jesuit honorary organization. He is stationed in Lincoln, Neb., with a medical detachment of the Air Forces.

THESE IS EET! TRUI BUCK WHOLE, LUMBERJACK STYLE, A "NORTH WOODS" FLAVOR! QUICK...EASY...TRY THEM! JACK FROST DOUBLE EGGE BUCKWHEAT CAKES STAMPS

ST. LOUISAN IS KILLED IN ACTION IN AFRICA

Weather Bureau Will Make Experiment Here, at Kansas City and Wichita, Kan.

An effort to establish a tornado warning system in the St. Louis area will be made before the advent of the next tornado season in March, Edgar L. Van Tassel, liaison officer for the Weather Bureau's regional office in Kansas City, announced yesterday.

The plan is an outgrowth of a thunderstorm warning system the Weather Bureau established to protect ordnance plants. The operators of ordnance plants appealed to the Weather Bureau for a plan whereby they could be notified in advance of thunder and electrical storms. All efforts could be made to minimize the danger of fires and explosions.

Observers to Be Enrolled. Virtually all tornadoes travel from southwest to northeast. The Weather Bureau will attempt to observe the advance of tornadoes south and west of St. Louis, who are familiar with weather phenomena and will serve as the warning system's reporters.

Van Tassel pointed out that in contrast with the devastating speed of the whirling air inside the funnel itself, the advance of tornado across the countryside is slow, seldom exceeding 50 miles an hour. The forward speed of the funnel is such, Van Tassel said, that often a 30-minute warning of the approach of the tornado can be sent to residents in its path.

When the system of reporters is set up, so close together so that their view of the sky overlaps, the Weather Bureau hopes to obtain the aid of telephone and telegraph companies for immediate transmission of reports from observers to the weather office at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

How Plan Works in Theory. Theoretically, Van Tassel said, the system will work as follows: "An observer in Franklin County, 60 miles southwest of St. Louis, sights a cloud formation that excites his suspicion and which he decides is a tornado. He telephones his warning to the airport weather office here, giving briefly the location where he observed what he thinks is a tornado, the direction and the speed in which it appears to be traveling.

"Telephone and telegraph operators in the area will have a selected list of places to notify. This list will represent newspapers, radio stations, public utilities, fire and police departments, public and private buildings, schools and war industries of firms and colleges. "They will receive a uniform message that a tornado is approaching from such a point, and given the time and the number of miles away it is thought to be, along with the warning that tornadoes usually travel in a north-easterly direction."

Warning in Time Planned. Such a warning, the Weather Bureau believes, will give people time to reach safety and industrial plants time to cut off electric power and gas to reduce the possibility of fires and explosions.

Van Tassel conferred with Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey and officials of the Red Cross Disaster Committee to lay preliminary plans for an educational program.

Tornadoes occur usually through the spring, summer and fall. Over a period of 52 years, the Weather Bureau reports 146 tornadoes occur annually with an annual loss of 260 lives and property damage amounting to 13 million dollars. The twirling, whirling, funnel-shaped cloud seldom is destructive Sergt. Woodrow Wilson Vance Had Written Wife of His Pride in Service.

Technical Sergt. Woodrow Wilson Vance was killed in action in the African area Nov. 25, the War Department yesterday notified his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Vance, 3863 Laclede avenue.

Sergt. Vance, 25 years old, enlisted in the Army five years ago. Before that he had been a student at Ranken School of Mechanical Trades. In a letter dated Nov. 18, he told his wife he was "somewhere in action and proud to be alongside my buddies, helping to win this war."

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Martin, 2 years old, and a daughter, Mary, 9 months old.

HENRY M. SCHMIDT ESTATE TO RELATIVES AND CHARITY The will of the late Henry M. Schmidt, retired brass molder, filed in Probate Court today, provided $100 to each of seven St. Louis charitable institutions and directed that $300 be distributed among his five children. The residue is to go to his widow. Schmidt died Dec. 14 at his home, 2813 Blair avenue.

The charities were: St. Vincent German Orphan Asylum, Oblate Sisters of Providence, Mount St. Rose Sanatorium, Little Sisters of the Poor on the North Side, Help of the Holy Soul, Father Dunne's Newsboys' Home and the Community Fund of St. Louis. Three of his children will receive $1500 each. They are Mrs. Mary Wiedemann, Miss Dorothy Schmidt and Bernard Schmidt. Two others, Mrs. Annie Grieml and Mrs. Josephine Woerner, will receive $1800 each. Attorney Henry J. Jacobs, 1000 Olive street, handled the will and no inventory had yet been made.

U.S.O. OFFERS CHRISTMAS CHEER TO MILITARY SERVICE MEN NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP).—Christmas festivities for more than a million service men this year will be held at many centers beginning today, starting a series that will continue through New Year's day. Arrangements have been made in many communities for the service men to be guests for Christmas dinner in private homes.

Fifty units of U. S. O. camp shows will entertain in Army camps and Navy posts on Christmas, and other camp show units outside the country will give special holiday performances for service men.

Senator's Daughter in the Movies. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23 (AP).—Mildred Chandler, 16 years old, daughter of Senator A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, has signed a seven-year contract with Paramount Studios. A Superior Court judge has approved the contract. She was given the test when she came here last September for her sister's wedding. Already she has appeared in one film. The new contract provides a salary ranging from $150 to $1250 a week.

over a path more than a few hundred feet wide.

The Weather Bureau for a time was hesitant about undertaking the tornado warning system because of the public's fear of that type of storm, and the possibility that a warning might cause panic. It was pointed out, however, that people in Europe, after hundreds of years of raid warnings, have acted calmly without panic.

Killed in Action

SERG. WOODROW WILSON VANCE

SERG. WOODROW WILSON VANCE

Tomorrow's Events

Last day for Christmas shopping. Exhibition, City Art Museum, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., 50 prints of fifteenth and sixteenth century Italian masters; exhibition, "Nomad Art" and bronzes from Central Asia; exhibition, "Group Fifteen," paintings and sculpture by local artists; exhibition, "Works by Negro Artists of St. Louis," sponsored by the Urban League of St. Louis; exhibition, print of the month, "Connecticut Winter," lithograph by Ernest Fiene.

Exhibition, Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, Old Courthouse, 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., National Expansion room; Courthouse tour, 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.; museum talk, 12:45 p. m.; riverfront tour, 2:30 p. m.

Exhibition, Monday Club, Webster Groves, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., paintings and water colors, by Fred and Mildred Carpenter.

Exhibition, People's Art Service Center, 2811 Washington boulevard, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., "Negro in Art." Exhibition, Y. M. Y. W. H. A., 10:30 p. m., water colors, by Donald Charpiot.

Exhibition, Missouri Botanical Garden, 2315 Tower Grove avenue, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

Exhibition, Board of Education Greenhouse, 3810 Bow street, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., annual poinsettia show and orchid display. Exhibition, Jewel Box, Forest Park, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., "White Christmas," a winter churchyard setting, pink and red poinsettias and white stevias.

WILLIAM M. BRANDT FUNERAL SATURDAY

Services for Secretary Emeritus of Central Trades Who Died Yesterday.

The funeral of William M. Brandt, secretary emeritus of Central Trades and Labor Union, and a vice-president of the Cigar Makers' International Union, will be held at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Schumacher undertaking chapel, 3018 Meramec street. Cremation at Valhalla Crematory will follow. Mr. Brandt, 74 years old, died last evening at his home, 3631 Chippewa street, of a complication of diseases.

Representative of Central Trades and various constituent unions of the American Federation of Labor will attend the funeral.

A veteran labor organizer, he was known especially in recent years for his activities in protecting local unions against racketeering. He continued this work up to his retirement last January.

He learned the cigar maker's trade as a boy, leaving school at the age of 11 to work as a stripper in a cigar factory at Hagers-town, Md., and to aid in support of the family, in which there were seven other children. The father, David Brandt, was a carpenter.

As an itinerant, he worked in cities from the Atlantic Coast to the Rockies; joined the Knights of Labor, inclusive big-union movement of the mid-eighties, and became a general representative of the Cigar Makers' International, and later a vice-president, which office he continued to hold.

One of his fights in this position was on the so-called trucking system, by which cigar makers had to take part of their pay in cigars which they then had to sell. Another fight was on the tenement factory system and the use of Chinese coolie labor.

Coming to St. Louis to live in the nineties, Mr. Brandt became a Socialist, serving as secretary-organizer of the city and State Socialist party. He was the party nominee, at various times, for Mayor, Governor and United States Senator. In 1917, with other Socialist leaders, he opposed American participation in the World War. He was active in party work until after the 1924 campaign, and published St. Louis Labor, a weekly paper.

He served as a vice-president of Central Trades and became secretary when his friend, the veteran David Kreyling, retired in 1933. Mr. Kreyling died in 1938.

As executive officer of the central body, Mr. Brandt aided parties in inquiries into the activities of persons known to the police in the Hotel Workers' and Bartenders' unions and was placed in charge of the latter union in 1938, after sending a telegram to the head of the Bartenders' international, informing him that the officers of the St. Louis local were in jail.

Refused $5000 Fee. In 1940, he was made co-receiver of the Motion Picture Operators' Union. For his work in this position, a court awarded him a $5000 fee, which he refused to accept. "That is part of my regular job," he said, "helping unions that are in trouble and I wouldn't take the money from those boys." His salary as secretary was increased, about that time, from $60 to $75 a week.

He retired because of illness last Jan. 20 and was made secretary emeritus of Central Trades, with a life pension of $100 a month. He was succeeded by John I. Rollings, who had been secretary-treasurer of Bartenders' Union, Local 102, and reading clerk of Central Trades.

Surviving are Mrs. Brandt, a son, William B. Brandt, and an adopted son, John H. Gotting.

He was succeeded by John I. Rollings, who had been secretary-treasurer of Bartenders' Union, Local 102, and reading clerk of Central Trades.

Surviving are Mrs. Brandt, a son, William B. Brandt, and an adopted son, John H. Gotting.

Dead at 74

MRS. ROOSEVELT SELLS SOLDIER'S POEM TO MAGAZINE

MRS. ROOSEVELT SELLS SOLDIER'S POEM TO MAGAZINE

CAMP ADAIR, Ore., Dec. 23 (AP).—How Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt acted gratuitously as literary agent for Second Lieut. John F. Caughman of Cripple Creek, Colo., now stationed here, was disclosed today.

Some verses which Caughman wrote while a sentinel at Camp Roberts, Cal., last Christmas were sent to Mrs. Roosevelt by another soldier.

Mrs. Roosevelt wrote Caughman: "I wonder if you would let me have them printed? I may, of course, be able to sell them, but aside from that I would like to see them printed in a number of publications because of the last verse which I think the youth of the country will particularly enjoy and applaud."

Caughman assured Mrs. Roosevelt she was free to do as she wished with his poem, adding, "If there should be any compensation, I would like for you to accept payment in defense bonds, and then in turn send the bonds to my mother."

His poem appears in the Christmas issue of the Ladies' Home Journal. The final verse, which so impressed Mrs. Roosevelt: But we must keep faith—my gun and I. We must stand guard in the wind and rain. And we shall pray, yes, hear our prayer, "May the Prince of Peace return again."

A life pension of $100 a month. He was succeeded by John I. Rollings, who had been secretary-treasurer of Bartenders' Union, Local 102, and reading clerk of Central Trades.

Surviving are Mrs. Brandt, a son, William B. Brandt, and an adopted son, John H. Gotting.

He was succeeded by John I. Rollings, who had been secretary-treasurer of Bartenders' Union, Local 102, and reading clerk of Central Trades.

Surviving are Mrs. Brandt, a son, William B. Brandt, and an adopted son, John H. Gotting.

He was succeeded by John I. Rollings, who had been secretary-treasurer of Bartenders' Union, Local 102, and reading clerk of Central Trades.

Surviving are Mrs. Brandt, a son, William B. Brandt, and an adopted son, John H. Gotting.

He was succeeded by John I. Rollings, who had been secretary-treasurer of Bartenders' Union, Local 102, and reading clerk of Central Trades.

Surviving are Mrs. Brandt, a son, William B. Brandt, and an adopted son, John H. Gotting.

FOOD FAT RATIONING IN 1943 PREDICTED

U. S. Bureau Puts It at 48 Pounds a Person Against Expected demand for $7.1.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Civilian rationing of food fats and oils, including butter, margarine and shortenings, at 15 per cent below the demand was forecast today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as a result of increasing needs for the military and lend-lease.

Under rationing, the bureau estimated the supply of fats and oils at 48 pounds a person next year against an average per capita consumption of 51 pounds in the 1940-42 period and an anticipated demand—stemming from additional buying power—of 57.1 pounds in 1943.

On that basis, the bureau said, about 17.5 pounds of butter and margarine a person would be available to meet an expected demand of 20.5 pounds. The demand for shortening and lard was fixed at 28.2 pounds and the supply at 23 pounds. Supplies of fats in other food products, such as bread, cake and canned soups, were calculated at 7.7 pounds a person against a demand of 10.4 pounds.

Coffee and sugar already are rationed and meats and cheese soon will be. Secretary of Agriculture Wickard previously said butter would be added as soon as the necessary plans could be made. Salad dressing may be rationed and milk in metropolitan areas where supplies are running short. The bureau estimated the supply of fats and oils in 1943 would be 14,500,000,000 pounds, about 800,000,000 pounds less than the expected demands from the military, lend-lease and civilians. The shortage was attributed to the curtailment of imports from the Western Pacific and to the exceptional demands.

Production of fats and oils from domestic materials in the 1942 crop year was estimated at 11,700,000,000 pounds compared with 9,600,000,000 last year. The Department of Agriculture has set higher goals for next year.

Carols in State Capitol. JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 23 (AP).—Hundreds of school children, grouped around the three-story rotunda, sang Christmas carols last night in Missouri's State Capitol.

FLAKO PIE CRUST Precision-mixed so that you can be certain before you bake that you'll be proud of the result.

SCRUGGS • VANDERVOORT • BARNEY The Store of the Christmas Spirit

did you forget anyone?

How about the mailman, who always delivers your mail with a smile—despite snow, sleet or rain? How about the friendly cop on the corner? If you've forgotten anyone, you'll be sorry. It's not too late to buy them Christmas gifts.

Purchases bought on Thursday must be carried if they are needed for Christmas.

There will be no deliveries, except for flowers, on Christmas day. If it's necessary to call the adjustment bureau... phone CHestnut 7533 or CHestnut 7534 before 12 noon.

The above restrictions are in keeping with delivery regulations for victory... We'll appreciate your co-operation.

GET READY FOR BUTTER RATIONING!

Make 2-lbs. Delicious Spread Using Only 1-lb. Butter, with KNOX GELATINE... Save 39¢

It's Easy...Here's How: KNOX SPREAD 1 envelope Knox Gelatine 1/4 cup cold water 1 1/4-oz. can evaporated milk 1 lb. butter 1 teaspoonful salt

1. Soften gelatine in 1/4 cup cold water. 2. Dissolve thoroughly over hot water. 3. Cut butter into small pieces and heat over hot water until soft enough to beat. But do not melt the butter. 4. Add dissolved gelatine and salt to the milk. Gradually whip milk into butter with a Dover egg beater or electric mixer until milk does not separate. 5. Add coloring if desired. 6. Pack in dish or container and place in refrigerator until hard. Keep in refrigerator when not in use.

NOTE: Fresh milk may be substituted for the evaporated milk, in which case use a pint of milk (preferably the top half of a quart bottle) and soften the gelatine in one-fourth cup milk taken from that pint. Patent Applied For. FREE! Delicious recipes using Knox Spread in baking and cooking. Write Knox Gelatine, Dept. 36, Johnston, N. Y.

TAKE AGE OUT OF MORTGAGE

Have you one of those "perpetual" mortgages... an old-style straight mortgage that is so hard to pay off because no provision is made for reducing the loan?

Let us tell you about our modern plan of mortgage refinancing. We can take your old-style mortgage and streamline it with a pay-as-you-go feature that will enable you to pay it off in a reasonable time. Come in—Let us tell you more about it. There is no obligation.

GET THIS BOOK Our new book "Recipe for Correct Home Financing" tells you why you get MORE ROOSEVELT "FITTED" Home Loan... can save money when you finance—or refinance—your home. Come in for your copy.

ROOSEVELT FEDERAL SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION OF ST. LOUIS NINTH, NORTH OF LOCUST NORTH SIDE OFFICE—5200 NORTH BRADWAY them about twice the speed of the average convoy. While on the surface they can attack with guns as well as torpedoes. Like wolves, they like to overtake an attacked convoy from behind, slip in for blows at flanks and quarters, then out again swiftly, to dive and get away, only to repeat the process later on.

U-Boat War To Come

Continued From Page One.

For a time these tactics enjoyed striking success.

But they have been countered by powerful antisubmarine forces, ingeniously controlled and using the latest word in ultra-scientific equipment.

The foundation of antisubmarine defense is the convoy system—the grouping of freight or transport ships into batches of anywhere from 20 to 50 ships, under the protection of naval vessels.

The escort of an important convoy now provides for defense against air and surface attack, as well as against U-boat attack. The escort may include a battleship or cruiser, an aircraft carrier, several destroyers. But the workhorse of the antisubmarine team is a special little craft which is called an "escort vessel" and the British call a "corvette"—a ship specifically built for antisubmarine work and little else, equipped with guns and depth charges and listening devices, seaworthy, just fast enough for the job it is supposed to do, a man-of-war wedded to the movement of freighters and tankers.

Defensive Tactics.

CONVOY escort is purely defensive action.

To attack the submarine before it has a chance to carry out its own attack—to detect its presence, and follow its movements between attacks—elaborate systems of air and surface patrol have been created, for the ceaseless day and night scouting of the entire area in which submarines operate.

These patrols work out of harbors on the fringes of the submarine zone—in the new U-boat campaign we will be using Gibraltar and Casablanca and Dakar and Oran, and the airports adjoining those bases.

But the true value of patrol work lies not with the individual ships and aircraft at sea, but with the control system that ties all this activity together by radio.

The "control room," which is the brain of an antisubmarine campaign, is one of the most ingenious and fascinating spots set up for the direction of any branch of our war effort. As a rule, one entire wall is used for a huge map, and on that map is plotted the movement of every ship, every patrol craft, every convoy, every patrol aircraft—and every submarine whose presence is established. The control room has direct radio contact with all ships and aircraft—it can warn convoys away from waters where U-boats are known to be operating, it can order patrol forces to concentrate for attack on U-boats as they appear.

If the Germans are concentrated in the area west of the Strait of Gibraltar, it is to be taken for granted that we have anticipated that move, and have set up anti-U-boat forces to meet the challenge and guard the ship movements that carry our offensive to the new North African theater.

Daring Scout Car Captain Credited With Capturing Von Thoma in Libya

British Master of Hounds Was Killed Day After Spotting Tank in Which German General Was Riding.

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP).—Capt. Grant Singer, who learned about reconnaissance as master of the fox hounds in West England, was credited posthumously today with the capture of the German Gen. Ritter von Thoma soon after the British Eighth Army's decisive breakthrough from El Alamein, Egypt, into the Libyan desert.

Capt. Singer, of the Royal Hussars, was killed in action the day after the General was taken as the result of Singer's daring exploits as a tank-spotter in a British counterpart of an American jeep.

The War Office, in detailing Singer's feat, said that from the start of the Eighth Army's advance he had been far out ahead of the British tanks in a little scout car looking for the enemy. His job was to pick out tank targets and radio their position back to the British.

One day Singer sighted two enemy tanks in front of him but there were no British tanks nearby to engage them. A shell from one tank went through his car before

ing U-boat forces for war against us in the area west of the Strait of Gibraltar, it is to be taken for granted that we have anticipated that move, and have set up anti-U-boat forces to meet the challenge and guard the ship movements that carry our offensive to the new North African theater.

ing U-boat forces for war against us in the area west of the Strait of Gibraltar, it is to be taken for granted that we have anticipated that move, and have set up anti-U-boat forces to meet the challenge and guard the ship movements that carry our offensive to the new North African theater.

ing U-boat forces for war against us in the area west of the Strait of Gibraltar, it is to be taken for granted that we have anticipated that move, and have set up anti-U-boat forces to meet the challenge and guard the ship movements that carry our offensive to the new North African theater.

ing U-boat forces for war against us in the area west of the Strait of Gibraltar, it is to be taken for granted that we have anticipated that move, and have set up anti-U-boat forces to meet the challenge and guard the ship movements that carry our offensive to the new North African theater.

WALTER LIPPMANN TODAY AND TOMORROW

Continued From Page One.

by letting the arrangements with Admiral Darian remain military arrangements by Gen. Eisenhower and his commander-in-chief. For if the State Department appeared to sponsor them they would not be regarded as purely military arrangements and no one then would ever be convinced that they were not political as well.

But instead of saying flatly to all inquiries that the Darian matter was in the hands of the military, the State Department continued to talk about the matter. Moreover, it continued to meddle in the affair, which in principle and in fact was not its affair, by inspiring a number of argumentative and tendentious articles in the press. At the same time other articles began to appear in the press, not inspired by the State Department but from other, as yet untraced, sources, which added to the confusion.

As we drew closer and closer to the conclusion, we acquired a feeling something akin to family love for our team of ships. We had come so far together, had so perfectly consummated our endless shifting of formation, our eternal zigzagging.

We somehow became like an enormous oceanic machine, engaged in a giant rhythmic rotation, our ability to go on and on forever insured by the perfection of our own discipline.

The sight of us, above all the sights of warships that I've ever seen, thrust itself into my memory forever. Hour after hour I stood at our rail looking out over that armada of marching ships—they did really seem to march across the ocean—and an almost choking sense of its beauty and power enveloped me.

Gibraltar Passed.

At last we came to the Straits of Gibraltar, to lights on both sides of us, and then on into the calm waters of the Mediterranean. We had sailed a long time, still in danger waters, but a pleasant relief took hold of us.

We started to pack. We were issued our desert gear of dust masks, water purifiers and so on. We tipped our stewards. We returned borrowed books. We handed out money for the new American issue. We took down outfit numbers, for looking up new army friends.

Finally we arrived. Slowly and intricately, like twine from a hidden ball, the ships poured us out onto the docks in long brown lines. We lined up and marched away.

Some of us marched three miles, some of us 20 miles. We marched at first gaily and finally with great weariness, but always with a feeling that at last we were beginning the final series of maneuvers that would lead us home again—home, the one really profound goal that obsesses every one of the brown-clad Americans marching today on foreign shores.

(THE END.)

GRUMMAN NAVY PLANES SAVED AUSTRALIA, ADMIRAL SAYS

NEWARK, Dec. 23 (AP).—The Grumman-designed Navy torpedo bomber, Avenger, and its Wildcat fighter plane saved Australia from Japanese invasion and stopped the enemy at Guadalcanal, Rear Admiral J. R. McCain, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, said at a meeting which revealed that General Motors Corporation had begun quantity production of these planes at plants along the Eastern seaboard.

At a meeting of General Motors executives and newspaper men Monday night, McCain said: "There are no finer all-round aircraft of their class in service today."

Both planes are carrier-based types now being produced at five plants of General Motors which as recently as mid-February of this year made automobile parts or assembled automobiles in the East. The plants are at Trenton, Linden and Bloomfield, N. J., Tarrytown, N. Y., and Baltimore.

Federal Rest Prosecutor Named. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 23 (AP).—Elmo B. Hunter, chief OPA enforcement attorney for the Kansas City Rent Office, yesterday was appointed special assistant to United States District Attorney of Kansas and Missouri to prosecute rent cases.

why he dealt with the Nazis and all his promises would at once be in question. This is quite hard-boiled. But Admiral Darian, who certainly is not softboiled, will not respect us any the less if he finds that we know what we are doing and why.

Copyright, 1942.

CONVOY SO BIG MEN NEVER SAW ALL OF IT AT SEA

Continued From Page One.

ship saw the torpedo, and nobody at all saw the submarine.

Men Sleep in Clothes.

As we progressed southward, the weather became absolutely heavenly—softly warm and so calm there was no movement whatever in the ship. Many soldiers slept on deck those last few nights. Often it seemed like a peacetime tropical cruise, instead of a packed troopship going dangerously to war.

The last three nights we were ordered to sleep in our clothes. It would be wrong to deny that people were tense those days, but it also would be wrong to say that fear was shown by anybody.

Dawn and dusk were the crucial times, and the last two mornings I managed to get awake and on deck just before daylight. I never saw any submarines, but I saw two of the most thrilling sunrises I've ever known.

As we drew closer and closer to journey's end, we acquired a feeling something akin to family love for our team of ships. We had come so far together, had so perfectly consummated our endless shifting of formation, our eternal zigzagging.

We somehow became like an enormous oceanic machine, engaged in a giant rhythmic rotation, our ability to go on and on forever insured by the perfection of our own discipline.

The sight of us, above all the sights of warships that I've ever seen, thrust itself into my memory forever. Hour after hour I stood at our rail looking out over that armada of marching ships—they did really seem to march across the ocean—and an almost choking sense of its beauty and power enveloped me.

Gibraltar Passed.

At last we came to the Straits of Gibraltar, to lights on both sides of us, and then on into the calm waters of the Mediterranean. We had sailed a long time, still in danger waters, but a pleasant relief took hold of us.

We started to pack. We were issued our desert gear of dust masks, water purifiers and so on. We tipped our stewards. We returned borrowed books. We handed out money for the new American issue. We took down outfit numbers, for looking up new army friends.

Finally we arrived. Slowly and intricately, like twine from a hidden ball, the ships poured us out onto the docks in long brown lines. We lined up and marched away.

Some of us marched three miles, some of us 20 miles. We marched at first gaily and finally with great weariness, but always with a feeling that at last we were beginning the final series of maneuvers that would lead us home again—home, the one really profound goal that obsesses every one of the brown-clad Americans marching today on foreign shores.

(THE END.)

GRUMMAN NAVY PLANES SAVED AUSTRALIA, ADMIRAL SAYS

NEWARK, Dec. 23 (AP).—The Grumman-designed Navy torpedo bomber, Avenger, and its Wildcat fighter plane saved Australia from Japanese invasion and stopped the enemy at Guadalcanal, Rear Admiral J. R. McCain, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, said at a meeting which revealed that General Motors Corporation had begun quantity production of these planes at plants along the Eastern seaboard.

At a meeting of General Motors executives and newspaper men Monday night, McCain said: "There are no finer all-round aircraft of their class in service today."

Both planes are carrier-based types now being produced at five plants of General Motors which as recently as mid-February of this year made automobile parts or assembled automobiles in the East. The plants are at Trenton, Linden and Bloomfield, N. J., Tarrytown, N. Y., and Baltimore.

Federal Rest Prosecutor Named. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 23 (AP).—Elmo B. Hunter, chief OPA enforcement attorney for the Kansas City Rent Office, yesterday was appointed special assistant to United States District Attorney of Kansas and Missouri to prosecute rent cases.

why he dealt with the Nazis and all his promises would at once be in question. This is quite hard-boiled. But Admiral Darian, who certainly is not softboiled, will not respect us any the less if he finds that we know what we are doing and why.

Copyright, 1942.

THE ORIGINAL LIQUOR STORES

Christmas LIQUOR and WINE Specials

Get into the Christmas spirit by serving (1942) wines and liquors for your holiday get-togethers! Buy today!

20% Pure California 1937 VINTAGE WINE

Produced and Bottled at the Winery

79¢ 155 1/2 Gal. 285 Gallon

FIFTH

CHAMPAGNE

P. Marcel French Quart 205

Chateau Gay Bottle 105

RUM El Dorado 3/4th 229

Ready Mixed COCKTAILS Manhattan or Martini Fifth 215

Alcazar CORDIALS

APRICOT, PEACH, BLACKBERRY, CHERRY, COCOA, MENTHOL, CRÈME DE CŒUR 215 3/4th

Now 5 Years Old SILVER CREEK

Straight Kentucky Bourbon

289 149 QUART PINT

VERMOUTH

FRATELLI DUMBRA QUART 120

Buy U. S. War Bonds and Stamps

6 Year Old STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

295 155 Quart Pint

Now 6 Yrs. Old Bottled-in-Bond

M & M 365 184 QUART PINT

Selected Stock

STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY 279 142 Qt. Pl.

G & W (Goodman & Werts)

BEER

All Popular Brands

Alpen Brau, Falstaff, Stag, Griesedieck, Hyde Park

BUDWEISER — 256

MILLER HI-LIFE — 256

PABST and SCHLITZ — 256

VICTORY BEER, Case 1.60

BEER IN QUARTS

Budweiser — (Case 3.00)

Pabst — (12 2.85)

Manhattan — (Qt. 2.40)

DRY GIN

DISTILLED FROM AMERICAN PURE GRAIN

144 229 PL. 50

WINE

20% Pure California

54 110 1/2 Gal. 208

21 SUPER STORES

1201 FRANKLIN

801 MARKET

2800 N. 14th

4102 W. FLOISSANT

4247 MANCHESTER

4033 GRAVOIS

LINDENBACH AND

LEMAITRE PERRY RD.

1626 CHIROKEE

3159 S. GRAND

4201 E. EASTON

1501 EASTON AV.

Staden Store

8243 N. BROADWAY

Leandrea Store

4922 W. FLOISSANT

Wellston Store

4323 EASTON

Maplewood Store

2714 SUTTON

Overland, Mo. Store

2601 WOODSON RD.

Flon Tavern

4308 NATURAL BRIDGE

Granite City, Ill. Store

1901 STATE ST.

St. Louis Store

21 MISSOURI AV.

2400 STATE ST.

Bellefontaine Store

101 W. MAIN ST.

These Prices Good in St. Louis and St. Louis County Stores Only

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

Xmas Gift BASKETS

The Ideal Xmas gift. Make your choice of 90's many brands of Domestic and Imported Liquors and we fill the basket priced to suit.

The Perfect Gift

AMERICA'S LARGEST INDEPENDENT LIQUOR STORES

VELVET PIPE TOBACCO POUND CAN 67

We Have a Full Line

CIGARS

CIGARETTES

TOBACCOS

& PIPES

XMAS WRAPPED

THREE

PART THREE

THREE

Some very tough cou-ridges, is making the going moving to throw the Axis goal line stand for Hitler's the gate for invasion of quently, the Axis is shoving into Tunisia. To the ad-supply line. Despite British supplies get through on the

have a supply line 2000-

the United States. France base at Bizerte, taking ad-rain to protect the great inherited these when France

The battle has resolved

Allied forces have a stable of the front. It is good offensive, and must move

CHRISTMAS

mas send-off when a Santa

The AMERICAN CHRISTMAS

And Exquisite

DIAMONDS from

Union-May-Stern Jewelry Dept.

In the True American Way—Keep the Christmas Spirit Alive.

DIAMOND DUET

Handsome Diamond Engagement Ring and carved Wedding Ring to Match. The perfect gift for the girl of your dreams — $3250

EASY TERMS

① 4-DIAMOND DUET

Exquisitely carved Diamond Engagement Ring and 3-diamond Wedding Ring. $4750

② 4-DIAMOND DUET

Stunning Diamond Engagement Ring and 3-Diamond Wedding Ring. $6950

③ 6-DIAMOND PAIR

A gorgeous ensemble—3-Diamond Engagement Ring—3-Diamond Wedding Ring. $9500

④ 14-DIAMOND DUET

A large diamond and 4 small diamonds with Engagement Ring and Wedding Ring. $14500

Buy on Our EASY TERMS

Open Nites Till 9

UNION-MAY-STERN

Jewelry Dept. . . . 12th & Olive

BIG BOTTLE 15¢

DRINKS ARE BETTER

MADE WITH

CANADA DRY WATER

(THE IDEAL CLUB SODA)

IT STAYS ALIVE AND SPARKLES LONGER

SAVE THE CAPS FOR EAGLE STAMPS

THREE GATEWAYS INTO TUNISIA

Some very tough country, swamp-pocked and cut by ridges, is making the going slow and difficult for Allied forces moving to throw the Axis out of Tunis and Bizerte. This is a goal line stand for Hitler's forces. Loss of Tunisia would open the gate for invasion of Italy, ill-guarded at best. Consequently, the Axis is shoving every available gun, man and plane into Tunisia. To the advantage of the Axis is its shorter supply line. Despite British naval vigilance in the Mediterranean, supplies get through on the short haul from Italy. Allied forces have a supply line 2000-4000 miles long from Britain and the United States. France had strongly fortified the naval base at Bizerte, taking advantage of naturally defensible terrain to protect the great harbor and yards there. The Axis inherited these when France fell.

The battle has resolved into a struggle for high ground. Allied forces have a stable line along a 300-foot ridge on most of the front. It is good for defense, but the Allies are on the offensive, and must move ahead to dislodge the Axis from the positions barring access to Italy. On the other side of the front, Nazi troops also hold ridges, capitalizing on peaks that dominate the surrounding country. The swamps of the Mjerda River delta north of Tunis and the broken country south pretty well channel attacks on Tunis to the gateways at Tebourba-Djedeida and Mohammedia. Bizerte, likewise, can best be approached through the Mateur gate and the Tebourba-Djedeida opening in the hills made by the Mjerda River. The Axis has ably defended these highways of war. Desperate counterattacks by Axis troops have held Mateur, Djedeida, Tebourba and Mohammedia.

Both sides have suffered heavy losses. It has been announced that the Allies are slowly achieving command of the air. Heavy Allied guns have been reported in action. It is unlikely an Allied attack will move swiftly to the twin goals at Tunis and Bizerte. It is more likely to be a yard-by-yard, grueling battle before the Axis is pushed out of the tough triangular corner of Tunisia and the way is opened to action elsewhere in the Mediterranean theater.

GUADALCANAL BATTLE STATION

This is a front line Marine Corps battle station on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomon Islands. To prepare for unexpected visits from the Japanese, the occupant of the tent has placed his rifle and two hand grenades (circled) close to the dugout. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

WASHDAY IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC

Using a fallen tree as their base of operations, United States soldiers, sailors, Marines and two native guides bathe and wash their clothes in the Lunga River on Guadalcanal. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

BAR ASSOCIATION PARTY

Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin (on table) giving William W. Crowder, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, a "present" consisting of two old collars at the peak of festivities of the association's annual Christmas party yesterday at Hotel De Soto. A special invitation was extended to the more than 150 of the organization's 1,100 members who are in military service. —By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

CHRISTMAS JOY FOR FIGHTING MEN

Crated jeeps lined up at the Willie Overland plant in Toledo, O., received an appropriate Christmas send-off when a Santa Claus dropped around to tack season's greetings on some of the boxes. —International News Photo.

50 YEARS

WINE

spirit by serving (1905) your holiday get-together.

Gift Suggestions IMPORTS

WINE

DE SILVA—COCKBURN'S
DUFF-GORDON—ED.
BLANCHY—CHAUVENET
QUIENS—SICHEL-FILS
GONZALES—BYASS

LIQUEURS

COINTREAU • D. O. M.
• B & B • CUSENIERS
• GARNIER
• MARIE BRIZARD

CHAMPAGNE

LANSON'S VINTAGE—
1929-1933
BOLLINGER'S MUMM'S
CLICQUOT
CHAS. HEIDSIECKS

COGNACS

3-STAR HENNESSY
COURVOISIER
PLANET MONNET
LEON CROZIER—1811

SCOTCHES

We Have a Complete Line
Ballantine 20 Yrs. Old
& Decanter Bottle

BOTTLED IN BONDS

15-16-17 & 23
Years Old

6 Year Old
STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY
295 155
Quart Pint

New & Yrs. Old

Bottled-in-Bond

M & M

365 184

QUART PINT

Selected Stock

STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY 279 142
Qt. Pt.

CASE 176
Off. Stag. OF 24

BEER IN QUARTS

Budweiser (Case 3.09)
Pabst — (12 2.85)
Manhattan Qts. 2.40

STILLED AMERICAN GRAIN 144 229
Pl. 5th

FOR THE Smokers

VELVET 67
PIPE TOBACCO
POUND CAN

We Have a Full Line

CIGARS

CIGARETTES

TOBACCOS

& PIPES

XMAS WRAPPED

OR STORES

Case Records

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE X-187: Bobby M., aged four, is a wiry little boy who moved into our neighborhood not long ago. Bobby came over to play with our Danny and David. Without any provocation on Danny's part, however, Bobby walked over to him and poked him in the nose with his fist. Danny was so astonished that he could do nothing but splutter for an instant. Then Bobby hit him a second time. Danny immediately knocked him down and despite Bobby's smaller size and lower age, Danny started to slap his face. Bobby began to cry, so I called a halt to the affair and tried to adjudicate the matter. Bobby admitted that he had struck Danny twice, but that he wasn't angry at him. "Then why did you strike Danny?" I inquired, "if you weren't angry and he hadn't done anything to you."

"Daddy teaches me to fight," Bobby whimpered. "He says to sock boys."

BOBBY WAS TELLING the truth. His father is a slender fellow who may have been picked on by neighborhood bullies in his youth. At any rate, he has an overly zealous desire to make his boy a scrapper. So he teases and tantalizes Bobby. "Put up your dukes!" he says when he gets home at night. And he praises Bobby when the latter socks him in the stomach, even at unexpected times. Is it Bobby's fault, therefore, that he thought it a mark of social distinction to "sock" people, even without provocation? His childish blows did not hurt his father. But when delivered on the nose, even of our six-year-old Danny, they caused pain. Danny realizes that he should not attack younger children, and he is not a belligerent youngster. But a double sock on the nose was too much for his self control.

LATER IN THE DAY, I happened to be on the front porch. A two-year-old neighboring child was coming up the steps. Bobby deliberately shoved him backwards and the little fellow rolled down the stone steps, bumping his head. Like Danny, I slapped Bobby, except on a lower and posterior portion of his anatomy. I also told him never to push anybody down a stairway again. Bobby began to cry, but my corporal punishment reinforced my verbal reprimand. He'll remember more vividly the next time he thinks of repeating this act. After six weeks around our youngsters, Bobby is being markedly socialized. He is really an attractive boy, but has never played much with other youngsters. So he hasn't learned how to behave among his own age group. He is a typical "only" child in this regard.

PLAY IS REALLY a social function and must be learned. Even laughter and humor belong in this same category of social habits. The glib, introverted adult is the fellow who probably grew up without playmates. He usually has had an isolated childhood. Bobby's father, however, further handicapped the boy by erroneously teaching him to hit people with his fists. Except that our youngsters have helped neutralize this faulty home training, Bobby would get into trouble when he starts to school, and possibly become the bad boy of his room.

On Broadway

By Danton Walker

Cabaret Nites.

WASHINGTON hears that Secretary of the Navy Knox has handed in his resignation to F. D. R., effective Jan. 1. . . . There's talk of a taxi strike in New York, to take place after New Year's eve. . . . Massachusetts will pass a mandatory compensation law as a result of the Boston night club fire. Affiliated unions are now taking up a collection for the 29 employees who lost their lives. . . . As if the night clubs didn't have enough headaches, action will be instituted in the Albany Legislature restricting hat check and other concessions. . . . and the Federal Government may demand that bar patrons must either pay the same high price charged in the adjoining cafe, or else the bar and the main rooms must be physically separated.

ELEANOR POWELL

PALM BEACH HEARS that Alastair Macintosh will be host at the Everglades Club this year, succeeding Dan Hunter, who has a War Department job in Washington. . . . Lewis Gannett, N. Y. Herald Tribune book critic, and Granville Hicks loom as new contenders to the Clifton Fadiman-F. P. A. setup as a result of their new series, "The Author Meets the Critic." . . . Dagmar Godowsky, former movie star, has completed her first book, titled "Much Ado About Men." . . . Robert Benchley will launch a new radio program. . . . His former Broadway pals hear that Sammy Feldman, one-time playboy, is in a strait-jacket at Lewisburg Federal pen. . . . Eleanor Powell tells friends that Glenn Ford is her last leading man and that she'll retire from show business when they marry (all who believe this may now stand on their heads). . . . The Alexander Kirklands (Gypsy Rose Lee) are rumored to be already bored with the idea.

JESSE JONES IS NOW getting blamed for that $25,000 salary calling, which he is said to have proposed a decade ago. . . . It will be among the first New Deal "reforms" the new Congress will go after and insiders hint that this time the Supreme Court will concur. . . . U. S. Navy rumor has it that Norfolk, Va., will soon cease to be a naval training base. . . . An alleged racket in buying up railroad and Pullman space is due to be looked into. . . . Big-time mail-order houses expect to make their independent manufacturers subsidiaries, to insure their staying open, despite labor shortages. . . . Phil Murray is said to be peeved at Paul McNutt because the latter is too cordial to John L. Lewis. . . . For the future historian, during the past year executive orders have outnumbered laws enacted by Congress by two to one. . . . Uncle Sam has arranged shipping priorities for juke boxes, to be sent to England for the A. E. F.

BRAMWELL FLETCHER, Diana Barrymore's groom, has been mustered out of the Army because of a back injury. . . . Men over 28 already are working in defense plants at Bridgeport, Conn., having been discharged from the Army for that purpose. . . . Joan Merrill is in Miami to visit her husband, recuperating in a Florida hospital after being rescued from a torpedoed merchantman. . . . Max Juste, who surprised his friends by popping up in New York after being reported killed in France, has gone into the perfume business locally. . . . Duncan MacMartin, the Canadian mining millionaire, is now a lieutenant in the R. C. A. F.

This Is How Hats Are Born

THE BIG THREE: LILLY DACHE, SALLY VICTOR AND FREDERIC OF JOHN FREDERICS DECIDE—WITH GESTURES—THE SHAPE OF YOUR NEW SPRING HAT.

POKE BONNET: ROUGH STRAW "SUSPENSION" HAT WITH TIGER LILY PINK TRIM.

SHIP SHAPE: MANY WOMEN WILL BE WEARING IT COME EASTER. IT'S WHITE LACE STRAW.

WINGED VICTORY: SOARING TOUCH IN A PLATEAU BONNET OF PERIWINKLE STRAW.

By Dorothy Roe

WANT a preview of your Easter hat? Here it is: It will be strictly sentimental, feminine and pretty. It will have a nostalgic, old-fashioned look, and yet be as new as next year's cargo planes. It probably will be in one of two general shapes—Half Shell or Ship Shape. The first you can figure out for yourself. The last is a nautical-looking dingus, in tempo with the times.

I can gaze thus into the crystal ball because I sat in on the final session of the 1943 spring millinery pow-wow of the Big Three—Lilly Dache, Sally Victor and John Frederics. Already they have set the trend, decided the mood, and agreed on the angle of your Easter bonnet.

Hats will have no elastic, no wire, no silk. They will sit firmly on the head, or be anchored with ties or veils. They will be gay and romantic and they'll make you look nice. They come in "heart-break colors"—that's the name: Tiger Lily, Pink, Sally Blue, Johnny Blonde and Freddie Green. (In case you didn't know, John Frederics, Inc., is two persons—John and Fred, so of course each must have a color.)

Lilly, Sally and John start planning the next season's hats before this season is well on its way. Under the banner of Millinery Fashion Inspiration they pool their ideas and talents, design a joint collection of 60 hats (20 apiece) and invite in the trade. In the six months since they presented their first MFI showing American hat sales have soared, millinery shops throughout the land have taken a new lease on life.

How do they work? Well—"First Lilly gives a party," says Sally. "There's much telephoning, and quite a bit of argument. After a dozen or so meetings we decide on the main trends and colors. Then we go to work."

Out of the parties and the telephoning emerges the shape of things to come—your next season's hat. And that is how hats are born.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24

CONSIDERABLE confusion or doubt may cloud today's problems; they are postonable, if we are willing to relax inside a bit. Mop up unfinished details during daylight hours. Evening improves noticeably for all worldly purposes; use it.

The Wise Man.

The wise man does not necessarily know all there is to know about everything. But a large part of his wisdom is in his recognition of the state of his knowledge on each part of life that he has contacted. He knows that he knows more about one subject than another and is constantly endeavoring to build up where his knowledge is slight. He is keenly aware of what he must do to improve.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if celebrating this date, is emotionally uncertain, so guard worldly progress, do nothing foolish. Pooled efforts, others' good will, is year's best bet. Danger: Jan. 18-30; May 24-31.

Friday.

A day for deep thinking, solving problems.

CHRISTMAS WRAPPINGS

MEN are likely to be careless about wrapping the Christmas presents they give. They leave it to the shops to do or they don't do it at all. This is not displaying the proper Christmas spirit. Now with a little trouble they could find some red tissue paper left over from the wrapping done by their wives. Tissue paper doesn't tear evenly, so the torn edge will look like a series of mountain peaks and valleys; but this will not be very conspicuous when it is caught up with ribbon.

The present is placed in the center of the paper. Then the edges are brought up until the gift is completely concealed. A piece of ribbon may now be used to bring the edges together and hold them, forming a sort of bag.

Since tissue paper is delicate, it is not only possible but probable that in the course of this operation, holes will be torn in it. These can be patched with Christmas seals. It is too bad the gum on Christmas seals does not taste nice, like the gum on postage stamps. But if you do not lick too much of it the chances are you will not be poisoned.

There is no limit to the Christmas seals that may be used. In fact, the more you use, the gayer the package will be. So you can continue to stick them on until all the odds and ends of tissue paper are thoroughly battened down.

A Christmas gift wrapped by your own hands lends a personal touch that could not be otherwise achieved. Make this little effort and you will be rewarded on Christmas Day by being told "how sweet" you have been and hearing the comment on all sides, "Nobody but father could ever have wrapped up a package like that!"

CHRISTOPHER BILLOP.

To whip evaporated milk, cover the cans with two inches of cold water, slowly bring to a boil and let boil for five minutes. Cool and chill the cans thoroughly. Then pour the milk into a cold bowl and whip it with a cold beater.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME—By Jimmy Hatlo

Relaxation Aids Health In Wartime

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

I SUPPOSE there has never been a time in our history when the gospel of relaxation needs to be preached to Americans any more than it does right now. Far from being too complacent about this war, as we have so often been accused, it seems to me that the American people are taking it too hard.

Most of us, in addition to our regular routine duties, have taken on defense work, but it is not necessary to brood about it and think about the war all the time. "War nerves" are becoming a recognized condition.

No method of relaxation compares to the use of rest and cultivated relaxation as recommended by Dr. Edmund Jacobson, of Chicago. His book is called "You Must Relax." Medicines that relax you are merely temporary expedients and they leave an after-effect which really is an exaggeration of the original nervousness. Massage is more of a stimulant "pull out." Fat is deposited in the people find it makes them restless and wakeful.

CULTIVATED RELAXATION consists in taking a certain period in the day and lying down and deliberately relaxing the muscles, one after the other. This is not as easy to do as it sounds. People may lie down and even go to sleep and still be tense in a good many of their muscles. Progressive relaxation means that you must think about all the muscles in the body in succession and relax them until the entire body is completely limp.

Begin with the eyes and the forehead and let those muscles go. There is an entirely different feeling in your whole head when this has occurred. Then relax the muscles of the face and the neck. The neck muscles often remain tense when the rest of the body is quite relaxed. Then the upper arms and the lower arms and then the abdomen, which is another part of the body that is seldom completely relaxed.

It takes a little practice to attain complete relaxation in this way, but within a week or ten days anybody should be able to learn to do it. After that the relaxation period should be made a regular part of the daily routine. Some people will need two relaxation periods; one in the morning and one in the afternoon. While the majority of people a relaxation period in the morning is the best.

HOW TO RELAX while active is another lesson that many of us need. The amount of waste of energy that the average person is guilty of while performing very simple tasks is astonishing. Differential relaxation while at work means to have a minimum of tensions in the muscles requisite for an act, along with the relaxation of the other muscles of the body. While you are sitting down you should learn, until it becomes instinctive, to review the same procedure as that followed while lying down relaxing different muscles of the body.

The benefit that many people receive from this procedure is out of all proportion to its simplicity. Dr. Jacobson has testimonials from all sorts of people, including physicians, expressing their gratitude to him for the general benefit to their health that came from progressive and deliberate attention to this routine of relaxation.

Questions and Answers. H. M. L.—What are the early symptoms of pellagra? How should they be treated?

Answer: The early symptoms of pellagra are soreness of the tongue, scurfiness of the skin, especially on exposed surfaces such as the hands, weakness and lack of appetite. The best treatment for pellagra is the use of small doses of nicotinic acid; this should be given under the direction of a physician. Pellagra is a vitamin deficiency disease and after the nicotinic acid has produced an improvement, you should take vitamin B2 and P.P.

Surprise Stuffed Peaches

Four peach halves, one-half cup mince meat, one tablespoon butter (melted), one-eighth teaspoon cinnamon, one-third cup peach juice. Place peaches in shallow buttered pan, add rest of ingredients and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven.

A little horseradish added to salad dressing or white sauce, makes it a piquant sauce to serve with fish.

TOILET GERMS THRIVE IN INVISIBLE FILM

Toilet bowls collect an unsanitary film at all times. If neglected, this film soon becomes an ugly discoloration. Keep toilet gleaming clean and sanitary with Sani-Flush. No scrubbing. No unpleasant work. Every application cleans away many recurring toilet germs and causes of toilet odors. Use Sani-Flush at least twice a week.

Don't confuse Sani-Flush with ordinary cleansers. It works chemically. Cleans the hidden trap. Sani-Flush is absolutely safe in septic tanks and toilet connections when used according to directions on can. Sold everywhere. Two handy sizes. The Hygienic Products Co., Canton, O.

Teen-Age Figures

By Dr. Mary MacFadyen

This is the fourth article in a series on "Beating the Teen-Age Blues."

THE change into young womanhood is brought about by glands. The figure becomes more rounded and the secondary sex characteristics appear. Two hormones or "chemical messengers" are in the blood at the time of puberty, and they influence bust development.

The girl in her early teens has a characteristically small, high bust. Some girls mature at a later age than others; thus the small bust of some teen-agers is due to the fact that fullest development has not been reached. If there is some upsets in the glandular system, the hormones may be present in the blood in insufficient amounts and bust development may be slower than normal or less than normal. Injections of hormones are sometimes given when there is a definite glandular disorder present, but this is a question for the physician to decide for each case.

There are several simple ways to give the small bust a better line. Some girls, for example, need only to gain a few pounds, in order to get a better line. A well-fitting, not-too-tight, uplift bra-siere also improves the appearance of the small bosom, and should do no harm. Bust exercises cannot develop the bust or increase the amount of bust tissue. What they can do is improve figure lines by developing the chest muscles and increasing chest expansion. Try these:

STANDING CORRECTLY WITH THE CHEST RAISED ALSO HELPS IMPROVE THE LINE OF THE BUST.

1. Push the wall: Stand two feet from a wall, facing it. Place your hands on the wall, about three feet apart. Keeping the body stiff and straight, bend your arms at the elbows to let your body lean to the wall; now push against the wall hard!

2. Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms to gether with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You can feel what this does to the chest muscles.

Tomorrow—Teen-age Hair Care.

Mother's Service

By Elsie Robinson

ATREMEMDUS amount of nonsense is written about mothers' wisdom and heroism. Take the painful business of birth, for example. You and I know in our secret hearts, sister, that nine times out of ten, we'd yell our heads off about it if said yells would do us a bit of good. But nature, fiercer than our own wills, drives us on.

Moreover, if the whole truth is to be told, the fiat that brings home the bacon endures quite as painful ordeals for the future generation as the hand that rocks the cradle. But do you hear any Theme Songs about Beautiful Father Love? No, you don't. Invariably, mama gets the orchestration. Also, it is doubtful if any human function is more overrated than the much eulogized "mother instinct." In the first place, there isn't any such thing. And even if there were, of what use would it be?

The fact is, no class of workers know less about their jobs or make more serious blunders than mothers. As a whole, it's a long jump between bearing that human infant and turning that infant into a civilized human, a fact which most mamas entirely overlook. According to them, a maternity ward should entitle them to gold medals and special exemptions for the rest of their lives.

So, if their case is to be judged on its merits, most of the praise bestowed upon mothers is for service beyond their control or actually never rendered. But, on the other hand even the most inefficient mother endures a certain hardship which would break the spirit of the bravest man, yet receives practically no credit for it. And let me assure you, gentlemen, monotony is harder for the average woman to stand than any number of childbirths. According to tradition, males are the excitement-seeking sex, while females shun risk, and delight in the peaceful seclusion of the fireside. But nothing could be further from the truth. No creature on earth craves excitement as fiercely or loathes boredom as deeply as a woman.

Give the women their choice, and ninety-nine out of a hundred will declare, with loud yells, that the peaceful fireside is the last place they want to be. But some one has to stay at home. Some one does it—does it at a cost a man can estimate. She stills the wild leap in her blood, muffles the clamor in her heart, shackles her rebellious hunger for adventure and enters into the loneliness, the monotony, the despised peace and safety of the domestic life. And the big boy down on the office and the little babies at home think that "mother likes it!"

Would a man do that? Not for a dozen halos and a score of harps.

So give mother a hand! Not for the lifeless nonsense the post write about her super brain, which she actually hasn't; her perfect love, which is generally isn't; but for a service which is more necessary than a master mind and even lovelier than a heart of gold—for the grimly gallant feat of sticking on the job!

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. R." for the Deaf, 818 South Kings, learning lip-reading.

IN ANSWER TO "E. R." to-hand combat with the little Jiu-jitsu at Wednesday night group of other young men named Japantica.

IN ANSWER TO "Hopful" and ever-loving application of cigarette-puffing on buses and why not report the violators to rule that should be adhered these days of packed public transport.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. R." for the Deaf, 818 South Kings, learning lip-reading.

JUST politeness—and that answer to a young girl who to a lady who was a complete ago—and is really a stranger in

DEAR MRS. POST: My dear wife for three of four years before during this separation. He wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may your clergyman depends upon church permits and no special divorce, your daughter's wedding and how much of a wife to the divorce?

Figures

McFadyen

STANDING CORRECTLY WITH THE CHEST RAISED ALSO HELPS IMPROVE THE LINE OF THE BUTT.

Small bosom, and should do arm.

Just exercises cannot develop just or increase the amount of tissue. What they can do is give figure lines by developing chest muscles and increasing expansion. Try these:

Push the wall: Stand two feet from a wall, facing it. Place your hands on the wall, about three feet apart. Keeping the body stiff and straight, bend your arms at the elbows to push your body lean to the wall.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

Hand squeeze: Clasp both hands together, elbows out at your sides. Now press the palms together with as much strength as you can. Relax, then repeat. You feel what this does to the muscles.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a girl, age 16, and live in a small town where everyone knows everybody's business. I have been going with boys for about a year. Recently some gossip got back to me that one night I came home so intoxicated that my parents wouldn't let me go with boys any more.

This is a plain lie. I have never drunk anything but soft drinks in my life, and I don't smoke. All this gossip was a surprise to me and certainly has me worried. I have a pretty good reputation because I have never done anything out of the way and go to church regularly. How can I stop this gossip? I can't understand it, because I have been shy all my life. If anyone says anything about this, should I joke about it or deny it? Should I ignore this and go on my way acting even better, so there will be nothing else for them to gossip about? Will it die down soon? What shall I do?

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

In most instances the yapping gossip dog is best ignored or laughed about, especially when you know that the motives behind it are green-eyed and obviously malicious. But when an ugly, unfounded rumor has spread so far that it might bring a suspicion in minds on your side of the fence that it might just possibly be true, then steps short of cannonading ought to be taken to stamp it out. I think this is a problem for your pastor, since you are a church-goer and he probably knows you well. Tell him of the situation, ask his help in tracing the story to its source and proving that it's as valid as a baby blue banknote.

WORRIED.

IN ANSWER TO "Baby": If your parents have as much reason to trust you as you tell me they have, and you aren't the sort of youngster who loses her social head when she's out from under family surveillance, you might be allowed to go to the homes of others in the group, since they all come to your own home and have such good times. Naturally, they wonder just what they should do, for they would like to return your hospitality by entertaining you, too. Perhaps if your father would call for you and take you home, or if you came home at an early hour with a group of others in the neighborhood, your mother would withdraw her objections. This can be worked out in some way, I feel sure, so that you won't need to feel you are missing out on all the teen-aged plots and plans.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. H. F.": Your problem is that of many of the hundreds of women working in defense plants. The Metropolitan Bureau for Wartime Child Care, Garfield 3800, will give you information regarding existing day nurseries, although most of them are filled to capacity. You may be able to get a housekeeper through Children's Aid, 3858 Westminister place, who would take over the household duties for a time. Failing these, consult the personnel director at your plant. More and more of them are helping petticoat workers solve these domestic problems.

IN ANSWER TO "Just Want to Be Like the Rest": Sorry, but there's no patented, fool-proof, two-way stretch for weeks that are too short to include time for having fun. If you're shooting upward from 15, Sunday evening, with a 10 p. m. curfew, is all you can reasonably depend on for carousing with the gang. Otherwise you'll either have to give up one evening's work or resign yourself to the present program.

IN ANSWER TO "E. R. N.": If you're anticipating hand-to-hand combat with the little yellow menaces, you can learn Jiu-jitsu at Wednesday night classes at the Y. M. C. A. in a group of other young men over 16 who are mastering the same Japantics.

IN ANSWER TO "Hopeful": Instead of waiting for general and ever-loving application of the Golden Rule to stop the cigarette-puffing on buses and street cars that offends you, why not report the violators to the drivers? They're breaking a rule that should be adhered to more strictly than ever in these days of packed public transportation.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. R. C. S.": Contact Central Institute for the Deaf, 818 South Kingshighway, FRanklin 0922, about learning lip-reading.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

JUST politeness—and that of a very "ordinary sort" is the answer to a young girl who asks, "What return can I make to a lady who was a complete stranger to me several weeks ago—and is really a stranger now. She is a friend of my oldest sister and it was while I was on a visit to this sister that I was invited to come with her to a large party her friend gave. I had a grand time and everything was fine until afterward when I began to realize that I might be expected to make some return. What return can I make?"

To this, as I have said, the only return ever expected by a hostess of a young guest who came to the party and shake hands with her the next time they meet.

DEAR MRS. POST: My daughter is marrying a man who has just obtained his divorce. However, he did not live with his wife for three of four years before that, and in fact, never saw her during this separation. How long must we wait to give this wedding and how much of a wedding may we give our daughter due to the divorce?

Answer: Whether she may be married in church or even by your clergyman depends upon your clergyman's consent. If your church permits and no special notoriety was connected with the divorce, your daughter's wedding may take place at any time and be exactly the same as any other wedding of moderate size. The only of course wear white and a veil, and have a maid of honor or two bridesmaids, or both. But many attendants of his as well as hers would be in doubtful taste.

Her Party Dress

Miss America Is Preparing to Look Her Prettiest on the Dance Floor This Holiday Season

By Sylvia Stiles

A YOUTHFUL DANCE FROCK OF WHITE NET OVER A WHITE TAFFETA FOUNDATION, WITH BANDS OF SILVER, BLUE AND PINK RIBBON FOR DECORATION.

MISS AMERICA is preparing for a holiday whirl. While father, mother and the rest of the family put the final touches on the Christmas tree and wrap gift packages, she busies herself with a shopping tour—not for presents but for a bouffant frock for the festivities marked with red ink in her date book.

After spending every available hour when not in school or on the job at some volunteer war endeavor, today's young woman plans to celebrate. Maybe she's a college girl and she's getting a longer vacation because of the travel difficulties, so has more time for having fun. Perhaps she's only a high school student, stepping out in her long party frock for the first time and looking to the Christmas season to provide the initial thrill of dressing formally. Or she may be a defense plant worker, new in the city and eager to splurge in a lovely frock purchased with her own hard-earned money.

Whatever the classification into which Miss America can be placed, it's safe to say that she has at least one dress-up party on her schedule for the holidays and that she is going to look her prettiest for this important occasion.

Rumor has it that the parents of high school and college students are diligently saving their gas so that there will be a reserve supply for the young folks to use during the holiday period. Coming home for Christmas is a privilege not all can have this year, and one which may not be repeated next year, so who can blame the elders for indulging youth, and planning festive affairs for their holiday enjoyment? The high school parties, too, take on a "last fling" emphasis and promise to be more lavish now that Uncle Sam has his eye on the 18-year-olds.

Besides the private and club parties planned for the young people and requiring festive attire, those USO parties also have a dress-up emphasis. With at least two on schedule, the girls who are on the official lists to entertain the soldiers are discussing their floor-length skirts and considering the most practical as well as most becoming solution of a new fashion problem.

There's a difference of opinion as to the type of frock which is smartest to wear for holiday dancing. Some like their dresses quite simple; others prefer a shirtwaist emphasis. Strange as it may seem, the vote for formality comes from the younger girls. Even the high school lassies look with favor upon sophisticated themes, demanding bare shoulders and feathered frons. The shirtwaist and skirt frockers are likely to be the US girls, because in a recent fashion show the men in uniform expressed a preference for the tailored type and the girls are determined to be agreeable.

A SOPHISTICATED DRESS IS THIS MODEL WHICH HAS TWO TIERS OF BLACK NET OVER A NARROW TAFFETA SKIRT.

BOUFFANCY is a symbol of youth, regardless of whether it goes with formality or informality in the styling of a dress. The girls know that they look awkward as well as feel that way when they try to dance in narrow skirts of floor length, so they leave the slender lines for mother to wear and insist upon a maximum of hemline yardage. Because fabric and color show new special trends this season, a girl can choose whatever pleases her most. Taffeta, net, lace and chiffon are well represented in the dance dresses on display in the shops, while the array of colors is equally as diversified.

As an illustration of the varied types which are featured in St. Louis and are selling for holiday dances, five costumes have been sketched. Shown at extreme left is a youthful model which is certain to be flattering. Made of white net over a white taffeta foundation, this dress has bands of silver, blue and pink ribbon as decoration. The ribbon edges the two gathered sections of the skirt, tying at the front in tailored bows and also bands the fitted bodice. The shoulders are covered with softly gathered net. One of those very sophisticated young dresses is shown second. The fitted, long-waisted bodice has very narrow shoulder straps. Pink ostrich tips trim the bodice front.

THE DRESS OF THE DANCING GIRL ABOVE COMBINES PINK NET WITH BLACK LACE. THE SKIRT IS ATTACHED WITH PLEATING TO THE LONG-WAISTED BODICE.

Two tiers of black net cover a narrow taffeta skirt which is slashed at the center front. The tiers are cut circular so that they are quite full at the hemline. The third dress, of which a back view is shown, combines pink net with black lace. Double layers of the net over taffeta are used to fashion the full skirt which is attached with pleatings to the long-waisted bodice. The bodice is cut to dip in the back and give an old-fashioned emphasis to the silhouette. The quaintness is further accentuated by the pleating which forms tiny puffed sleeves attached to a dropped shoulder line. The dress also is available in black and white.

Chiffon always is popular at the holiday season, especially when it appears in vivacious coloring. The dress at upper right may be obtained in the interesting shade of melon red. There is a certain youthful charm to the low, round neckline, and to the soft fullness of the bodice. Sleeves also, have this flattering fullness while the skirt is cut so that its sweep of hemline falls in graceful folds. There is a wide midriff section that is shaped to flatter a slender waistline and is trimmed with silver sequins.

The skirt and blouse costume sketched at lower right is typical of the trend in tailored evening wear.

TAKE MY WORD FOR IT

By Frank Colby

Surprise Word of the Week.

No dictionary to my knowledge lists FOREHEAD as it is commonly pronounced, "fore-head," to rhyme with "more dead."

That the "h" is silent in best usage is shown by the rhyme with "horrid" in the familiar jingle, written by the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, when daughter Edith staged a small rebellion against having her hair curled:

There was a little girl
Who had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead;
And when she was good
She was very, very good.

—By Meta Given

You'll want my pamphlet which gives the approved pronunciations of Biblical names, a valuable reference, especially for ministers, Sunday school teachers and students. Send a stamped (3c), self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper. Ask for free Bible Pamphlet.

Holiday Dessert Streamlined

Six halves canned pears (or fresh), one-half cup sugar, one-half cup pear syrup, three tablespoons light corn syrup, one-half teaspoon mint extract, green coloring, one cup cubed cranberry sauce or jelly.

Simmer five minutes sugar, pear, syrup, corn syrup, mint and enough coloring to give a light green tint. Add pears and chill. Arrange pears in glass cups, top with sauce and garnish with cranberry sauce.

South Wins By 'Reading' East's Hand

By Ely Culbertson

THE declarer who has paid close attention to the bidding can do a surprisingly good job of visualizing his opponents' high cards, even down to queens. In this respect, of course, it is also necessary to know one's adversaries intimately; to know whether they habitually are light or conservative opening bidders. In the following hand it was South's accurate "placement" of a missing queen that led directly to his success.

West, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

♠ 94
♥ Q87
♦ KJ64
♣ J853

♠ Q105
♥ A1092
♦ A1083
♣ 97

NORTH WEST
EAST SOUTH

♠ AKJ
♥ 6
♦ 752
♣ AKQ642

The bidding:
West Pass East Pass South Pass
West Pass East Pass South Pass
West Pass East Pass South Pass
West Pass East Pass South Pass

West opened the heart ace and continued with the ten, declarer ruffing. Obviously, with one heart trick already lost, the acute danger was that two diamond losers would be unavoidable.

Declarer led the ace, king and jack of spades, ruffing the last with dummy's club jack. Declarer now knew that West had started with the Q-10 of spades; also, that for this take out double and his later penalty double, West must have the diamond ace as well as the heart ace already shown. If he had had the diamond queen in addition, his total honor holding would have been too great to justify his original pass. Thus East was unmistakably marked with the diamond queen.

Two rounds of trumps were now led and a low diamond was sent toward dummy. West naturally ducked and dummy's king was played. The heart queen, seen, for this take out double and his later penalty double, West must have the diamond ace as well as the heart ace already shown. If he had had the diamond queen in addition, his total honor holding would have been too great to justify his original pass. Thus East was unmistakably marked with the diamond queen.

White your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you will chill diced fruits and add them to the gelatine mixture when it has partly congealed, they will not drop to the bottom of the mold.

TODAY'S PATTERNS

An all year 'round wardrobe is included in this Anne Adams Pattern, 4276. The side-buttoned princess jumper looks smart with the long or short-sleeved blouse. Then for summer, you can make it up in cotton as a sundress. The inside pockets and tabs are optional. Pattern 4276 is available in junior miss sizes 11, 13, 15 and 17. Size 13, jumper, takes 2 1/2 yards 54-inch; blouse, 2 yards 35-inch. Send 15c in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size name, address and style number. Buy our Winter Pattern Book and cover the American Fashion Scene. Simple, fabric-saving designs for outfits in every size. Scrap-bag fashion; war work styles, accessories. Pattern Book, 10c. Send your order to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York, N. Y.

The Seventh Cross -o- Based on the Book -of- the -Month -o-

BY ANNA SEGHERS
ILLUSTRATIONS BY WILLIAM SHARP

HE WAS IN THE CLUTCH OF FEAR.

A NAME CAME TO HIM—PAUL ROEDER'S.

HE DREW BACK HIS HAND.

SOMEBODY WAS COMING IN FROM THE STREET.

CHAPTER 21.
GEORGE gazed across the park in the direction of the attack of fear, as sudden and wild as in that first hour when he had covered at the edge of the Westhofen Concentration Camp among the willow bushes. The attack passed, and he was calm again. Moving away from the bench, George thought: "I'll have to start all over again and reason out everything. To begin with, shall I really try to get out of this town? What good would it do me? To try to get over the border without help would mean suddenly a familiar face came back to him—Paul Roeder's. They had been school chums, inseparable to court capture a thousand times. All right, a girl refuses to take me in. So what? There must be others. My family? Impossible—all being watched. My friends? Maybe...

George weighed his friends, one after another. They were probably attending to their work or fussing with a meal; they could not have the faintest inkling of how fearfully they were being weighed at that moment. In the end, George found four who passed the test. "I must not go to them myself," he thought. "Someone else must go in my place."

Nearing his goal, George got off the car and walked quickly and surely, without once turning around. He reached Paul's house and put his thumb on the doorbell. Not even in Westhofen had he ever been seized with so poignant a feeling of homesickness. He withdrew his hand. How could he enter here, where they would welcome him innocently without any suspicion? Could not a single pressure on this bell disperse the family inside like chaff before the wind? Bring in its wake imprisonment, torment, and death? Had he not been firmly convinced, no less than half an hour ago, that he was being followed?

George shrugged his shoulders, descended a few steps and froze in his tracks. Somebody was coming in from the street!

Continued Tomorrow.
(Copyright, 1942.)

PHOTOPLAYS

OPEN 6:30 AT THESE 4 THEATRES START 7:00
RITZ-ESQUIRE-NORSIDE-VARSITY

★ STARTS TODAY—2 GRAND HITS ★

THE FAMOUS STAGE HIT NOW ON THE SCREEN!
Hilarious Story of Two Small Town Girls Battling the Pitfalls of New York City's "Greenwich Village!"

ROSALIND RUSSELL
BRIAN AHERNE-ETHEL BLAIR

MY SISTER EILEEN

PLUS TERROR! MYSTERY! OUT OF THE WAR-TORN EAST!
HALF WAY TO SHANGHAI
IRENE HERVEY KENT TAYLOR

★ THE ANSWER TO WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME! ★

★ GAY ROMANCE! ★

FREE PARKING—ESQUIRE-NORSIDE-VARSITY

FURLONGHERS
NEW YEAR EVE
Capital Theatre
PARK PLAZA
FO. 33

COXY
FOREST RANGE
IN BLAZING TECHNIQUE

WHAT A MERRY XMAS TREAT!

Geo. Wa. Slept

MISSOURI
JERRY COLONNA • ELLIS • V. • 'ICE-CAKES REV'

ST. LOUIS
Betty GRABLE • John • 'SPRINGTIME IN THE ROCKIES' (N)

ST. LOU
IT'S A 3-UNIT M

BEHIND THE EIGHT BALL
DICK FORAN CAROL BRUCE
5 SONG HITS
Featuring
'MISTER 8 BY 8'

Today's Ph

SHENANDOAH
1827 N. Broadway
Richard • 'Friends'

BRENTWOOD
3539
15c
Stewart

IVANHOE
3339
15c
Stewart

LONGWOOD 8415
15c
Stewart

MARYLAND
1880
15c
Stewart

NEW MERRY WIDOW
1715 N. Broadway
15c
Stewart

PEERLESS
1915 S. Broadway
15c
Stewart

WHITE WAY
1840 15c
Stewart

Compton
1840 15c
Stewart

FAIRY
1840 15c
Stewart

King Bee
1840 15c
Stewart

Kingwood
1840 15c
Stewart

LEXINGTON
1840 15c
Stewart

LYRIC
1840 15c
Stewart

JIMMY L. LYNN
1840 15c
Stewart

Macklin
1840 15c
Stewart

BEVERLY
1840 15c
Stewart

GEM
1840 15c
Stewart

OVERLAND
1840 15c
Stewart

OSAGE
1840 15c
Stewart

OSARK
1840 15c
Stewart

Yale
1840 15c
Stewart

Mothers in War Work

By Angelo Patri

If mothers could stay home with the children and leave the work in the factories and shops to the men, it would be just fine. Nobody can attend to the children as well as their mother. The more mothers who can stay home the better. But all of them cannot do that. There are many different causes for the hard fact that many mothers are away from home during the day, working for the war service. There is little use in saying they should be at home when they declare they must go out. They can be expected to know what they are talking about.

These working mothers are in the service of their country. They are torn between love of children and their duty to their home and country. The children are a national asset, a community responsibility, and it becomes the duty of the national government and of the community services, to arrange for the protection and the care of all children whose mothers are working.

The little one must be placed in nursery schools where they will have the supervision and leadership of trained nurses and teachers. And they must be fed, and well-fed. I hope those who have their feeding in charge will see that they get wholesome and attractive food and not the institutional kind, nourishing but without the poetry that mothers put into it. Children thrive best when the touch of taste, beauty, art, is upon their food. Nursery schools will be small sized groups, of course, so this need for personally cooked food can be met.

What about the children beyond the age of the nursery school group and still below the age of self direction? They must have a place to go, something interesting and useful to do, and be protected against their inexperience. The established schools should take over this task. The schools should be kept open all day, and far into the evening, well staffed for all services, so that these children can be cared for and taught, at the same time how to help themselves and everybody else in this emergency.

To do this work we will have to have extra teachers. Why not? We will have to have two groups of teachers, one for the usual school work, the other for the additional task of caring for the children whose mothers are at work. The money and the teachers must be found. The need is imperative.

School boards and boards of estimate, the authorities upon whom the responsibility for caring for the children must rest, those who must find the money, be responsible for its wise use, need to have the facts of the situation placed before them by responsible citizens. This is a community task and the community must perform it. It is a wartime duty and we must carry it through devotedly, cheerfully, as the service men carry theirs.

If mothers must leave home for war work we must take care of their children to their complete satisfaction. Let's get on with the job.

Schober's • WINE • RESTAURANT
OPEN EVERY DAY EXCEPT MONDAY

Bonded Winery No. 76
Lindbergh Blvd., 12 Mile West of Lemp Ferry Rd.—Viter 2-5431

Sauerbraten 85c
(Prepared with Wine)
Potato Dumplings and Combination Salad

OPEN SUNDAYS

Roommates are found through Post-Dispatch Want Ads.

Candlelight House
NEW YEAR'S EVE DANCE
Charles Novy's Orchestra
$3 COVER, PLUS FEDERAL TAX
Includes: Soda, coffee, milk, nuts and dancing until the New Year is several hours old.
Make Reservations NOW... 7800 Clayton Rd. HI. 3160

VILLAGE BARN
3656 WASHINGTON PHONE FR. 8712

GALA NEW YEAR'S CELEBRATION
ROY QUEEN and His Gang From KMOX
Featuring
★ Wade Ray ★ Chuck Davis
★ Bob Hastings ★ Eddy Gentry
★ Helen Green and Others
3 Floor Shows With 50 People—A Bary of Beautiful Girls
2 DANCE BANDS! GAMES! PRIZES! FUN GALORE!
$5.50 Per Person, includes Turkey Buffet Supper, All Soda, Ginger Ale, Seltzer, Ice, Noise Makers, Favors, Bring Your Own Liquor, Nothing More to Pay!

PHOTOPLAYS

FOR GREAT ENTERTAINMENT ALWAYS FANCHON & MARCO
ST. LOUIS AMUSEMENT CO. THEATRES

AVALLON
4343 Broadway • Chippewa
Ann Sothern, Red Skelton, 'Panama Hattie'
Shirley Temple, 'Miss Annie Rooney' (8:40)
Thurs. 'Gay Sisters' & 'Between Us Girls'

GRANADA
4533 Gravois—Park Free
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

HI-POINTE
Sinker & Clayton
Dana Andrews • Virginia Gilmore
'BERLIN CORRESPONDENT'

LINDELL
3811 N. Grand at Robert Park Free
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

TIVOLI
6350 Delmar—Park Free
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

UNION FREE
3811 N. Grand at Robert Park Free
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

RIO
5505 N. Riverview
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

SHENANDOAH
2312 SO. GRAND
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

WEST-END 25c
4810 DELMAR
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

SHADY-OAK
HARLEY AND FORSYTHE
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

AUBERT
4849 Easton
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

FLORISSANT
Grand & Florissant
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

LAFAYETTE
1842 S. Jefferson
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

CAPITOL 15c
6th & Chestnut
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

GRAVOIS
4641 Gravois
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

KINGSLAND
4641 Gravois
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

MAPLEWOOD
3170 Manchester, Park Free
Ginger Rogers-Henry Edwards, G. Rogers-Fonda-Robinson
'Tales of Manhattan'

BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

THRILL!

FURY IN FRANCE! REVOLT!

REVENGE OF THE UNDERGROUND!

Go back with the American, to safety!

JOAN CRAWFORD
JOHN WAYNE-PHILIP DORN
REUNION IN FRANCE

REGINALD OWEN • ALBERT BASSERMANN • CARRADINE • AYARS • ANN AYARS • J. EDWARD BROMBERG
Screen Play by Jan Lustig, Marvin Borowsky and Marc Connelly • Directed by JULES DASSIN • Produced by JOSEPH L. MANKIEWICZ • An M-G-M Picture

2nd DIG HIT

A Merry Rump of Tunesful Hilarity!
JINX FALKENBURG • BERT GORDON
(FAMOUS MAGAZINE BEAUTY) (THE MAD RUSSIAN)

'LAUGH YOUR BLUES AWAY'

GIVE BONDS FOR CHRISTMAS

DOORS OPEN 10 A. M.—30c 'TIL 2 P. M.

STARTS TOMORROW

LOEW'S

SAVE GAS... GO TO LOEW'S

LAST TIMES TODAY!
Hedy LAMARR • Walter PIDGEON
'WHITE CARGO'
ALSO
'ABOUT FACE'

Photoplays

WILL ROGERS
Red SKELTON • 'PANAMA HATTIE'
Ann SOTHERN • 'MISS ANNIE ROONEY'

SHUBERT
GRAND
OPEN 5:30 START 7:00
'TORPEDOED'!!!
With W. B. Warner and Richard Cromwell
plus 'Wife of Gen. Ling' with John Jones
Excellent Sound and Projection

UPTOWN
NOW
Open 6:30 Park Free
Delightful Music and Laughter!
KATHRYN VAN MARSHA
GRAYSON • HEFLIN • HUNT
'EYES IN THE NIGHT'
EDWARD ANN DONNA
ARNOLD • HARDING • REED

NORSIDE
EVERY FRIDAY NITE
WAR WORKERS
AFTER-MIDNIGHT SHOW
Continuous 11:30 & A. M.
Complete Show After 2:30 A. M.
FREE PARKING

GARRICK
STARTS FRIDAY
SIXTH & CHESTNUT XMAS DAY
DEVIL'S HARVEST
FIRST SHOWING
ADULTS ONLY

Between Us Girls
KAY FRANCIS • JOHN BOLES

DARING, DAZZLING
Diana BARRYMORE
Robert CUMMINGS

THE GAY SISTERS
BARBARA GEORGE
STANWYCK • BRENT

FROM THE FURIOUS
PAGES OF THAT SENSATIONAL NOVEL BY STEPHEN LONGSTREET

PLUS—She Gave Him the Best Two-Time He Ever Had!

IS 21 OLD ENOUGH?

IT'S A LAFF RIOT!

Between Us Girls
KAY FRANCIS • JOHN BOLES

Also 'Aloha • Siren of Passion'

Also 'Aloha • Siren of Passion'

Also 'Aloha • Siren of Passion'

ROOSEVELT SE VULETIDE GREE TO NATION AN FORCES IN A

This Christmas H
Than Last, He Say cause Forces of ness Are Less Com of Success.

BROADCAST AT NATIONAL T

President Gives Me
of Cheer to Amer
Fighting and Wo
Abroad and to Workers at Home.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (A President Roosevelt broad message of Christmas cheer to Americans everywhere. Th a happier Christmas than la said, because "the forces of ness stand against us with confidence in the success of evil ways."

The Chief Executive spok
the south portico of the House to people gathered to celebrate a national community Christmas tree. He addressed his to all American citizens, to in the armed forces, wherever might be, and, in addition, his greeting to those wearing United Nations uniforms.

The text of his message:
"This year I am speaking Christmas eve not to this gath at the White House only, bu all of the citizens of our nat the men and women serving i American armed forces and al those who wear the uniform of the United Nations.

"I give you a message of c
I cannot say 'Merry Christma
I think constantly of those sands of soldiers and sailors are in actual combat throu
the world—but I can expre my thought that this is a pier Christmas than last ye the sense that the forces of
ness stand against us with confidence in the success of
evil ways."

"To you who toll in industr
the common cause of helpin win the war, I send a messa cheer—that you can well con to sacrifice without recrimina and with a look of Christma
—a kindly spirit toward you low men.

"To you who serve in uni
I also send a message of che that you are in the thought your families and friends at h and that Christmas prayer love you wherever you may live."

"To all Americans I say loving our neighbor as we ourselves is not enough—that a nation and as individuals please God best by showing guard for the laws of God. T is no better way of fostering will toward man than by fostering good-will toward
If we love Him we will keep commandments.

"In sending Christmas gree to the armed forces and merc
Continued on Page 8, Colum

Rain or Snow
THE TEMPERATURES

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Rain or snow tonight and tomorrow morn ing; somewhat colder; lowest temperature tonight 25
to 30.

Missouri: Rain
tonight and to morrow morn ing; mixed with snow or sleet in ex treme north por tion. Little change in temperature
tonight and to morrow morn ing; except slight warmer in south east portion to night.

Illinois: Occasional light south and central portions drizzle or light snow in ex treme north portion tonight and tomorrow morn ing; not much chan temperature except slightly in north portion tonight.

ALL weather data, including fore casts, supplied by United Weather Bureau.

BLONDIE—By Chic Young

THE SPIRIT—By Will Eisner

SUPERMAN—By Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster

RAMBLIN' BILL—By Tex Bradley

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—By Ripley

C A ROSE

THE MAN WHO LIES BURIED IN 2 TOWNS AT THE SAME TIME
—AN ALLEGORY OF THE FUTURE—BY JERRY SEIGEL AND JOE SHUSTER
ALL ITEMS SELF-EXPLANATORY.

IT'S THE SQUIRREL IN HIM

THE VOICE SPEAKS

GRIN AND BEAR IT—By Lichy

ROOM AND BOARD—By Gene Ahern

SUNFLOWER STREET—By Tom Little and Tom Sims

HENRY

THIS ONE!
WHAT TOOTH
IS IT?

LIL ABNER—By Al Capp

NANCY—By Ernie Bushmiller

POPEYE

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN—By Lee Falk and Phil Davis

BIG CHIEF WAHOO—By Saunders and Wagon

JANE ARDEN—By Monte Berrett and Russell Ross

THIS SUICIDE
IS COMIN' T'WO
THROUGH T'Y
COURTESY O' LIL
ABNER YOKUM!